Greek Cypriots Moving Into Battle Position

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Greek Cypriot forces — supported by artillery and armored cars — moved into positions around the Turkish village of Bemblos today.

The movement violated a disengagement agreement arranged by Canadian U.N. troops guarding tense northern Cyprus.

The Greek move was reported by a U.N. spokesman, who said Canadian officers reopened negotiations to prevent the possibility of a clash around Temblos, at the foot of the Kyrenia mountains.

Breaching of the agreement came as the governments of Canada, Sweden and Denmark were reported giving urgent consideration to the continued presence of their contingents in the U.N.-Cyprus peace force in view of the continued buildup of Greek and Turkish mainland forces on the island.

The Temblos area threatened to turn into a battleground Friday after Greek Cypriots moved in eleven 25-pound field guns, two antiaircraft guns and eight mortars and warned Turkish fighters to leave the village, which is packed with refugee women and children. The village was previously undefended neutral ground and Greek Cypriots insisted that about 80 Turkish fighters in Temblos return to positions in the mountains.

Fist Fight Charge Stirs Dispute Among Jaycees

By RAY HERST
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

A fist fight and a charge that the president was elected illegally threatens to split the Colorado Springs Junior Chamber of Commerce wide open.

Charges also were leveled that the by-laws of the civic organization were "socialistic," obsolete and "unavailable to members of the organization." It was also indicated that some members might be using the organization for "personal gain or illegal purposes."

Dave Hammond, a member of the organization, made the charges in a newsletter to Jaycee members.

Hammond alleged that by-laws were being violated and that an attempt was made to cover up the fist fight which precipitated the letter.

In his letter, the Jaycee told of the fight which resulted from a charge that a Jaycee direcor struck a fellow member as a result of an argument over charges that the director had made against three fellow members.

The director had charged that the three had "maliciously

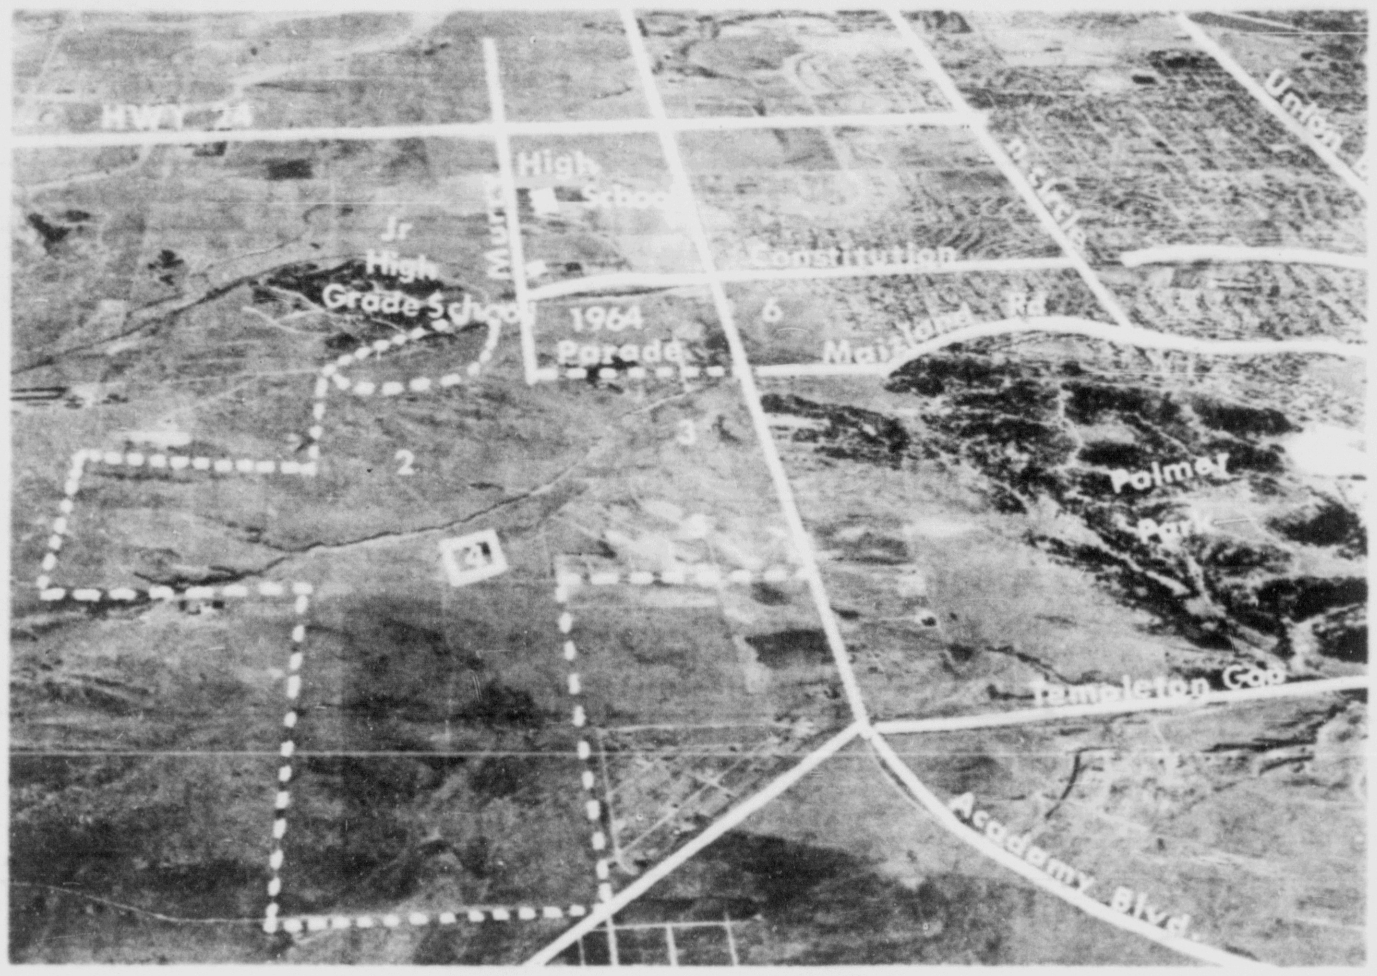
$50 Million Northeast Subdivision Launched

* * *



SPRING VALLEY ADDITION—This aerial photo shows the location of the new 50-million dollar subdivision. Specifically, the numerals one and two on the map show the Bridlewood addition which will feature custom built speculation homes with spectacular views and rustic sites. Number three designates the area of a possibly planned condominium with deluxe motel and restaurant plus recreation facilities. Four shows the stable area where bridle trails from Palmer Park and throughout the area culminate. The five areas indicate where possible future commercial research and development may be located. Six indicates the nine-acre site of a Catholic Church and school site.

A new $50 million subdivision, in the northeast section of the city, will develop into a planned community during the next seven to 10 years.

Named Spring Valley, and master planned by Denver land planners Harmon, O'Donnell and Heniger, engineers for H. J. Karttli and Sons, the subdivision is under the ownership and development of L. M. Larson owner of the Pike Realty Company, 1201 N. Weber St.

"Each section of Spring Valley has new unexcelled views of mountains, city, Air Academy, panoramas of Ft. Carson and Cheyenne Mountain Valley," Larson said.

Located near rustic Palmer Park and adjacent to the soon-to-be-opened Academy Boulevard, the 1100 acre site is but 15 minutes driving time from the Northwest Industrial Area, the Hardsite, NORAD, ADC headquarters and Colorado Springs proper.

Eight hundred acres of Spring Valley have been annexed at the present time and 100 acres have been platted in one-half to three-fourth acre lots. All lots wil be served with all city utilities including underground electric and telephone lines.

"In line with the suburban character of the area, no sidewalks will be required and setbacks from all immediate streets will be 30 feet or more," Larson said.

Barry Settles 'Extremist' Dispute With Eisenhower

By WALTER MEARS

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Former President Eisenhower was quoted Saturday as saying he would be glad to help Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater challenge President Johnson for the White House.

But Goldwater's campaign manager, Denison Kitchel, also said Eisenhower felt Goldwater should clarify for the voters his defense of extremism in the cause of liberty.

Kitchel said the former President personally was satisfied with Goldwater's explanation that his reference to extremism "dealt in essence with patriotism and the defense of liberty at home and abroad."

Meanwhile, Goldwater told Arizona Republic reporter Paul Schatt in a copyrighted interview that "President Eisenhower was worried until I talked with him."

The two men met in San Francisco Friday Saturday. Kitchel told of their session both in an interview and later in a written statement.

He went for a swim in his pool to cool off in the 100-degree-plus desert heat.

He left behind in San Francisco, scene of the GOP National Convention which nominated him, a swirl of discord over 30 of the words he uttered in accepting the nomination Thursday night.

"I would remind you that extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice," Goldwater said. "And let me remind you also that moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

Kitchel said Eisenhower told the senator he was confused by this statement. But the Goldwater campaign chief said he understood Friday's conference had cleared up the confusion.

Eisenhower requested the meeting. During it, Kitchel said, the former president declared "he would be glad to help us in the campaign."

Kitchel added: "He did suggest that it would be helpful if as he went along Barry clarified the thing."

Kitchel said Eisenhower and the Goldwater forces will consider later the role the former president might play in the campaign.

In San Francisco, Republican National Chairman Dean Burch said Goldwater and Eisenhower discussed the acceptance speech statement and "reached a mutual understanding on it."

Eisenhower himself was resting at Bohemian Grove, an exclusive northern California retreat, and could not be reached for comment.

Kitchel said he, Goldwater, Eisenhower, and the former president's brother, Milton were present at the half-hour talk Friday at the St. Francis Hotel.

Kitchel said Eisenhower told the senator he had interpreted it, along with some other Republicans, as an endorsement of specific organizations that have been labeled extremist by some.

Kitchel said Goldwater explained he had meant that there is nothing wrong with extreme measures in the defense of freedom.

He said the senator put it this

Three Teenagers Swim River to Escape Reds

BAD HERSFELD, Germany (UPI) — Three teen-age East Germans swam the Werra River past a baying Communist watchdog Saturday and escaped to the West seeking "freedom from exploitation," West German police reported.

The three, aged 17 and 18, complained they had to work a 15 to 17-hour day in Communist Germany with no extra pay. Two were tractor operators, the other a mason.

"We wanted freedom from exploitation," police quoted one as saying.

The young men slipped through a broken section of Communist barbed wire before dawn and dived into the Werra River which forms the border between East and West Germany in Northern Hesse.

They swam past a baying watchdog put on a river island by East German guards to detect refugees, the young men reported. But no east German guards responded to the dog's alarm and the swimmers made the Western bank safely.

Legal Actions Seen in Civil Rights Cases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Asst. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall has suggested the Justice Department may take legal action against civil rights groups which seek to force businesses to hire Negroes.

Marshall, who heads the department's civil rights division, ernment has the power to act also said he thought the gov- against "discrimination in reverse" and would do so.

In remarks to a trade association made public Friday, Marshall added that fair employment provision of the civil rights bill "does not permit preferential treatment on the grounds of race." He added that the department's role under this section probably will be clarified when the employment commission is appointed next year.

Colorado Demos Name Delegates to Convention

By GLENN URBAN
Gazette Telegraph Political Writer

Mrs. Betty Mendenhall 4 Collins Rd., failed to be named a delegate to the Democratic National Convention Saturday at the Colorado Democratic Convention held at the Denver Hilton.

Mrs. Mendenhall will be an alternate delegate, voting only in the absence of any of the regular delegation.

El Paso County will have two delegates to the convention — each with one - half delegate vote. They are William Hochman, history professor at Colorado College and party secretary, and Paul Bechtol, third congressional district chairman, who was named a delegate at the district meeting last Saturday in Pueblo.

The El Paso County delegation gave all of its 63 votes to Mrs. Mendenhall and to the following who became delegates:

Charles Bishop, Denver, president of the State Young Democrats; John A. Carroll, Denver, former U.S. Representative and U.S. Senator; Robert Knouss, Denver, current lieutenant governor of Colorado; and Edwin C. Johnson, Grand Junction, former Colorado governor and U.S. Senator.

State Senator George Brown, Denver, was the next high man in votes from the El Paso County delegation and received 51 votes.

It was indicated earlier in the convention that Brown would have the El Paso County support when he introduced a strong civil rights resolution as a substitute for the rights resolution written by the Resolutions Committee.

Among the men who seconded Brown's resolution was Jerry Jones, official of the El Paso County Young Democratic Club. Brown's resolution later carried by an overwhelming voice vote in which El Paso County obviously joined with apparent 100 per cent support.

Attorney John Bennett, central committee chairman for El Paso County, joined the five other electors in taking the oath to vote for the Democratic ticket in the electoral college if the state goes Democratic.

Bennett was chosen elector from the third congressional district last Saturday in Pueblo.

Sutton Is Given Democrat Nod For Court Post

DENVER (AP)—Justice Leonard V. Sutton, 49, of Colorado Springs, was given a unanimous designation—equivalent to nomination—for a 10-year term on the Colorado Supreme Court by Colorado Democrats Saturday.

Sutton has served on the court nine years. He was appointed by Gov. Ed C. Johnson to fill a vacancy, then was elected in 1956 to fill the remaining eight years of the term. Although Sutton's name must go on the primary election ballot Sept. 8, his nomination is assured because he will have no opponent.

Also given unopposed designations, equivalent to nomination, for University of Colorado regents were Dan Lynch, Boulder lawyer, and Fred M. Betz Sr., Lamar publisher and former state Democratic chairman.

A threat of last-minute opposition to them faded when the convention refused to waive its rule calling for 10 days notice of intention to seek candidacy. Ad-

No Preference For Veep Seen By Democrats

Delegates to the Colorado State Democratic Convention Saturday at the Denver Hilton expressed no favoritism for any possible vice presidential candidate.

Conversation began with delegates selected at random from the floor and they indicated more academic than personal interest in who will be President Johnson's running mate.

The delegates seemed perfectly content to let Johnson pick the man he wants and then they will support him.

Gunmen Escape With $8,400 From Erie Bank

ERIE, Colo. (UPI) — Two gunmen who were described as heavily suntanned and exuding "a strong perfume" forced five employes of the Erie State Bank into a heavy vault Friday and escaped with an estimated $8,400.

The FBI said the two men, both unmasked and carrying guns, entered the bank at midmorning and ordered the bank employes into the vault after taking money from two teller cages and several sacks from the vault.

They apparently overlooked a stack of $100 bills in one of the cages and left behind several sacks of pennies which were too heavy to carry.

Federal agents said Mrs. Marvel Tittle, a teller at the bank, prevented the vault door from latching by tripping a small lever as the gunmen forced her and the others to enter. The employes left the vault after the two men walked out of the bank.

The men had entered and left the building within five minutes, officials said. They then apparently fled the town in a stolen 1957 model car, taken from a Longmont used car lot. It was discovered abandoned near Boulder which is located 15 miles west of here.

FBI officials said early today they had received numerous leads, but so far had made no arrests.

Chiang to Send Commandos to Commie China

Gamblers Seek Approval of Montana Court

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—The clack of dice and the buzz of the roulette wheel, jaunty sounds of Montana's frontier era, may be heard again if the state's third political party gets it's way.

But "gin," "canasta" and "I bid three hearts" will remain in vogue if the Methodist Church successfully thwarts the move to make Great Falls and Helena rough-hewn sister cities to Reno and Las Vegas.

Although the Methodist State Conference is carrying the fight, several other church groups have announced their opposition to the proposal.

Wednesday the Montana Supreme Court hears arguments by both sides.

Leftist-Led Congo Rebels Reported Gaining in War

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Leftist-led revolts in the remote eastern provinces of the Congo were reported to be worsening today despite a public display of left-right reconciliation in the capital at Leopoldville.

In a ceremony that is becoming as traditional as an American political convention or an English coronation, Congolese politicians regularly drive through the streets to signal favorable events — or are driven if they are out of favor.

The cause for celebration Friday was the ostensible reconciliation of Tshombe with Gizenga, who had just been released from a prison in the mouth of the Congo River.

Friday's procession was preceded by a press conference. Gizenga said, "I am glad to see again Mr. Tshombe, who is my brother. I have been for a long time in a difficult spot, where I have suffered much for the fatherland, but now I am back, and free."

But from Bakavu, capital of Kivu Province, UPI Correspondet Roger Asnong reported that revolts by the "National Liberation Army," led by Gizenga's as-yet unreconstructed former lieutenants, were worsening in Kivu and neighboring Maniema Province.

The rebels claimed they captured Kasongo, 150 miles southwest of Bukavu, on Wednesday. Asnong said the rebels were fighting their way north towards Kindu, 110 miles distant.

European women and children were being removed from Kindu as National Army reinforcements moved in.

Newspaper Guild Votes to Boost Defense Fund

LONG BEACH, Calif. — (AP) — The American Newspaper Guild, in convention here, decided Friday to establish a $2 million defense fund to provide benefits for future strikes or lockouts.

The majority report of the finance committee touched off the hottest and longest floor fight. Its passage, by a 2-1 margin., was the only rollcall of the convention.

One guild executive said that the 1962 - 63 printers' strike which shut down New York's major newspapers forced the guild to borrow $1.5 million from friendly unions — the United Auto Workers, the Electrical Workers and the executive headquarters of the AFL-CIO.

The money was used to pay benefits to guildsmen who were unemployed during the 114-day strike.

Under the report adopted Friday, the ANG constitution will be changed to provide for a gradual assessment of the membership so that the $2 million fund is reached by 1969.

The assessments are scaled at $2 a year for those earning under $50 a week, up to $12 yearly for those earning more than $200 a week.

Benefit payments will be increased also. A single member will receive $35 a week while a member with five or more dependents will draw $65 a week in the event of a strike or lockout.

The guild was expected to wind up its convention Friday night, barring further floor fights on pending reports.

Detroit will be the site of next year's convention.

A proposal to name St. Augustine, Fla., for the 1966 convention was postponed until a meeting of the international executive board later this year.

Gen. Walker Says He Is Happy With GOP Nominee

By RAY HERST
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

The basic issue to be presented to the American voter in November is a change in our international policy, former General Edwin A. Walker said here Saturday.

And he feels that Barry Goldwater and the Republican platform can bring about the change which he said is necessary if the United States is to remain the world's leader.

The controversial general, here to lecture for the second year at Billy James Hargis's Anti-Communist Youth University in Manitou Springs, attended the GOP convention as an observer.

In discussing the convention and the GOP platform, Walker leveled a blast at the Johnson administration for the diplomatic change in Viet Nam which he charged was designed to make the military a scapegoat for the "10-year old political mess there."

He charged that Lodge's nomination for president was a political payoff for the job he did in Viet Nam — a job he bungled.

"This is the basic issue facing us," Walker told the Gazette Telegraph. "Our international policy. We must have a change, a change in the leadership for this country which will make it

Mob in Denver Tries to Prevent Arrest of Negro

DENVER (UPI) — A bottle-throwing crowd of between 300 and 400 tried unsuccessfully Friday night to prevent police officers from arresting a Negro youth accused of a traffic violation.

A reinforced detachment of some 40 officers and a number of police dogs waded through the hostile crowd and took James A. Thompson, 19, of Denver, into custody.

Police said the crowd was "90 per cent Negro."

Officers said no one was injured but two patrol cars and Thompson's automobile were damaged.

The crowd reportedly dispersed after Thompson's arrest at the Dahlia Shopping Center.

Police said patrolmen chased Thompson at speeds up to 80 miles per hour. Thompson's car reportedly crashed into the back of one police car and a second patrol car smashed into the rear of his automobile.

The youth was jailed on charges of attempting to elude police in a motor vehicle.

Police said the officers were blocked by the large crowd when they attempted to arrest Thompson. Some in the crowd threw bottles at the officers.

An additional 40 policemen and all available police dogs were rushed to the scene, police said.

Aspinall Talks About Minerals

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Rep. Wayne Aspinall, D. Colo., said Friday he did not feel any mineral resource will ever be completely exhausted.

He said the basic problem in mineral extraction is to avoid reaching a point at which the cost is so great that production cannot meet demand without disrupting the naton's economic structure.

Aspinall, speaking at the 10th annual Rocky Mountain Mineral Law Institute, said the expanding economy presents a challenge to congress to keep laws from becoming obsolete.

The Colorado democrat said it has generally been found that "intensive development of the surface is incompatible with mineral development."

Cavalry Troopers March in Review For Commander

Troopers of the 4th Squadron, 12th Cavalry marched in Tuesday's farewell review behind their new commander, Lt. Col. Ernest S. Ferguson, just reported in form duty in the Pentagon.

Col. Ferguson came to Carson from the office of the Undersecretary of the Army. His specific assignment was in the Office of the Deputy Undersecretary for International Affairs. He was responsibly for security and intelligence matters as they applied to the Army's role in international affairs, with Okinawa and Central America as his special spberes of interest.

The commander of the 12th Cavalry's sister unit, the 1st Tank Battalion, 77th Armor, is Lt. Col. William H. Stites, his classmate in the Class of 1945 at West Point. The two armor officers found themselves in the same squad during that first summer of training, then in the same company through their cadet days. Later they were classmates at the Armor School's advanced course at Ft. Knox.

Col. Ferguson began his commissioned career as an infantry officer in the 14th Armored Infantry Battalion, 1st Armored Division, in Germany. He stayed with the unit as it phased out and became first the 14th Constabulary Squadron and later the 27th Constabulary Squadron.

Col. Ferguson, whose chief outside interests are golf and retaining his fluency in Spanish, is from Springfield, Mo. He is married to the former Frances Adams of Springfield, a 1946 graduate of Drury College, where she majored in English and languages. Mrs. Ferguson was a member of Pi Beta Phi Sorority.

The Fergusons have three children, Catherine Adams Ferguson 18; Elizabeth Ross Ferguson, 16; and Ernie Jr., who fill soon be 9.

Catherine will enter Drury College in the fall, where her father studied for two years before going to West Point. At Drury Col. Ferguson belonged to Sigma Nu fraternity.

His appointment to West Point came from Sen. Harry Truman. Keeping an old promise, Col. Ferguson invited Truman to his West Point graduation, but Truman had to decline. He had just taken over the duties of President of the United States.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

It's Her Job!

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a girl who is engaged to somebody else. She had already accepted his ring when I met her, but she wasn't wearing it at the time. Not until I had fallen deeply in love with her did she tell me about her engagement because she didn't want to lose me. She says I am the one she loves, but she can't bring herself to hurt her fiance by breaking off with him right now. I can't see any point in waiting around. Last night she asked me if I would explain everything to her fiance and return the ring. I have never met the man, and I don't think I should. My girl says he is a nice person and would do me no violence. I need some advice. — CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: You are going to get more advice than you asked for. Your girl should break her own engagement. Furthermore, I hope you realize that you are "in love' 'with a person who accepted an engagement ring from one man, did not wear it, and encouraged another to fall in love with her. Doesn't this suggest something to you?

DEAR ABBY: I am eleven years old and I need to have a question answered. My mother has the world's best memory and is the world's biggest worrier. Can you tell me why? — CHRISTINA

DEAR CHRISTINA: Maybe she's the world's biggest worrier because she has the world's best memory.

DEAR ABBY: I have an only child who has just turned eight. She isn't spoiled, but she is used to being the center of attention. I just learned that I am going to have another baby and I don't know how to break the news to her. I have kind of hinted around, asking how she would like a baby sister or brother, and she says she does not want one. She is naturally quite a jealous child and becomes very upset when I hold her doll. Can you help me? — TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: Quit "hinting around" and tell her the truth. More important, when the new baby arrives, don't shove your daughter in the background. Give her plenty of attention entirely alone. Jealousy is natural for all children under the circumstances, but it can be minimized with intelligent and thoughtful handling.

DEAR ABBY: My problem may not seem very important to you, but it is very important to me. It's a growling stomach. Not mine, my girl's. The last time I kissed her, we were interrupted by a low, rumbling growl. As a result we broke into laughter and nearly bit each other's upper lip off. If her stomach growled only occasionally, I wouldn't mind, but it happens quite often. And always during the most solemn moments. Can you recommend a cure? Otherwise, we will never get through the wedding ceremony with straight faces. —B. B.

DEAR B. B.: The only "cure" for a growling stomach is food. Feed her and you won't be hearing from her stomach.

Time Goes Fast During Cadet's Basic Training

The shortest 900 hours of an Air Force Academy cadet's life are those waking minutes he spends undergoing basic training his first eight weeks at the service school.

During those 900 hours (eight weeks minus time for sleeping) the basic cadet must: become proficient in drill and the manual of arms, receive flight training orientation; take part in inspections and ceremonies, become familiar with military justice and chemical, biological, and radiological warfare, learn the importance of safeguarding military information, fire the M-1 rifle, and spend 2½ days on survival training in the rugged Rampart Range.

According to Commandant of Cadets Brig. Gen. Robert W. Strong, the rapid pace of the basic training schedule was established for a very logical reason. "When you have just eight weeks to introduce highly spirited, intelligent, and inquisitive young men to the cadet way of life, acceleration is the only possible answer," the general said.

"In this eight - week period we must determine if the basic cadet has the stamina and desire to complete four years of training here," the Commandant explained.

Three major changes have been made in this year's basic training program. In cooperation with the Director of Athletics, Col. Edmund A. Rafalko, more stringent control of physical conditioning is in effect. Push ups and running have been eliminated as a means of punishment.

"This does not mean basics will receive less exercise," Gen. Strong said, "but it does mean we have a more accurate yardstick for measuring just how much conditioning the basics are receiving."

"Steps are also being taken to make sure that each basic cadet gets a full eight hours sleep each night and a chance to complete a full meal."

This year the survival exercise held in the Rampart Range has been cut to 2½ days. The cut was made in anticipation of a plan to provide all cadets with additional survival training during their third class year.

"Primary aim of the summer training program," Gen. Strong said, "is to prepare basic cadets morally, mentally, and physically to progress through four years at the Academy."

Educational programs for Cuban refugees received over $9 million in Federal funds in fiscal 1963, according to the U.S. Office of Education.

Science for You

PROBLEM: Archimedes Principle.

NEEDED: A block of wood, a bowl, a plate, a balance made with a yardstick with two pans suspended under it.

DO THIS: Place the bowl on the plate and fill it with water until the water is ready to overflow. Place the block carefully on the water, and when the water stops overflowing, remove the block again. Remove the bowl from the plate. Place the block in one of the balance pans, pour the water from the plate into the other balance pan, and the weights of the block and the water are found to be the same.

WHY? Archimedes discovered more than 200 years B.C. that an object floating on water will displace a volume of water which has a weight exactly equal to the weight of the object.

The buoyant upward force of the displaced water exactly balances the downward pull of gravity on the floating object.

Dorothy Mierow Will Discuss Nepal at CC

Dorothy Mierow, who has been in the Peace Corps for the past two years, will talk about "Nepal: the Land and its People" at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Rastall Center at Colorado College.

The talk, open to the public without charge, is another in the Colorado College Summer Session Lecture Series. Refreshments will be served following the talk.

Miss Mierow will show slides and talk about how the people of Nepal live, their occupations, customs and family life. She has been teaching in Nepal for the past two years.

Prior to joining the Peace Corps two years ago, Miss Mitrow was a lecturer in geography and curator of the Colorado College museum. She holds a bachelor's degree from Carleton College and a master's degree from the University of Pittsburgh.

Chapel Equipping Coordinator Plans to Retire

An officer who played a major role in the equipping and dedication of the Air Force Academy Chapel will retire July 31.

Ending more than 22 years service is Lt. Col. Randal Weekley, chief of the Directorate of Plans, Plans and Operations.

Col. Weekley was chapel equipping coordinator during final phases of construction and equipping of the unique structure.

The colonel entered the service Sept. 11, 1941, at Forth Thomas, Ky. After completing basic training with the field artillery at Fort Sill, Okla., he was assigned to the 77th Field Atillery.

Selected to attend Quartermaster Corps Officer Candidate School, Colonel Weekley received his commission Jan. 29, 1943. From March 1, 1944, to Dec. 2, 1947 he served with the Air Transport Command in Alaska and Canada.

Col. Weekley spent nine years at Travis and March AFBs in California as commanding officer of a motor vehicle squadron, secretary of the Officer's Club, and chief of the Open Mess Management Division for Headquarters, 15th Air Force.

From November 1954 to May 1955 he was assigned to SAC's Project X-Ray in the Far East.

Col. Weekley joined the Academy staff Nov. 8, 1957, as the first secretary of the Officers Open Mess.

CSU Weather Scientists Launch Fight Against Hail

FORT COLLINS —After five years of intensive basic research, weather modification scientists at Colorado State University have launched a full-scale seeding experiment in northeastern Colorado. Their goal is suppression and eventual elimination of hail over crop-lands.

The CSU hail study is the only one underway in this country, if not the world, based on long-term scientific research. Current primary support for the project is a $134,800 National Science Foundation grant. The National Bureau of Standards and the Crop - Hail Insurance Actuarial Association also support the study.

The project has been directed since its inception in 1959 by Dr. Richard A. Schleusener, CSU research engineer. Assisting him is John Marwitz, junior civil engineer.

Five years ago, Schleusener set up a timetable that is still on schedule. The research began with a study of hail stones, their characteristics and formation. It then advanced to investigations of the atmospheric conditions in which the stones were formed. In 1963, the study had developed to cloud seeding on an experimental basis.

"This year's project has been designed to study the effects of seeding on hail and rain," Schleusener said. "While we are seeding thunderstorms in an attempt to reduce hail, we are particularly interested in changes before, during, and after seeding both on hail and on total rainfall."

The data collected will be the result of thousands of observations made from aircraft, by radar, and on the ground. However, the number of storms seeded will be limited, Schleusener commented, both by time and the project's system of randomized seeding.

The time factor is obvious, as storms in Colorado usually develop during the afternoon. "Because it takes one or two hours to seed, no more than one, or possibly two, storms can be seeded on any one day," the CSU scientists explain.

The system of randomized seeding further limits the number of storms that are seeded. Some are seeded; others are not. Schleusener set up this system in order to insure impartial, scientific observations by ground and radar personnel.

Ond days when hail is forecast, two planes operated by the hail project are placed on "standby." The seeding plane is equipped with wing - tip silver iodide generators which dispense large amounts of the crystals into the atmosphere. The second aircraft is for observation.

When a storm develops, one of the radar controllers at New Raymer, Tom Henderson of Atmospherics, Inc., Fresno, Calif., selects a hail cloud for testing. He notifies the pilot who immediately takes off and heads for the storm.

At this point, the random system goes into effect. The pilot, Wayne Sand of Valier, Montana, flips a coin — heads, he seeds; tails, he doesn't. If he seeds, he attempts to place the silver iodide in the strongest updraft of the storm. Whether or not the storm is seeded, Sand has a wild and rough ride as updrafts exceeding 4,500 feet per minute have been measured. If it is a "no seed" decision, the pilot remains aloft to observe conditions exactly as though seeding had taken place.

Observations of updrafts, downdrafts, turbulence and weather conditions are made from the seeding aircraft by Augie Auer, and from the observation plane by Jack Donnan. Both men are graduate students at CSU. The observation plane is piloted by Kenny Burnham of Fort Collins.

On the ground, observations are made by men in three radar units — an M-33 10 miles east of Fort Collins and two at New Raymer, one of which is operated round-the-clock by Henderson. Lowry Air Force Base also provides radar findings of storms.

During the storm period, life is hectic for everyone concerned. Whether or not it is seeded, the two - way radio between the two planes, the radar units, and the ground crews fairly sizzles with information and observations. But until all data on a storm are recorded, no one except the pilot and Schleusener knows whether it was a seeded or unseeded operation.

Ground observations of hail and rain are also made in the area north and east of Denver to the state line by a network of ground observers. This includes the Colorado Highway Patrol who report to Schleusener any precipitation observed while on their patrols.

Amount of precipitation is measured by radar and by rain gauges, a combination which permits observations of intensity, duration and direction of the storm. Precipitation is also analyzed for its silver iodide content to determine whether the "precip" may have changed as a result of the seeding operation.

All data, both from seeded and unseeded storms, is programmed for computers by Marwitz, who has developed a number of invaluable short cuts, Schleusener said. The results will be studied to attempt to discover differences between seeded and unseeded storms.

In conjunction with the hail study, the CSU scientists are waves in the lee - side of the Rocky Mountains and the size of cloud droplets, both of which are thought to affect hail.

The atmospheric waves, which resemble ocean waves, may develop gradually and influence storms, Schleusener speculates. To trace these waves, balloons are released and tracked by radar. Aircraft temperature soundings will supplement the balloon tracking.

Eastern Colorado and its neighboring states are not alone in their affliction, as hail storms are common to areas in the lee of mountains, including Alberta, Canada; Bavaria, Germany and Argentina.

The weather modification scientists hope that the physical studies of the waves, of the high concentration of small water droplets, and of atmospheric nuclei will provide an explanation of why such areas are subject to hail.

Faculty and other professional staff in America's colleges and universities reached an all-time high of 496,000 during the first term of 1963-64, the U.S. Office of Education reports.

Children of Men Disabled in War Due VA Help

Children of living veterans who are totally and permanently disabled from service - connected causes, may now participate in the War Orphans Education Assistance program administed by the Veterans Administration.

This extension of the program to children other than those of deceased service - connected veterans was signed into law July 7 by President Johnson.

Thousands of children throughout the nation are expected to be affected by the new law, according to Dorothy L. Starbuck, manager of the Denver VA Regional Office.

Originally the War Orphans Education Assistance Act, applied only to those children whose veteran - parent died as a direct result of service in the Armed Forces during wartime. The fact that the other parent still lived did not prevent these children, in age between 18 and 23, from qualifying as an "orphan" in the meaning of the law.

Later the law was amended to include children of veterans who died as members of the Armed Forces in peacetime from illness or injury resulting from "service in the line of duty."

This new law now extends the program to children of veterans of the Spanish - American War, World War 1, World War II, the Korean Conflict and the peacetime service who have been permanently and totally disabled by illness or injury attributable either to their war-time service, or in the case of peacetime veterans, to disabilities received in line of duty.

The law provides for benefits up to $110 a month for full time enrollment and proportionately lower for part time study for eligible children attending college or pursuing non-college courses leading to gainful employment. Courses on the high school level are not allowed.

Age limits are set at 18 to 23 but in certain cases exceptions can be made. Handicapped children who may have to take special training may start at age 14.

At the same time, studies may be pursued after age 23 in special cases, especially for those students who serve with the students who serve with the Armed Forces before their 23rd birthday.

However, 36 months has been set as the limit of entitlement and the age of 31 has been designated as the maximum eligibility age.

Marriage does not preclude educational assistance for those who otherwise qualify.

If the eligible person is of legal age he or she may file application with the VA; if not the parent or guardian must apply.

Spanish - American War: April 21, 1898 through July 4, 1902.

World War I: April 16, 1917 through Nov. 11, 1918 (those who later served in Russia have until April 1, 1920).

Induction period (peacetime service): Sept. 16, 1940 until the termination of the Universal Military Service and Training Act.

The U.S. Office of Education estimates there are 5,136,438 school-age handicapped children and that 213,403 especially trained teachers are needed to help educate them.

Caution Vital At Railroad Track Crossing

Drivers do unbelievable things at railroad crossings.

Some pause for an instant when they see flashing red lights, then zoom across the tracks without a glance in either direction. Others are gate crashers.

Most of the grade crossing accidents involve local drivers who are familiar with the crossings. And more than a third of the accidents reported every year occur at crossings where some form of protection is provided.

Automatic gates and flashing lights won't save you if you aren't alert and cautious. So always look for the round railroad advance warning sign and the crossbuck, says the Colorado Highway Safety Council. When you see it, slow down and look both ways. You can't tell how fast a train is coming, so it is foolish to try to beat it across.

After the train passes, look both ways again. Another may be coming from the opposite direction.

Attorney General Duke W. Dunbar, chairman of the council says, "make your eyes, your ears, and your head work together for you at every railroad crossing."

SHORTS OKAY

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Students in one local high school who lost some days from school because of snow and ice were allowed to make up the time when the weather got warmer. they were permitted to wear On Saturday "make - up" days shorts to school by paying a quarter into the school's John F. Kennedy Memorial Scholarship Fund. Over $100 was added because of one "Bermuda Day."

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Extractions Sometimes Best Way to Straighten Teeth

Mrs. S. was all steamed up because of what the orthodontist told her. He recommended that four of Susan's permanent teeth be extracted. She almost cried while she explained, "They are such perfect teeth. Why should they have to come out? The doctor said Susan's teeth are too big for her jaws, but she's only 12. Won't her jaws grow?"

Indeed this is a shocking recommendation to parents and child. Having a tooth pulled at any age and for any reason, is unpleasant. This can be said even though dentists who specialize in this field are better skilled, better trained and make use of the latest, highly sophisticated techniques.

However, many jaws are so crowded with teeth that there isn't room enough for them. There are just too many teeth for the size of the jaws. Orthodontists attempt to overcome this condition by stimulating growth of jaws in order to make room for all the teeth. But after all, there is a limit to the amount of growth that can be mechanically stimulated. The amount of bone expansion, experts on heredity say, is limited by predetermination.

Susan's tooth straightening problem is one in which the upper jaw is more developed than the lower one. Her orthodentist had to decide how best to bring these jaws into harmony. To help make this decision, he X-rayed the bones of the jaws, face, and head. From these X-rays, he was able to measure the size of the teeth and jaws and compare them to the size of the bones of the face and head. This science is called cephalometrics.

Armed with these measurements, plus other factors, including his experience with similar cases, he decided on four extractions. This was the best way to make room for all of the teeth without crowding.

Once the teeth were taken out, the lower jaw was expanded forward and outward, and the upper teeth were brought back to fill in the space left by the extractions.

Extractions as an aid in orthodontics is not a new idea. It was practiced over 100 years ago. More recently its use is better understood, and has become popular. It saves time, simplifies treatment, and in many cases it is absolutely necessary in order to produce a so - called perfect result.

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of this paper. While he cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Production of maple syrup during the 1964 run in Pennsylvania totalled 124,000 gallons, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service. This was an increase of 53 per cent over 1963 and 39 per cent over the 1958-62 average. Prices received for all grades of syrup averaged $4.60 per gallon, 20 cents below a year earlier.

ACADEMY LOWDOWN — Barry Johnson Jr., Neptune, N. J. high school junior receives information on Air Force Academy basic training from Lt. Col. F. C. Ethridge, director of candidate advisory service. The New Jersey youth paid his own way to Colorado Springs to get a personel look at the service school and hopes to enter training to graduate with the class of 1970.

Youth Realizes Dream to Visit Air Academy

Barry Johnson Jr., a high N.J., believes in finding things out for himself — even if it takes a large chunk of his savings to do so.

An article which appeared two years ago in Look Magazine aroused Barry's interest in the Air Force Academy but he wanted more information on the service school and he wanted it first hand.

Barry saved his earnings from a local paper route for two years to personally finance a trip to the Academy.

Here he discussed admission procedures with Lt. Col. F. C. Ethridge, director of candidate advisory service, and received that close look at the academy he worked so long to earn.

During his stay, Barry also viewed films on the academy and collected a supply of literature on admissions, cadet life, etc.

There's no way of telling yet if there is a spot in the Class of 1970 for Barry, but he has the type of scholastic record the academy seeks. He's a solid "B" student, vice president of his class, sports editor of the school paper, and is a member of the JV football and track teams.

Barry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Barry Johnson.

And if there is a Cadet Barry Johnson Jr. in the Class of 1970 people in Neptune, N. J., and at the academy won't be the least bit surprised.

Says Tests of Sonic Booms Only Forerunner

By STEPHEN M. AUG

DENVER (AP) — Unlimited testing of supersonic aircraft over Oklahoma City was challenged here as possibily leading to the unrestricted testing by the government of any devices which could be harmful to human beings.

Attorneys sought a federal injunction to stop the Federal Aviation Agency from testing supersonic aircraft over Oklahoma City.

Attorney John Embry told the three-judge U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that the tests were causing undue mental and physical harm to Oklahoma City residents because of sonic booms.

Sonic booms are created when a shock wave formed at the nose of an aircraft traveling at speeds faster than 600 miles per hour reaches the ground.

Embry argued that the government would be within its rights to conduct these investigations "as long as the test is on property under their dominion and control."

He said that unrestricted government testing would mean that "there would be no limit to what the tester could do."

He gave such examples as Army ordnance testing and biological warfare experiments.

John W. Douglas, assistant attorney general from Washington, said that Embry's argument lacked common sense.

Douglas said the tests were reasonable and that the intensity of the sonic blasts "is one-sixtieth of the intensity found by the military to be injurious to man."

Douglas was quickly challenged by Judge Jean S. Breitenstein who said, "I see nothing in that statute which authorizes the department to test the tolerance of human beings against supersonic booms."

The judge referred to a law which allows the Federal Aviation Agency to make tests leading to the development of new aircraft.

Douglas said that it would be impossible to test new supersonic planes "unless we see how people on the ground could stand these booms."

Judge David T. Lewis questioned whether this theory could not also refer to biological warfare investigations.

Breitenstein asked Douglas whether the court is asked to believe that Congress could authorize laws "to conduct experiments which are injurious to the health of an individual."

Douglas said, "It would depend on the purpose to be served." He added that there was nothing in the U.S. Constitution which would prevent tests even if they proved injurious to individuals.

The court took the case under advisement after 90 minutes of argument and gave no indication when a decision will be announced.

TALL TASK

Two years were required to build a life-sized replica of the blue whale, world's largest mammal, for display in the natural history building of the Smithsonian Institution.

The 1,056-foot Eiffel Tower remains so sturdy that only a few of its 18,036 steel sections have ever been replaced.

AFA Hospital Executive to Receive Honor

The executive officer of the Air Force Academy's 7625th USAF Hospital will receive the Air Force Commendation Medal.

Col. Orville J. Eslick, hospital executive officer for five years, was "personally responsible to a significant degree for the planning, equipping, manning, administrative organization, and utilization of the Academy medical facility."

By effective application of his administrative skills and broad experience in the medical service, his diligence, perseverance and initiative, Col. Eslick was instrumental in establishing and administering a medical facility able to provide patient care equal to or better than most hospitals of similar size.

His five years as executive officer resulted in constant improvement in patient care, management methods, and fund utilization.

What About a Hearing Aid?

Most people believe perfect hearing can magically be restored by just making everything louder for the hard of hearing person. Nothing could be further from the truth. Hearing losses vary greatly by type, degree, duration, and the persons ability to interpret sounds. A poorly selected aid, that does not properly compensate for individual needs and problems will make hearing worse rather than better. Only a qualified hearing aid specialist can give you maximum help for your individual loss. We are qualified thru years of experience and continual study.

Call for a home appointment or come in for an electronic hearing test and evaluation.

Former Resident Mrs. Boatright Died in NY

Word was received here Saturday of the death of a former Colorado Springs resident, Mrs. Alice Lydia Boatright.

Mrs. Boatright died July 1 in a New York City hospital following a sudden illness which occurred while she and her husband, Charles Boatright, were returning to the United States after a two month cruise aboard the liner Leonard Da Vinci.

Mrs. Boatright was born June 28, 1903 in Colorado Springs. She was the former Alice Lydia Schilling. Her husband was associated with the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad here before they moved to Santa Fe.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Boatright is survived by two sons, Capt. Charles Franklyn Boatright, Hawaii, and David Edward Boatright, Pacifica, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Frances Butler, Colorado Springs; and two granddaughters.

Funeral services were held July 6 in Santa Fe and burial was in the National Cemetery in that city.

He said that the behind-the scenes struggle for this change is being covered up because the present administration "intends to perpetuate" the present policy.

Sen. Goldwater could and would make the necessary changes, Walker said. He said that the Republican platform is a solid one which could lead America away from the "no-win" policy of the last 12 years.

"I am happy to see a good platform come from anyplace," Walker, who said he has no personal political ambitions, commented. "A platform that dignifies the desires of the American people and that places them in a world position this country deserves."

Walker said he would give his full support to the GOP platform though he planned to stage no specific campaign in support of Goldwater.

"I'm too busy with my own work," he said. "My efforts are in the field of extending what we refer to as the conservative cause."

He said that the American people were "over-ready" for conservatism. He charged that the conservative movement until now has been held in check by "our political machinery."

Goldwater's support is from the grass roots level, Walker said.

"The weakness in the (Republican) party now is the failure from the top down to go along with Goldwater and the desires of the American people. All of Goldwater's support came from the ground up. They came to nominate him and they did," Walker said.

He charged that the Rockerfeller-Scranton forces attempted to make themselves appear as martyrs to undermine the conservative movement.

"The Rockerfeller leadership in the convention, backed by Eisenhower, was a play for martydom to make themselves appear as victims of a so-called extreme position within the convention led by so-called extremists," Walker said.

He charged the Rockefeller-Scranton strategy throughout the entire convention was to "define the extremists and to isolate them — that's why Eisenhower was brought in." He said the aim was to use the extremists "threat" as propaganda to devert attention from the basic issue in the platform of an international policy change.

"The platform definitely and directly castigated the administration and the Democratic party leadership in regard to being soft on communism, fiscal irresponsibility and a no-win policy in Cuba and Viet Nam," Walker said.

Turning to Viet Nam, Walker said that Gen. Maxwell Taylor's appointment as successor to Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in that country was made to take the heat off the administration until after the election.

He said the move was straight out of "Seven Days in May" and "Dr. Strangelove," as an attempt to "attack the military from beneath."

"Taylor bears the onus of a political mess in Viet Nam," Walker charged. He said the strategy was to let the military take the blame for any failures in that country.

He said that if there is the promised "stepped-up war" in Viet Nam, it would come only as a "phony solution to suit the political advantage of the Administration in November." He said the only solution to the problem must be the change in policy.

Full-scale war would not necessarily sove the problem. It must be done on the diplomatic level.

Walker said he did not advocate a cut-back in the this nation's military forces, but would advocate a growing strength.

"It is my opinion that military forces are just as useful to peace as war. I think they are an agency of peace," he said.

When asked if he was advocating a "big stick" policy, Walker said:

"In a way. But the strength of the military stick depends entirely on the capacity of the political leaders to direct a successful foreign policy," Walker said.

Returning to the question of a growing conservative American public, Walker said that this would be born out at the Democratic convention. He said that he felt the conservative element would make itself known at that time as it did during the GOP convention.

He said that there was never any doubt about the outcome of the Republican convention and predicted that a militant conservative movement could push Goldwater into a position to impliment his platform.

"I think the implimentation of the platform carries the absolute necessity of public support, and the conservative effort must be continued through the November elections," Walker said.

"I think the potential for a Goldwater Victory is here. There is enough strength in the conservative movement to beat Lyndon Johnson. The Republicans have a good platform on which a winning effort in November could be mounted," Walker said.

The general will lecture at the Youth University in The Summit in Manitou Springs at 7:30 p.m. today and again at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

He will return to Dallas Tuesday.

The next day one of the accused members returned to the site and, according to Hammond, received a public "chewing out" from the director.

"Since he also had the nerve to disagree with this director, the director struck him with his fist," Hammond alleged.

"The director struck him with fellow members, some of our fellow members, some of our new members, our employes and our customers."

Hammond said that the director then challenged the member to meet him outside the kitchen and they would finish the fight. The Jaycee declined.

Hammond charged that the action of the board of directors and the president of the Jaycees, Bob Figgie, was ineffectual.

"What is our 'president' doing about it? Let's take the 'president' first. He hasn't been sitting still. He named a grievance committee," Hammond said in his letter.

In reviewing the members of the committee, Hammond indicated that there would be no positive results. He charged that one member of the committee was "better left off the committee."

"I think he's some kind of officer or something but I can't remember any list of officers. I did see him at a board of directors meeting once," Hammond said.

A second member of the committee, in addition to Figgie, Hammond said he would waste "no more ink" on.

In addition to this grievance committee, Hammond said an investigating committee had been appointed. One of the members of this committee, Hammond charged, was "the man you are most likely to see at any of our meetings . . . interrupting the speaker."

He said this man was an associate member of the organization, being beyond the age of eligibility.

Hammond charged that the Jaycees were ordered not to talk about the altercation. He indicated that the grievance committee had a closed hearing in order to cover up the incident. He said he hoped that the next meeting of the committee would be open to Jaycee members.

Hammond charged that at the meeting committee members were instructed not to discuss the incident and were told that they should not talk to the hired help at the Chuckwagon.

"Someone is getting rather commanding, don't you think? I hope the investigating committee is not included in this order," Hammond said in the letter.

"At this meeting the three plain old 'dog soldier' members were asked to stay away from the Chuckwagon for about a week while the 'investigation' is in progress but the director was not restricted," Hammond said.

He alleged that a request had been made that the director also be restricted. This wasn't granted because "we can't get along without his gitfiddle."

He charged that the reason for the lack of restriction was because the director was being paid to entertain as well as to head up the Chuckwagon function. He said that payment was in direct violation of Article V, Section X of the Jaycee by-laws.

Hammond said that the board of directors will make the final judgment in the case but indicated that in his opinion the judgment has already been made. He charged that one director has already said that one of the accused Jaycees "is on his way out."

He said that the director who made the charges has apologized to the man in question.

"An apology is a nice gesture, but does it ever remove a stigma? No, what is done is done. Do we have a desirable director? Does the fact that he has admitted that he was wrong once indicate that he could be wrong again?", Hammond asked in his letter.

Hammond, in his letter, indicated that the men had been falsely accused. He pointed out that these volunteers had exceeded that of most members to work during the Chuckwagon.

He challenged Jaycee members to investigate the facts for themselves and said "Please look into this matter for yourself — it may be the only way to find the truth."

Hammond said that the "primary reason of this and many other problems of our chapter is the poor condition of our bylaws." He charged that the bylaws are not available to Jaycee members.

"They have reportedly been kept at the home of one of our members for several months. I have seen and have become quite familiar with the 'copies' which are available to us.

He listed the following regarding the by - laws:

"—the by-laws are not available.

"—the by-laws are not followed very frequently.

"—the by-laws do not permit us to elect our own officers.

"—our by-laws and our lack of attention permit our immediate past presidents to become dictators of our chapter.

"—many of our directors and officers do not know what is contained in our by-laws any more than they know our creed.

"—our by-laws and our lack of personal interest do not prevent any member or group of members from using our chapter for personal gain or illegal purposes.

"—our by-laws do nothing to give the member any substantial leadership training, a primary purpose of the Jaycees."

Hammond asked all Jaycees to offer suggestions to remedy the problem in the organization. He said he had several proposals for new by-laws and that he would accept any suggestions from Jaycee members to strengthen these proposals.

"We have, within our chapter, sufficient intelligence to elect our officers and to run our chapter and to become the most outstanding Jaycee chapter in the nation," Hammond said. "We can benefit the community, the individual member and the Jaycees. You have heard that young men can change the world. They can, and they can even more easily change our chapter."

Final Camp Gave Riders Different Slant on Junket

Editor's Note: This is a report from the last camp of the Pikes Peak Range Riders who are riding around the Peak to publicize the Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo.

By JOHN KUGLIN
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

WOODLAND PARK — The last camp of the Range Riders was pitched on an inclined meadow. The tilt was subtle, like the revolutions of this planet. When peas and other round food rolled off inclined plates on inclined benches, riders became aware of the situation.

The long line of hot, dusty riders, over 100 strong, rode slowly into camp about 2:30 p.m. Saturday. They were slightly ahead of schedule and camp wasn't completely set up. Camp was near the old Holiday Ranch, between Divide and Woodland Park.

Saturday's ride was described as uneventful. Riders left Gillett, about the midway point on the trip, at 8 a.m. Rested horses were put to work as the trail wound over several steep trails. It was cool at first, but it was hot the last two hours in the saddle.

After a brief rest, riders unlimbered to finish the games which had been rained out Friday afternoon at Gillet — golf, skeet and horseshoes.

Range Riders played their own brand of golf. The fairways hadn't been grazed all year. The putters were usually mashies or worse and scores of balls were deflected from cups by weeds, branches and stones. Al Ingerick had the lowest score, followed by Bud Bill, Bingo Sentena and Beorge Dyer.

Mayor Harry Hoth threw a wicked horseshoe, though he claimed he hadn't practiced after he won the doubles division with Virgil Justice. Klinton Keller won the singles.

Skeet shooters seemed to have trouble unlimbering and lots of clay birds escaped. However, Bud Gill potted enough clay pigeons to win.

After the games, the Range Riders and their guests went through the chow line for thick steaks with trimmings. There was prayerful silence as a memorial cake was cut, dedicated to deceased Range Riders.

After worship services this morning in camp, the riders will follow the Golden - Stairs trail, losing altitude until they reach Green Mountain Falls, the end of their circle of the Peak.

Riders will put on the feedbag again tonight at the Dublin House when they celebrate the end of the trip.

Sandra Dinning Died Friday

Funeral services for Sandra Loraine Dinning, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dinning of Thornton, who died Friday at her home, will be held at 11 a.m. Monday at the Law Mortuary.

The Rev. Walter A. Enge will officiate and burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Sandra Loraine was born March 11, 1963 in Lamar, Colo.

In addition to her parent, Sandra Loraine is survived by two sisters, Marilyn and Renee Dinning; three brother, Will, Donald and Robert Dinning; her grandmothers, Mrs. Loraine Dinning, Colorado Springs, and Mrs. Helen Bugg, Two Buttes, Colo.; and her grandfather, Donald Stickley of Torrance, Calif.

Police Report Homes, Auto Firm Entered

Three burglaries were reported to the police Friday.

The first happened at the home of Andrew Lee Jr., 2530 Balboa St. where an RCA portable television set, an electric razor and electric clock worth a total of $105 were stolen.

The second incident was reported by Mrs. Averil Dorothy Arbuckle, 1211 Holmes Dr. who said her white gold wedding ring valued at $400 had been stolen.

According to the report, Mrs. Arbuckle left her home Friday afternoon leaving it unlocked. When she returned a few hours later she found the drawer in her bedroom ransacked and the ring gone.

The final burglary happened at Money Oldsmobile, 18 S. Weber St. Numerous automobile parts worth $124 had been removed from several vehicles.

The spokesman said the only real danger involved would come from exposure to a large numbers of the cones, or from inhaling or eating the uranium oxide which they contain.

Police Nab Man in Store

A 35-year old man is being held in City Jail after he was found in the Bishop-Hill - Tool and Paint Co. building at 203 S. Weber St. early Saturday morning police reported.

According to Police Officer J. C. Cates, the man has been identified as Phillip Juvera, 826 S. Wahsatch Ave.

Cates said he was on patrol when he heard a noise of breaking glass coming from the Bishop-Hill building. The officer then investigated and found Juvera inside the building. Apparently he had cut his hand for it was wrapped in paper he had taken from a nearby crate.

Car Dealer Reports Theft of $800 Car

Travis Bishop Sr. doing business as Robinette Motors, 551 S. 8th St. reported to the police Friday that one of his cars, a 1959 Plymouth worth $800 had been stolen.

He said the vehicle had been parked at 2200 Lark Dr. and when he sent someone to collect it it had disappeared.

It is a two - door hardtop, Colorado license JX1017, ID 53104788.

$50 Million Northeast Subdivision Launched

vision is the extensive use made of the new cluster planning concept using culs-de-sac and loop streets for increased privacy and elimination of traffic hazards.

Within the division, 300 home sites are set up for residences costing $30,000 or more and 200 sites are in the price range of $25,000 and up. Other site locations will include homes in the $18,500 price range and in addition a possible condominium area is planned which may include a swimming pool, tennis courts, playground and privately owned apartments.

"Developers are conforming with new concepts of engineering and public works in that they are providing flood retention areas," Larson said. "A per acre assessment charge is made by the city to guarantee flood problems are taken care of in the area," he added.

At the north end of the division, adjacent to Academy Boulevard, areas are being reserved for possible commercial and employment-producing activities including enterprises such as electronic research and insurance companies. This area is also near the Air Academy and the airport is readily accessible.

In the stable area of the division, bridle trails throughout the Palmer Park area and the entire division, will culminate.

"Several public schools have expressed an interest in building in the area and a Catholic Church and school site of 9 acres has been reserved," Larson said. Nearby is the new Billy Mitchell High School scheduled to be opened in 1965 and a grade and junior high school close by will open in September of this year.

One home has been constructed in the area and sold. Three more have been sold and are now under construction.

Sales of the lots are handled exclusively by the Pike Realty Company. An architect control committee, including a design architect, attorney and engineer, has been set up.

Builders in the area will include Bill McKinnon, McKinnon Construction Company, Cox Construction Company, Skymark Homes.

The panorama beauty of Bridlewood, one of the division areas, is something prospective home buyers must see for themselves, Larson said. "In the daytime the varied landscape of rolling, honey-colored hills, rich-hued rocks and glades of pines draw immediate attention. At night the twinkling lights of Colorado Springs sweep upwards to the area like a million scattered gems."

Larson, a native of Montana, came to Colorado Springs in 1951. He engaged in the real estate business at that time and subsequently purchased Pike Realty in 1954.

With two landowners, Dr. Frank Houck and J. Selby Young, Larson was instrumental in the original conception, planning, organization and development of the Colorado Springs Country Club.

Larson and Harman O'Donnell of Denver were the originators of the Land Development master plan surrounding the country club and including the near northeast area; the same planners now engaged in designing the Spring Valley subdivision.

Larson has also been engaged in the sales of many of the subdivisions in the northeast area of the city. He was instrumental in the planning and or development of Highland Acres, San Luis Estates, and the Country Club Estates.

Then the Methodists hired an attorney to challenge the measure as being unconstitutional. The lawyer filed his objections directly with the state supreme court.

Now the state attorney general, Forrest Anderson, finds himself in the middle of the scuffle.

Anderson is required to defend placement of the gambling question on the ballot; the 23,203 names on petitions were certified by the secretary of state and Gov. Tim Babcock legally had to proclaim the initiative.

The party held a brief convention to nominate a former Anaconda smelter worker, Charles R. Lee, 33, for governor. Lee is president of the Montana Association for Legalized Gambling, the group that backed the initiative.

Lee said that forms of gambling already exist in 31 counties in the state. "The people are being cheated," he contends.

The Internal Revenue Service taxes coin-operated gaming devices at the rate of $250 annually and amusement devices at $10 annually. The U.S. tax on operation of punchboards or athletic pools is $50 a year. Federal agents say 1963 was the biggest year in a decade for permachine taxes, with a total of $85,620 paid. The $50 operation tax produced an additional $35,071.

Colorado Demos Name Delegates

on attempted to weigh its votes to help Mrs. Mendenhall to become a delegate by not casting all its votes for the other delegates. Thirteen delegates were to be named to the National Convention and with about 50 El Paso County delegates voting one candidate failed to get even a single vote.

After giving its unanimous votes (63) to the five candidates and 51 votes to Brown, no other candidate got as many as 30 votes out of the El Paso County delegation.

Mrs. Mendenhall had not conducted a state wide campaign.

Demos Warned Program Will Be 'Distorted'

DENVER (AP) — Democrats were arned here that during the fall election campaign the records of the Kennedy-Johnson administration "will be distorted and twisted out of shape."

The warning was sounded at the Colorado Democratic convention by Kathryn O'Hay Granahan, treasurer of the United States.

Mrs. Granahan said the administration's record would be distorted "by those who place their political interests above the interests of enlightened government."

She added that there are "still too many naive Americans who believe that by voting Republican they will be perpetuating the great social progress that has been accomplished in this century under Democratic administrations. Nothing could be farther from the truth."

Mrs. Granahan reviewed the 32 years during the 20th Century in which Democrats were in power. "And what years those 32 were," she said. "They included leading the American people and the world to victory in two great wars ... a resurrection from a crippling economic depression ... creation of nuclear power ... lending economic aid and giving technical assistance to underdeveloped and developing countries ... and continuous use of federal power ... to initiate, protect and broaden social welfare."

The treasurer said that when Democrats took over from the Eisenhower administration they inherited a sick economy which is "strong and healthy now."

"Republicans," Mrs. Granahan added, "have absolutely no sense of direction. Forward to some of them means moving backwards, while to others it means running around in concentric circles.

"When they also say that we have not solved all the country's problems, they neglect to mention that most of these problems—if not all of them—we inherited from the previous Republican administrations."

Court Is Told Argument About Sonic Booms

DENVER (AP)—A U.S. District Court trial was ordered by the Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver Friday on complaints against the federal government's supersonic aircraft testing program over Oklahoma City.

The ruling, late in the day, followed about 90 minutes of arguments in which the government was accused of attempting unlimited testing of devices which are harming human beings in the course of the study.

At issue is the Federal Aviation Agency program under which faster - than sound aircraft are flown over Oklahoma City.

Nineteen Oklahoma City residents, who filed the complaint, said they are annoyed by the resulting sonic booms.

A sonic boom occurs when the plane exceeds the speed of sound. At that instant a shockwave results from the breaking of the sound barrier and the noise and concussion eventually reach ground.

John W. Douglas of Washington, D.C., an assistant attorney general, argued that the government had the right to perform the tests over populated areas. He said that if supersonic commercial aircraft are to be developed they "must carry people and fly near or over population centers.

"This means, quite simply, that a basic problem of the (supersonic transport) will be the effect of that noise and that vibration on ordinary people with ordinary structures."

He said that common sense dictates that such tests cannot be held over unpopulated areas.

Oklahoma City attorneys John Embry and George Miskovsky said the tests should be held over unpopulated areas controlled by the government. They said the tests were harming residents of Oklahoma City mentally and physically.

Under court questioning Douglas said there was nothing in the U.S. Constitution to prevent Congress from authorizing laws under which experiments could be conducted even though they are injurious to the health of an individual.

"It would depend on the purpose to be served," he said.

Miskovsky said of Douglas's remarks, "He says yes, we're causing damage, but we're not killing yet."

Pope Sets New Rules for Vatican Council

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI has set new rules for the fall Ecumenical Council on Church Unity designed to speed debate and prevent any recurrence of one of the most "unpriestly" incidents of the second session.

Five new rules for the third session beginning Sept. 14 were announced Friday by the council press office. One of them forbids the council fathers to distribute printed material anywhere near the council hall without prior approval of the council secretary.

This ruling grew out of an incident involving Msgr. Pericle Felici, secretary of the council, during the second session last year.

Shortly before a vote on the communications schema was expected, several priests and laymen gathered on the steps of St. Peter's Basilica and began handing out a pamphlet signed by several members, urging that the schema be rejected as inadequate.

Felici called the Vatican police, who confiscated the papers. However, a German bishop who was a council father refused to give up his copy. When Felici tried to yank it out of his hand, the bishop shoved the monsignor aside, threw the pamphlet in his face and stalked off.

Other new rules:

—All council fathers, including cardinals, must submit speech outlines five days in advance of delivery, so that the moderators can cut out repetitious material.

—The moderators can ask council fathers with similar speeches to decide which of them shall speak in the name of them all.

—Non-scheduled speeches may be made only after all scheduled speeches have been delivered, and only if 70 council fathers have concurred.

—Likewise, the concurrence of 70 council fathers is required to make a speech after debate has been closed.

Democrats From Mississippi May Be Barred

NEW YORK (UPI) — Supported by a unanimous resolution from the state committee, New York Democrats at the National Party Convention in Atlantic City next may seek to prevent the seating of the Mississippi state delegation.

The resolution was adopted by the state committee at a meeting in New York City last month. Although no state is mentioned by name, the resolution was referred to generally as the "Mississippi resolution" during its discussion.

The attempt to ban the Mississippi delegation —if it occurs — will be waged in the credentials committee. The New York representatives to the committee have not yet been selected but several party members are bidding for the position with the express intent of leading a fight against the Mississippi delegation.

The resolution adopted by the state committee instructs the New York representatives on th credentials committee to "exercise every reasonable effort" to insure that "only those delegates who are pledged . . . to support the principles and objectives of the national Democratic party as expressed in the party platform . . . be seated as representatives of the Democratic party of their respective stutes."

The resolution noted that "certain states have systematically prevented Democrats who are members of the Negro race from voting in the party primaries and from electing delegates to the Democratic National Convention."

The Democratic parties in some of these states have "publicly stated that they are independent of the national Democratic party" and do not adhere to some of the principles and statements expressed by the platform of the national party, the resolution stated.

If the fight to unseat the Mississippi delegation in the credentials committee fails, some members of the New York delegation are prepared to carry it to the floor of the convention itself.

Strike Against Detroit Papers Is Continuing

DETROIT (AP) — Detroiters face a weekend without their two daily newspapers because of a *continuing strike. However, negotiations have been restored, scheduled for Monday.

Mediators announced Friday night the publishers and one of two striking unions, the Printing Pressmen, had agreed to meet at 10 a.m. Monday.

The Detroit News, afternoon paper, and the morning Free Press have been closed since Tuesday in a strike of the pressmen and the Paper and Plate Handlers Union over terms of new contracts.

Revival of negotiations followed intercession by non-striking unions at the two papers. The council, composed of all newspaper unions, asked for a resumption of the talks.

Fringe issues, including certain overtime pay, reportedly are the crux of the dispute.

A 31-story travel terminal is due to be built at Hamamatsucho, near the heart of downtown Tokyo, in 1967. The $85.5 million structure, tallest office building in Japan, will be a hub for helicopters, buses, monorail, and will be connected with three highways, the subway system and nearby Takeshiba Pier.

CF POSTER CHILDREN—Kathryn Fritschel, 5, and Mark A. George, 7, have been selected as the 1964 poster children for the Cystic Fibrosis campaign in Colorado. Kathryn is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Leonard Fritschel, 505 Moline St., Aurora. Mark's parents are Mr. and Mrs. O. E. George, 649 Quartz Way, Broomfield. As CF poster children, Kathryn and Mark will assist in promoting the annual fund raising campaign in September. Mrs. Stephen L. R. McNichols, wife of Colorado's former governor and chairman of the CF Poster Child Committee, said that both children will become candidates for the title of national CF Poster Child for 1965.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D.,Ph.D.

Parents, if you must handle energetic kids on a long auto trip, then follow the advice below. For a little advance planning can soothe your otherwise frazzled adult nerves. I've gone through these ordeals literally hundreds of times so send for the booklet below and keep it in your car!

By — George W. Crane,
Ph. D., M.D.

Case T-423: Dennis M., aged 8, is a supercharged youngster.

"Dr. Crane," his daddy protested, "Dennis is enough to wear out both of us parents, plus a couple of baby-sitters to boot.

"For he seems to have even more energy than the average boy, and I'm not exaggerating.

"But we have two other boys who run him a close race.

"So when we drive down to their grandparents' for a weekend visit, I am fit to be tied!

"For it takes about four hours to negotiate the 200-mile trip.

"And after the first 30 minutes, the boys in the back seat start picking on each other and fighting.

"Is there any way short of medical tranquilizers by which to calm them down on such long auto trips?"

AUTO PSYCHOLOGY

Well, I can sympathize with this father, for I experienced a similar rugged initiation with four sons and a daughter, all close together in age.

For example, get your gasoline only in 5-gallon amounts.

That means you will be stopping every 100 miles. Then urge the kiddies to run races around the block.

For running drains off energy faster than seatwork action. For the legs then carry the whole weight of the child's body and this expends his energy faster.

Buy some good comic books, too, but ration them! Use the baseball pitcher's change of pace, by a round of comic books, then an observation game.

As regards the latter, let one child have the right side of the road and the other, the left. You can form teams if you have several in the car.

Then for a matter of exactly 30 miles (per your speedometer) see which side of the road offers the most four-footed creatures.

These include cows, horses, mules, dogs, cats, sheep, etc.

Then ration them Comic Book No. 2.

Now vary the game by having everybody make a quick guess as to how many trucks you will meet in the next 10 to 30 miles.

Then start counting. This is good for maybe 30 minutes more.

We also used the "corn" game, wherein we'd shell kernels from an ear of corn and then dole out 10 per child.

Each youngster could then hold any number of kernels from zero to five in his closed fist, while the rest guessed as to the number.

If you guessed correctly, you got his kernels, but if you missed, you paid him the difference. This game is fun and can also last for 30 minutes.

Then stop for your next 5 gallons of gas!

Meanwhile, schedule another foot race around the block or down the side street. Repeat as long as the kids will compete, for the sooner you wear 'em out, the pleasanter will be the driving chore! I know!

For other ideas, send for my booklet "Outdoor Games for Children," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Five Are Held In Slaying of Idaho Marshal

DOWNEY, Idaho (AP)—Three men and two women from Chicago and one man from San Francisco today were being held for trial in the gun battle slaying of Downey's town marshal.

The six were arraigned Friday on charges of first degree murder before Pocatello Justice of the Peace R. Don Bistline.

The suspects identified themselves as Susan Hayes, 18, Pauline E. Roberts, 26, Edward A. King, 29, Eugene Roddy, 44, and Harvey Pulver, 22, all of Chicago, and Carletas Lee Fill, 18, of San Francisco.

Police using helicopters, airplanes, bloodhounds, jeeps and horses hunted more than 16 hours for the suspects Thursday in Idaho, Utah and Wyoming. The suspects were captured in Cache National Forest near the Idaho-Utah border.

The manhunt was triggered by the discovery of the body of Marshal Daniel Platt Woodland, his revolver and flashlight still in hand, outside Downey's grain growers cooperative.

The Glass Container Manufacturers Institute has estimated that the average milk bottle makes 33 trips from dairy to home and back again. Returnable beer bottles make 28 trips and soft drink bottles 25.

MIAMI (AP)—Students at Miami-Dade County Junior College borrowed the tactics of old-time fire-fighting bucket brigades when it became necessary to move some of the college library's books to another building, 80 feet away.

The boys and girls formed a line between the buildings and passed the volumes hand to hand into the new storage spot.

Navy Capt. Baird To Take Over Training Center

Navy Capt. Jack D. Baird will take command of the Colorado Springs Naval Reserve Training Center, Monday evening, in change of command ceremonies. He relieves Lieutenant Commander Samuel C. Gamach.

Capt. Baird reports to his new command from the Naval Air Station Los Alamitos, Calif. where he served as the station's training officer.

Lt. Cmdr. Gamache has been the Reserve Center commander here when Commander S. R. ing officer of the Pueblo Naval Reserve Training Center he temporarily assumed command here when Commande r S. R. Fallander retired from the service on June 30.

All of the Navy traditional pomp and ceremony will be afforded to the new center commander in change of command ceremonies, and in retirement ceremonies for Cmdr. Fallander. Although Cmdr. Fallander ended his 22-year career as a Navy pilot, he will be "piped ashore" in final tribute for his outstanding naval service.

Capt. Baird, a holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross and two Air Medals, enlisted in the Navy 21 years ago as a seaman second class. Prior to his enlistment he was enrolled in the Navy's civilian pilot training program at San Jose College. With this background he was able to enter Navy flight training.

Eleven months after enlisting he won the Navy's coveted gold wings of an naval aviator and was commissioned ensign.

During the height of the war in the Pacific, he was a torpedo plane pilot with Composite Squadron 80. This squadron operated from the escort carrier Manila Bay in the battles of Leyte Gulf, the second battle of the Philippine Sea Mindora and Lingayen Gulf.

He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for his exploits in assisting in the sinking of a Japanese cruiser.

New Italian Fashions Are Shown in Florence

A millinery showing on the Pitti Palace runway, presented by La Familiare, Florence felt manufacturers, featured five of Italy's most creative hat designers.

Huge "Raphael" berets and tiny pillboxes are the outstanding shapes for fall, according to La Familiare. Furry beaver felts prevail.

Warm golden shades—beiges, browns, and aprioct hues— are the millinery fashion colors for fall here. Black and white combinations and turquoise also are important.

The most imaginative millinery designs came from Canessa of Rome. Outstanding were cooks' caps and tricornes, identified in the classic folk dramas of Venice.

Boutique fashions will be the fare tonight and Sunday. Florence couture begins Monday.

THE NEW — This architectural drawing shows the new $260,000 "City Center" building to be erected at the intersection of Colorado Avenue and 25th Street in Colorado City. The two-story building, to be built this year, will house 10 businesses of a professional nature on the upper story and a dress shop, bank, beauty parlor and restaurant on the ground floor. Co-partners in the enterprise are C. L. Chambon, Surplus City owner and Joseph F. Pieper, owner of Pieper Professional Pharmacies of Colorado Springs. The L-shaped building will be constructed of masonry with an all-glass front facing Colorado Avenue. Off-street parking will be provided at the front of the center, easily accessible from either 25th Street or Colorado Avenue. The shopping center will replace buildings which once housed private apartments, a used furniture store, and other business firms. Construction on the complex is scheduled to begin after contracts have been let.

Freedom School Plans Workshop For Graduates

The Freedom School will hold its annual workshop for the school's graduates beginning Tuesday, July 28. The four-day seminar will take up the discussion of "Education in a Free Society."

Founder-president Robert LeFevre will give the opening address on Monday night, July 27, and will also present the summation on Friday night, July 31.

Motion picture and television actor John Russell, a graduate of the Freedom School, will moderate the seminar discussions. Some 18 graduates, representing 11 states, are expected to attend the workshop.

The sessions are open to local persons as observers, but not as participants in the discussions.

Graduates will prepare formal papers on phases of the workshop topic and a $100 cash award will be presented to the writer of the best paper. The winning graduate will also receive a refund of his enrollment fee to the seminar.

Some of the questions to be debated on and discussed at the sessions will include:

—Are European educational systems superior to those in America?

—Can education occur without conditioning?

—Can an adequate school system exist without taxation?

—Is there an advantage in non-conformity?

Additional information about the forthcoming workshop may be secured by writing the Freedom School, Box 165, Colorado Springs, or by calling the school located near Palmer Lake.

Many Activities Open to Public At Planetarium

Academy basic cadets will parade each Saturday (weather permitting) through Aug. 15. Scheduled for 10:40 a.m., parades are held on the parade grounds directly east of the main academic area.

Planetarium presentations are held Monday through Saturday at 10:30 a.m. and 2 and 3:15 p.m. and Sundays at 2 and 3:15 p.m. The current program is "Man, Moon, and Mars."

The Academy Visitors' Center, located just inside the South Gate, is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. seven days a week.

Most popular event with the many Academy visitors is the daily noon meal formation. During summer training the formation is held at 12:20. Best point of vantage is the Harmon Hall overlook east of the administration building.

The public may also tour the Chapel 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 1 to 6 p.m. Sundays.

Perkins Motor to Construct $190,000 Showroom, Shop

Within the next few days ground will be broken for the new $190,000 Perkins Motor Company building which will be located in Motor City. The three - and - half - acre site will front on Fountain Creek Boulevard.

The new building, to be constructed by Digman Construction Company under the supervision of Walter E. Burgess, local arthitect, will be composed of steel and block, and will house 23,005 square feet of showroom and working space. The completion date is set for December of this year.

There will be ample space in the glass - fronted showroom for the dispaly of eight new cars and outside the building an asphalted customer parking section will accommodate 428 cars.

Will Perkins, president of the Perkins Motors Inc., said the building plans include space for new offices and a maintenance department as well as leasing offices for Chrysler cars and trucks. Everything but the body shop, which will remain at Shelton Road near W. 21st Street adjacent to the freeway, will be moved to the new location, Perkins said.

The site of the new building was purchased from the Smartt Realty Company in January of this year. The location will contain much in the way of customer convenience including parking ease, close accessibility to all areas of the town, the most modern equipment and a quick service section which will provide car care while the customer waits.

Perkins said building plans call for a children's room complete with a television set to entertain the youngsters while the parents wait for vehicles to be serviced.

Perkins Motor Company, agency for the sale of Chrysler products including Chrysler, Plymouth and Valiant cars, was established in Colorado Springs in 1945 by George Perkins and C. Peebler. "Since that time, the growth of the town, and the increased sales activity of our own business coupled with the upsurge of the Chrysler market penetration have literally caused us to run out of room at our present location," Perkins said.

"The main purpose of our move is to lower operating costs. This in turn, can be passed along to the customer in the form of reduced sale prices of new cars and the costs of service and maintenance work," he added.

Will Perkins became president of the corporation in 1950 when he purchased the Peebler interest.

Perkins is a native of Colorado. He is a graduate of Colorado College, graduating with a BA degree in business administration.

He is married and lives with his wife Bessie and their four children at 2508 Pine Bluff Road.

NEW HOME OF PERKINS MOTOR COMPANY — The architectural drawing shows the new $190,000 Perkins Motor Company building to be constructed on Fountain Creek Boulevard in Motor City. The steel and block building will contain 23,005 square feet of space and will house glass-fronted showrooms, a complete maintenance section, sales offices, and an entertainment room for children. The outside parking area will accommodate 428 cars. Completion date is set for December of this year.

Bar Association To Give Award At Meet Here

The Colorado Bar Association will present its annual "Justice Award" at its convention in Colorado Springs on Oct. 17, it was announced today.

The deadline for the submission of entries was fixed as Oct. 1, by Dean Edward C. King, president of the association.

The Justice Award, instituted in 1961 honors an outstanding organization or citizen of the State of Colorado who has brought to the attention of the public the vital role of the law, the legal profession and the courts in American life.

This may have been accomplished in any of several ways. For instance, the recipient may have either written an article, or series of articles, given a speech or public dramatization, or perhaps been responsible for a T.V. or radio program which has served to increase public understanding and appreciation of the American system of law and justice.

The subject matter may be either current or historical in nature, but it should be constructive and serve to encourage and promote respect for the law.

The awards will be judged on the content of the material and manner of presentation and not on the number of people it reaches, but of course it must be published in the full sense of the word.

The judges may decline to make an award, if, in their opinion no deserving application has been submitted.

Applications for the award may be submitted by the individual, himself, or by any other person on his behalf. This does not preclude the "Awards Committee" from considering an application made on its own motion, and will in fact, assure all worthy material committee consideration.

The application may be submitted to the secretary, the Colorado Bar Association, Denver University Law Center, Denver, and include all pertinent information.

The award will be judged by a committee to be selected by the public relations committee of the Colorado Bar Association.

Authority on Railroads To Address Historians

Dow Helmers, author of the railroad book, "Alpine Tunnel," will be the speaker at a meeting of the Historical Society of the Pikes Peak Region at the County Office Building, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Helmers is a former resident of Colorado Springs and is a member of the Rocky Mountain Railroad Historical Society, the National Railroad Historical Society, the State Historical Society and the Denver Posse of Westerners, CM.

He will show slides and rare historical photographs.

Former AFA Officer Visits Ent Air Base

Former Air Force Academy Chief of Staff, Brig. Gen. Stephen D. McElroy, who now heads the Ground Electronics Engineering Installation Agency (GEEIA), visited Ent Air Force Base recently.

He was briefed on local GEEIA activities by Lt. Col. D. A. Brown, chief of the field office, and visited Lt. Gen. Herbert B. Thatcher, commander, Air Defense Command.

Gen. McElroy's previous assignment was vice commander of the 13th Air Force at Clark Air Base, Philippines.

Army Children Due Physicals During August

Physical examinations on military dependent children of Ft. Carson personnel needing school examinations will be done during August.

These examinations will be conducted each Tuesday and Friday afternoon during August from 12:30 until 3:30 p.m. at Physical Examination Section, Ward A-3, Bldg. 6236, in the Ft. Carson Hospital. Parents are responsible for calling the outpatient desk, Ext. 2100 before Aug. 1 for appointments.

Only those children on the appointment book will be seen. Due to the limited hospital personnel during the summer, future school examination days are not planned.

Parents are advised to obtain physical examination forms from the school and see that data to be supplied by them is on the form before the examination, especially immunizations. These forms and the child's medical card must accompany the child to the place of examination. Children should be dressed in easy-to-remove clothing.

West Side Shopping Center To Cost About $260,000

A new 20 - business building is due to be erected at an estimated cost of $260,000 at the intersection of Colorado Avenue and 25th Street. Co - owners of the project are C. L. Chambon and Joseph F. Pieper.

Two buildings located on the site are now being razed to make room for the two - story 120 by 150 foot shopping center to be officially termed "City Center."

Chambon reported that the building will house 10 businesses of a professional nature (lawyers, doctors, etc.) on the top floor, while below will be a beauty shop, ladies clothing store, industrial bank and cafe restaurant.

The L-shaped building will be constructed of masonry with an all glass front facing Colorado Avenue. It will feature modern design complete with off - street parking.

Following the site clearing, contracts will be let for the construction which will follow shortly afterward. It is now estimated that the construction time will require 120 days and the work on the center will start approximately the middle of August, Chambon said.

Chambon, a native of Colorado Springs, is the owner of Surplus City, a business which he started in 1946.

He is married and lives with his wife Vera and three daughters at 1938 Armstrong Ave.

Pieper, a local druggist, is a native of St. Louis, Mo. He is a graduate of the St. Louis College of Pharmacy and at one time owned two prescription stores in that city.

He is the present owner of the Pieper Professional Pharmacies in Colorado Springs.

Pieper is married and the father of two children. He and his wife Matilda reside in a home on Ridge Road.

Academy Staff Members Given Commendations

Three Air Force Academy staff members have received the Air Force Commendation medal.

Cited were: Maj. Fred A. Brockway, associate professor of English and director of Philosophy in the English Department; S. Sgt. Larry D. Lane, language technician in the Department of Foreign Language, and M. Sgt. Dillard Burns Jr., NCOIC, Military Public Health and Occupational Medicine Service, 7625th USAF Hospital.

Maj. Brockway was "personally responsible for greatly enhancing academic relations between the Academy and representatives of the philosophic teaching community throughout the country."

Outstanding work in preparing basic language course handbooks used for cadet instruction earned the Commendation Medal for Sgt. Lane. He devoted countless off-duty hours to the project in order to meet suspense dates and printing deadlines.

His skillful, conscientious work was highly instrumental in the successful and timely completion of the handbooks which serve not only as a model for instruction at the Academy but recently were used in the USAF language training program.

Sgt. Burns was commended for service as NCOIC of the Sanitary and Industrial Hygiene Engineering Service, 819th Medical Group, Dyess AFB, Tex., prior to his assignment to the Academy.

Bids Invited to Supply Patching Material

Bids will be received by the contracting officer, Ft. Carson until Aug. 10, for Invitation for Bids No. AV-05-010-65-1 for asphalt patching material, fiscal year 1966.

In keeping with national policy, this invitation for bids has been set aside under the Small Business program.

'Over 65's' Gaining in County Numbers

The "over-65's" in El Paso County are gaining on the rest of the local population.

Their number is increasing at a faster rate than are other age groups, taken as a whole.

Because of their growing size and their improved financial condition, they are becoming more and more important as consumers and more influential, politically and otherwise.

The trend is a national one, according to data compiled by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. In its recent report entitled "Facts on Aging" it notes that some 1,000,000 older persons have been added to the population since 1960. The increase in their number amounts to 6.2 percent.

In El Paso County, as of the early part of this year, there were an estimated 11,511 men and women in the over-65 ranks, based on the national rate of increase.

This compares with the 10,839 recorded in 1960, when the census was taken. Of these, 4,408 were men and 6,431 women.

In most parts of the country there is a disparity in favor of the women. Of the 17,600,000 persons over 65 in the United States, 9,800,000 are women and only 7,800,000 are men.

The increase in the proportion of people living to age 65 and beyond reflects the great advances in medicine and in public health in the last few decades.

The American Medical Association states that "today's children, and a good percentage of their parents, can reasonably expect to live to 80 or 90 — considerably more than the present average."

In El Paso County, the longer life span is very much in evidence. The proportion of elders in the local population is higher than ever, 7.5 percent.

As for their economic position, although most people over 65 have much less money to spend than do younger people, they do have enough, in the aggregate, to make their presence felt in the market place.

They are retiring with larger incomes than formerly. Since 1948, it is shown, the median income of older families, in terms of current dollars, has gone up bout 25 percent.

The result is that the competition for their business is being stepped up.

Pikes Peak Region Yesterdays

By DORA FOSTER

This being the time of the year when picnics are popular, we find that as usual Stratton Park is a favorite place for outings. Remembering the interest that Winfield Scott Stratton showed in getting the place ready for everybody's enjoyment, we are still hoping that the park will never be entirely destroyed.

Since several portions of the park have already been sold off into residence lots there has been a growing fear that the park itself will pass into oblivion.

Many of us who knew Stratton and saw with what enthusiasm he began the creating of a pleasure ground in that place believe that it could well be considered his first love. He named it Cheyenne Park and said to his friends it must not be named after him. Soon after he came into possession of his riches he purchased the land for it from William F. Dixon and a small portion of the east end of the grounds from my father.

This newly - made multi - millionaire - carpenter was driven to the wooded spot every morning in a two - seated surrey; one horse white, the other black, and often his driver tied the team to a tree just across the road from our home, while the two of them, Mr. Stratton and his driver, entered the grounds. My father often remarked, "Stratton is out early again this morning," and indeed it was with great eagerness and much pleasure that he set about directing the clearing of the brush from the little stretch of ground that later became one of the beauty spots of the region.

A number of workmen with teams and wagons kept us from investigating during each working day, but on Sundays and after work hours we kept ourselves in close touch with the progress of the improvements. One Sunday we took snapshots of ourselves leaning against the wheels of one of the heavy wagons, our idea of artistry.

The first bit of work was directed by Mr. Stratton himself, personally, the building of a 30-foot rustic arched bridge across one of the low places on the hillside and which was to connect two ends of a foot path. Very soon a number of smaller bridges were placed here and there across the creek and small streams and all of them were made of heavy planks, with rustic sides formed of the trunks of scrub oaks.

The swampy portion of the grounds was drained into a couple of ponds, which we thought quite an improvement over the old slough wherein one of our cows once had to be pried out with ropes and some boards. If the wild tiger lilies, yellow lady slippers, the shooting stars and the violets had to give way to civilization, the banks of the ponds were made beautiful with cultivated plants, set out and nurtured by the "green thumb" of Leo Straub.

Mr. Straub had been a longtime friend and fellow prospector of Mr. Stratton's, and we often heard Mrs. Straub tell how she "grubstaked" the two of them with her sewing while they hunted the hills over for the elusive gold. In payment for his help and friendship Mr. Stratton made Mr. Straub his park superintendent and built a cottage in the park for him, to be the home also of Mrs. Straub and her daughter, Flora.

The buildings in the park were two pavilions with refreshment stands in each, with a second cottage for the superintendent's assistant. Then near the center of the grounds was the bandstand from which the famous Colorado Midland Band gave us four weekly concerts, two on Sundays and one on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. The leader of the band, Harry Irvine, became known throughout the country by his playing of "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" as he led his band during the capture of Manila when Admiral Dewey's name was on every one's lips.

I think I'll never forget the chant of the neighborhood boys who, with baskets on their arms, went up and down the aisles between the green seats in the park, during the concerts, crying, "Peanuts, popcorn, chewing gum and candy." And speaking of the green seats, Mr. Stratton told my father he intended to have plenty of them so that "no one would have to stand for want of a seat." Besides the seats the grounds were well supplied with platform swings, yellow and red ones that delighted the hearts of all my little nephews and nieces as well as the thousands of other youngsters who came from far and near.

When several times Mr. Stratton was asked if he intended to erect a dance pairlion as an added, attraction to the grounds. he always answered, "No. There is plenty of hell in the world without building dance halls."

Along about this time that the newly - rich carpenter was busy with his plans for giving people happiness, some of his admirers in Colorado Springs, wishing to please him or themselves, planned a big dinner in his honor. The affair was to be held at the Antlers Hotel and many invitations were sent out. Those who knew Mr. Stratton well winked at each other and said, "Bet he'll not be there." And he wasn't. He was A.W.O.L. much to the chagrin of the committee in charge and to the satisfaction of all those who could say, "I told you so."

His purchase and re-building of the city's electric street car lines was done that the populace might ride easily and cheaply. He had intended he told my father to have the line from Ivywild to the Canons a bee line without any curves, but a Mr. Davis who owned the property in the 1200 block wanted too much money for the right-of-way over his fields, so Mr. Stratton in his independent way went around him, thus we still have the big swing around what is now the Cheyenne School grounds, which school the district later purchased.

While the beautifying of the Park was going on, Mrs. Anna E. Harding "got herself talked about." Mrs. Harding was the stout owner and operator of the hotel known as Camp Harding. Her place adjoins the park on its east end and many bright summer mornings Mrs. Harding put on her wide sun hat, took a camp stool and betook herself to the west end of her own grounds, where she sat and watched the workmen as they laid out the walks and otherwise kept busy under Mr. Stratton's supervision.

"Got her eye on his millions," the neighbors whispered to one another, but we who knew what troubles Mrs. Harding had had with her late husband felt that she could never be enticed again into matrimony, even if there were several millions at stake. We knew, too, that she was a lady of independent spirit and that if she wished to watch work going on, she had no scruples about going where and when she pleased.

Here is hoping that Stratton Park will be with us permanently, as a public playground, for to those who knew Mr. Stratton well we feel that a more fitting remembrance to this kindly man cannot be found.

Silver State Opens Finance Center Here

Silver State Savings and Loan Association, a Colorado chartered financial institution since 1923, has recently opened a new and very modern Branch Office in the Finance Center at 430 N. Tejon St.

The Silver State Savings and Loan Association is not exactly new to the residents and business people of Colorado Springs since the association has served this area and residents with home loans and saving accounts from their Main Office facility in Denver for many years.

The local Branch office of Silver State Savings will be manned by local Colorado Springs personnel. Arthur W. Barr, an assistant secretary and vice president of Silver State has been appointed as the branch manager. Barr, or better known as Pete, has been a resident of Colorado Springs for eight years. He was born, raised and went to school in the Cape Girardeau, Mo., area. He majored in business administration and business law. Pete's wife, Grace, and two children reside at 205 Davie Dr.

The opening of the new Colorado Springs Branch Office affords all former and present clients, depositors, and residents an added convenience and a complete local home loan and savings facility.

The completely new SSS office is now open for business; however, since the full building is not completed in every detail it has been decided to delay the formal grand opening with appropriate pomp and ceremony until late August or early September. In the meantime, all residents and interested parties are invited to come in, get acquainted, and take a tour of the unusual and highly decorative facility.

The interior decorations and decor of this modern office are designed to be bright and cheerful, this desired effect was accomplished quite effectively by W. C. Muchow, associate architects, through use of both traditional and abstract architectural techniques and bright appealing color schemes.

With the passage of the Federal Home Owners Loan Act of 1932, which established the Federal Home Loan Bank System, the savings and loan business began it's metamorphosis from the neighborhood-club type mutual benefit organization to it's present day stature of one of the financial pillars of our local and national economy.

The nations' many savings and loan associations now finance 40 per cent of our nations home mortgages plus these organizations have become a large and vital part of our American business through loans, busastute management of American business through loans, business reserve deposits and astute management of their depositors monies.

Silver State Savings and Loan Association has assets in excess of 60 million dollars. A large portion of these assets will be put to use in our local area financing home and business loans which will assist in ensuring the continued growth of Colorado Springs and the Rocky Mountain region. Growth of the SSS Association has kept pace with the rapid expansion of this immediate area and of the state of Colorado. Starting with one small office in 1923, the Association has now grown to five Branch Offices plus a brand new multi-million dollar main office building in Denver located at Grant and Colfax Streets.

The new main office building in Denver is so new, modern, and attractive that it certainly adds to, and improve sthe overall appearance of the area around our State Capitol buildings.

The full Barr family is active in community projects, interests and sports. Art, age 20, and Joan, age 18, will attend the University of Colorado in September, both aspire to a teaching career here in Colorado.

Barr was drafted into the U.S. Army in 1942 and saw extensive action and overseas service in both World War II and Korea. An accomplished and distinguished Army Aviator, he was seriously injured during World War II and was later shot down twice during the early days of Korea.

Based on his extensive combat experience and other qualifications, Barr was selected over his contemporaries as personal Army Aircraft and Helicopter Pilot for Gen. Douglas MacArthur. When Gen. MacArthur was relieved by President Truman in April 1951. Barr remained in the same capacity as personal army pilot for Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway. Additionally, Barr, who was an Army major at that time, was one of the very first persons to fly a small Army aricraft around the world. The purpose of this flight was to deliver a new Army aircraft to the military advisory group located at Phnom-Penh, Cambodia.

Since his arrival in Colorado Springs, Barr has been instrumental and has assisted in organizing and operating many new business ventures. His assistants and other employees at the local branch office are all well-trained and experienced in the fields of banking and home loan service. Barr says, "Ours is a service institution based on personal and business integrity and honesty. Our business objectives involve the public interest as well as the interests of our customers, clients, owners, and employees. Each of us at Silver State affirm to these principles and pledge to do our utmost in serving the people and businesses of this area and community." The number of employees is expected to increase rather rapidly as the amount of loan and savings business increases.

Silver State Savings and Loan Association is designed and organized to promote family thrift and home ownership. They are members of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation; thereby, all of their savings accounts are insured by an agency of the U. S. Government.

As a firm date is established for the formal Grand Opening, announcements and approppriate advertisements will appear in the Gazette Telegraph.

COWS HELP STUDY FLIES

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Cows are being driven through a dark tunnel as part of an experiment to study fly repellents and attractants at the New York State College of Agriculture.

The tunnel is located near a forage area, where the cows attract flies while they eat. When the cows are driven through the tunnel, the flies, which don't like darkness, cluster at the opening where they are confronted by a board containing 36 squares of paper treated with six different attractants to determine the one with the most drawing power.

System Development Will Build Office Building Here

A new office building in Colorado Springs will be built for System Development Corporation to centralize SDC offices supporting Air Defense Command and North American Air Defense Command projects, the corporation announced today.

The proposed one-story, 25,000 sq. ft. brick structure will be built by Becker & Davis Contractors, of Colorado Springs and Dallas, Tex., and leased by the firm to SDC. The building is expected to be ready for occupancy early this Fall.

Site of the building will be on two acres of the Union Printers Home property, located on the south side of Pikes Peak Avenue, between Iowa and Barnes.

A considerable portion of the property will be devoted to off-street parking facilities. The building has been designed so that floor space may be expanded by the addition of a second floor.

SDC personnel in Colorado Springs are presently quartered in two separate locations. The corporation's Air Defense Command Liaison staff, along with personnel working on the 496L Space Track Project, presently occupy offices at 1719 E. Bijou in Colorado Springs. Another group, working on the 425L NORAD Combat Operations Center Project, occupies quarters at 1520 E. Willamette.

All SDC personnel at both of the present locations in Colorado Springs, along with some additional personnel from the firm's Lexington, Mass., and Santa Monica, Calif., offices, will be housed in the new building. The proposed facility also will include sizable quarters for personnel from the Air Force and The MITRE Corporation, Bedford, Mass.

SDC, a non-profit corporation, specializes in the design and development of computer-based command control and information systems for military, governmental, scientific, and educational applications. The corporation, headquartered in Santa Monica, Calif., has major facilities in Falls Church, Va., Lexington, Mass.; and Paramus, N. J.

Drake Named VP, Treasurer Of AFCO

Cortlandt S. Dietler, chairman-chief executive officer of Alexander Film Co. of Colorado Springs today announced the appointment of John C. Drake as vice-president-treasurer of the company. Formerly treasurer-assistant controller, Drake's appointment follows the resignation of F. W. Marting as vice-president-controller. Marting will continue with Alexander in the capacity of administrative and fiscal assistant to the chairman.

Dr. King Is Proposed For Nobel Peace Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has been proposed for the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize, the Norwegian religious magazine "Vaar Kirke" (Our Church) says.

A group of Swedish legislators reportedly proposed King for the price, the magazine said. The winner is chosen by the Norwegian Parliament.

The magazine said in an editorial that King should be awarded the prize for his role in the non-violent struggle for racial integration in the United States.

McGraw Tire Shop To Open at New Plant Site

McGraw Tire Shop, the former Udick Tire Shop at 117 N. Nevada Ave., will open for business Monday morning in its new plant at 301 S. Wahsatch Ave.

The shop, owned and operated by A. G. McGraw, will be located in a new one-story cement block building, will have seven molds for tire work and new alignment equipment.

McGraw left Illinois in 1949 seeking an area suitable to health needs of his family. After a brief stay in California, he moved to the Rocky Mountain Region and began looking for a permanent home.

In 1957, McGraw bought the Udick Tire Shop, and began plans to expand the business and create a plant suitable to all needs surrounding the manufacturing of re-tread tires.

McGraw redesigned the process, pattern and materials that go into his Gold-Strip re-tread tires. His new Improved Wrap-Around is designed to provide safe driving, easier steering, better braking with more mileage and quiet riding.

McGraw bought the property at Wahsatch and Vermijo Avenues and razed buildings on the area for his new plant.

Mr. and Mrs. McGraw live at 2224 Bonfoy Ave.

STATION WAGON CRUISER

* * *

Jack Daniels Is Named Dealer for Totemotel

Jack Daniels Motor Co., 816 E. Fillmore St., has been named franchised dealer of the new Totemotel, a station wagon cruiser.

A new concept in holiday travel, the cruiser converts any standard station wagon into private lodging with as many as four separate sleeping rooms plus a galley. Highways can be travelled at passenger car speeds with it.

Combinations of optional rooms can raise the sleeping accomodations to 11 persons in four separate rooms, and the cruiser can be removed from or replaced on a station wagon in a few minutes by one person using built-in hydraulic jacks.

The Totemotel is made of fibre glass and weighs about 375 pounds. Average height above ground, mounted, is 8 feet, 5 inches, and dismounted 6 feet, 4 inches. It is 14 feet long and 6 feet wide at its widest point. Interior height in the galley is 6 feet 2 inches.

The galley has a two-burner stove, 12-volt electric lights, an ice chest, a 10-gallon water supply, a sink and three cupboards.

The Totemotel has a full length wardrobe closet, and the full size rear door and window gives the driver see-through rear vision.

Optional equipment includes a king-size 4-inch plyurethane mattress, the built-in jack system, a Pow-Wow Room and a Papoose Room. The Pow-Wow Room is a patio top to which may be added zip-in nylon screens and zip-on canvas storm covers.

Kidnapers May Get Lighter Sentences

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lighter sentences and the possibility of parole were granted for two of three men convicted in the kidnaping of Frank Sinatra Jr., son of the singer.

Barry Worthington Keenan and Joseph Clyde Amsler, originally sentenced to terms of life plus 75 years, heard the terms reduced to 25 years. The judge said he originally gave the pair maximum sentences to make them eligible for a psychiatric examination.

The pair, both 23, and John W. Irwin, 42, were convicted of plotting to kidnap young Sinatra last December, then releasing him in three days after his father paid $240,000 in ransom.

Irwin, found innocent of participation in the actual abduction, drew a term of 16 years and eight months.

Smartt Realty Names Teeuween Insurance Head

Smartt Realty and Insurance Company announced today the appointment of Louis J. Teeuwen as general agent and manager of the Insurance Department.

Teeuwen is a graduate of the University of Iowa, Class of 1938, and carries the top professional designation of chartered property and casualty underwriter.

Teeuwen has also taught insurance courses at the University of Illinois and Millikin University of Decatur, Illinois.

LOUIS J. TEEUWEN

Prior to coming to Colorado Springs, he owned and operated a general insurance agency in Decatur, Ill. for the past 12 years.

Immediately prior to that point, he was a field representative for the General Insurance Company of America.

He is also active in the Episcopal Church, Red Cross, American Business Club, and in Civil Defense Work.

New Custody Sought For Happy's Children

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new arrangement regarding the custody of Mrs. Nelson A. (Happy) Rockefeller's four children by her first marriage may be worked out as a result of her former husband's remarriage, it was learned Friday.

A spokesman for the Rockefeller family said the children have been in her custody since her first husband, Dr. James S. Murphy, was married June 10 to socialite teacher Victoria Thompson.

A custody arrangement, never announced publicly by attorneys for Mrs. Rockefeller and Murphy, left the children with the doctor and gave generous visitation rights to Mrs. Rockefeller.

Family friends said the arrangement may be reversed as a result of Murphy's marriage. The Murphy children are James, 13; Margaretta, 10; Carol 7, and Melinda, 3.

Mrs. Rockefeller married the governor May 4, 1963, after divorcing the doctor on April 1. Rockefeller had five children by his first wife, Mrs. Mary Clark Rockefeller, who divorced him March 16, 1962.

Pikes Peak Park Showing Rapid Development

117 new home sales in 83 days — that is the record being set in Colorado Springs' largest subdivision in the Southeast part of the city.

In noting this rapid development, O. F. "Bud" Shepard, developer of Pikes Peak Park says, "The tremendous acceptance of Pikes Peak Park by the home - buying public is following the trend of the natural growth of a city.

People are looking for the well - planned, quiet community that affords a variety of homes; easy access to other parts of the city; the best in schools for their children; the approval of lending institutions and the full approval by FHA and VA, showing their faith that the area is a sound investment; an area that is pre-planned for city parks and shopping centers that will develop in an orderly fashion. These buyer demands are all offered in Pikes Peak Park."

Five Home Builders opened a Model Home display area just off the 1500 block of South Circle Drive in April and they as well as two more builders are keeping their crews working overtime to meet the heavy demand for their homes.

The builders, all of whom are members of the Colorado Springs Homebuilder's Association are: American Builders, Inc.; Future Homes, Inc.; Guy Graham Construction Co.; Makinnon Construction Co.; Roland Davis & Sons; Shepard Styled Homes, Inc.; Western Homes, Inc.

Communists Blamed For Riots in Korea

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—President Chung Hee Park's government said today a secret Communist youth organization had inspired the riots and demonstrations by students this spring.

It was the first time the government publicly blamed Communists for the disorders that threatened to topple the regime.

Park imposed martial law on Seoul June 3 after students and police clashed for two days. More than 100 students and civilians were arrested.

PARISIANS VISIT PARIS

PARIS, Ky. (AP) — "We are tourists in Paris," the two Parisians said. And they proceeded to take lots of pictures.

The two were representatives of Gaumont Actualities of Paris, France, and they were filming a sequence for television about Paris, U.S.A.

They photographed Stoner Creek here (to compare it with the Seine) and said they would like to visit "Le A&P" supermarket.

U. S. Postal Chief Lashes Out at Barry and Aides

By GORDON G. GAUSS

DENVER (AP)—A member of President Lyndon B. Johnson's cabinet lashed out at Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater and his aides Friday night as "fanatics who will stop at nothing in their cynical quest for power."

The attack was made by Postmaster General John Gronouski in an extemporaneous speech to Democrats of the Fourth Congressional District.

It was the keynote for a district convention and assembly during which Congressman Wayne N. Aspinall of Palisade was given an unopposed designation—equivalent to nomination—for a ninth term.

A unanimous designation for a second four-year term on the unpaid State Board of Education was given to Hugh Chastain of Durango.

The assembly — conducted on a note of harmony—was the first for Democrats since the congressional district was enlarged to cover 35 counties and more than 65,000 square miles. Northern Colorado and the San Luis Valley are now included in the district along with the Western Slope. The change was part of a congressional reapportionment to equalize the four districts on the basis of population.

Six delegates and three alternates to the Democratic National Convention at Atlantic City, N.M., the week of Aug. 23 also were chosen during the session, which lasted beyond midnight.

Delegates chosen and their votes were:

Alternates and their votes were: Pat Griffin, Fort Collins, 100; Frank Tucker, Glenwood Springs, 113; and Frank Aydelotte, Fort Collins, 51.

Each of the delegates will have half a vote.

Aspinall was nominated to be a district delegate to the convention but withdrew. His action made it possible for all of the others nominated to attend either as delegates or alternates

The Fourth District meeting was a curtain raiser to today's state Democratic Assembly and Convention.

In his keynote speech, Gronouski predicted that President Johnson will swamp Senator Goldwater but added, "it would be a tragedy to America if we lost in '64."

He declared that boos hurled at the San Francisco Republican National Convention when Govs. Nelson A. Rockeffeller of New York and George Romney of Michigan spoke showed "extremists," are in control of the Republicans.

The postmaster general contended extremism is demonstrated "when decent Republicans are booed for asking condemnation of Communists, the John Birch Society and the Ku Klux Klan."

The two governors led unsuccessful efforts to amend the plank on political extremism included in the platform.

"I am concerned when I see the destruction of a great political party," Gronouski said, "even if it is not my own."

Aspinall was nominated by Johnson, who stressed the value to the state of the congressman's chairmanship of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. Seconding speeches came from Mrs. Virginia Harrod, Greeley; State Sen. Robert McCulloch, Gunnison; Elbert Murphy, Wiggins; Isgar; and Henry Christensen of Roggen.

Nominating Chastain was John Murphy of Durango. Seconds came from John Shelton and Mrs. Lydia Miller, both of Greeley.

CONTINUANCE GRANTED

LITTLETON (UPI)—A woman charged with causing a death by driving while under the influence of alcohol was granted a continuance until Aug. 28 Friday in her arraignment date. She is Mrs. Stella M. Sawyer of Denver. Officials said she had had an argument with her husband and was trying to ram his car with her auto on Denver's Valley Highway June 13 when the accident occurred. His car colled end-over-end across the median strip and onto another car driven by Albert Croskell, 41 of Colorado Springs. Croskell and his two children, Deborah, 14, and Martin, 6, were killed.

Opening lead: King of ◇

No player can be successful unless he pauses at frequent intervals to ask. "Why did my partner lead that? Why didn't he lead something else, which seemed more natural? Why did my opponent adopt this line of action?" And so on into the night. It is astonishing how many bridge problems can be simplified in this manner.

South's second bid of three spades was quite on the conservative side, but there was no comfortable bid available to him. When North made another free bid at the four level, South had good reason to visualize a possible slam. However, there was a chance that two diamond tricks would be lost, so he bid five spades hoping that his partner would understand what his difficulty was. North concluded that the singleton diamond was the key and accepted the invitation.

The king of diamonds was opened. East overtook with the ace and returned the five, which was ruffed with the four of spades in dummy. At this point, declarer stopped to ask himself, "Why did East make such a peculiar play?" There could be only one answer, and that was that he was anxious to get a trump out of the dummy in order to protect his trump holding against a finesse. He must hold four spades to the jack. Trumps, therefore, must not be drawn immediately, but a plan laid to encircle East's jack of spades.

Declarer cashed the ace and king of hearts first and then led a spade to the queen. West's failure to follow confirmed his suspicions. A heart was led and, though it was high, declarer ruffed it, reducing his hand to four trumps. Dummy was entered again with the king of spades and the last heart led. This, too, was trumped by declarer, reducing his hand to two trumps. On this trick East discarded a club. If East had ruffed declarer would have overruffed and the party would have been over. The ace, king and queen of clubs were then played and East had to follow so that the losing diamond was discarded. At the 12th trick, a club was led from dummy and East was trapped with the J-9 of spades under declarer's A-10.

FEDERAL TAX TIPS

BY ROGER E. WARD
Administrative Representative
Internal Revenue Service

FEDERAL GAS TAX REFUND FOR NONHIGHWAY AND TRANSIT USERS Taxpayers who use gasoline for nonhighway purposes are reminded that they may have a tax refund due them. In general, a refund may be obtained of the two cents a gallon Federal tax paid on motor fuels when these fuels are used (1) for purposes other than in registered highway vehicles and (2), by certain transit systems.

Gasoline which is used for purposes other than as a fuel in a highway vehicle may qualify for the two - cent refund. Examples: Gasoline used in cleaning tools, machinery, etc., gasoline used in motorboats, aircraft, fork - lift trucks, bulldozers, earth movers, etc. Refunds may also be made on gasoline used in a highway vehicle if, at the time of such use, the vehicle is not registered and is not required to be registered under the laws of the State in which it is operated or situated. This might include gasoline used in autos and trucks operating off the highway in connection with construction, mining or timbering projects if they meet the above requirements. Farmers are entitled to claim refunds each year for the Federal excise tax on gasoline used on a farm for farming purposes.

IMPORTANT: Claims for refund must be postmarked no Sept. 30, 1964 (Claim Form 843), for the 12 - month period — July 1, 1963 through June 30, 1964.

A GUIDE TO FEDERAL ESTATE AND GIFT TAXATION: Taxpayers who have made gifts during 1964 or are planning to make gifts in the future will find answers to many of their questions in Internal Revenue's Guide to Federal Estate and Gift Taxation, Internal Revenue Service Publication No. 448. This guide is a summary of the more important Federal estate and gift taxation laws and regulations. It explains the nature of both types of tax and the requirements for filing returns and paying these taxes.

The booklet covers such subjects as the $3,000 yearly exclusion of gifts to any one donee, the $30,000 lifetime exemption per donor, and the marital deduction provisions of the gift tax law, and shows how tax is computed on gifts which exceed the tax - free amounts. Taxpayers whose estates may be subject to Federal estate tax will find the chapter on estate taxation helpful in making the most beneficial provisions for their heirs. The chapter explains what estates are subject to the tax, what amounts may be deducted or excluded, and how the Federal estate tax is computed. A Guide to Federal Estate and Gift Taxation may be purchased for 25 cents a copy from the U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Federal Jury Acquits Cohn Of Perjury

EDITOR'S : A federal trial jury acquitted Roy M. Cohn of perjury charges. In an exclusive interview Cohn tells what testimony he thinks led the jury to acquit him.

By JOHN MORGANTHALER

NEW YORK (AP)—Coatless, his necktie loose from the open collar of his shirt, Roy M. Cohn sat in his law office, relaxed and smiling.

Most Americans remember him as the serious young government lawyer in the televised Army-McCarthy hearings a decade ago. But Thursday was a day for smiles.

There was a pile of telegrams and a vase of red carnations on the desk and seven empty champagne bottles under it.

Cohn, still boyish-looking at 37, was celebrating.

A few hours earlier, a U.S. District Court jury had acquitted him of charges of perjury and obstruction of justice. It had taken two trials lasting more than three weeks each. The first one was declared a mistrial when a juror's father died.

Cohn charged that "a few people" in the Justice Department were out to get him.

Did he mean Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy? Kennedy had been counsel to the Democratic minority during the McCarthy hearings and was once reported to have exchanged blows with Cohn.

"I won't go beyond what I said," stated Cohn. "But if over a period of years a bunch of agents watch you, and intercept your mail and your phone calls, you get the idea somebody's after you.

"A lot of people were involved. But the important people were the last 12—the jury."

His anger doesn't extend to the whole Administration. A Democrat, he said he intends to vote for President Johnson.

Would he still vote for Johnson if Kennedy is the vice presidential candidate?

"I'll answer your question this way: If Johnson and Kennedy are on separate levers, I'll vote for Johnson."

In Cohn's two trials, the government charged that he and a lawyer friend, Murray Gottesman,, 57, who also was acquitted, lied to a grand jury investigating an earlier grand jury's handling of a $5 million stock fraud. Cohn also was charged with influencing other people's testimony to the second grand jury.

The first jury did not indict four men in the fraud case, including two of Cohn's co-investors in a Las Vegas, Nev., hospital project. The government charged that a $50,000 payment to Cohn and former chief asst. U.S. Atty. Morton Robson was involved.

Cohn said he believes one key to his acquittal was that the jury asked for a review of Robson's testimony, in which he denied getting any money. They also asked for a transcript of testimony by another witness, who said Robson was in New York on the day the bribe allegedly was paid in Las Vegas.

Conviction could have meant up to 35 years in prison for Cohn, whose income is reported to be $250,000 a year, with his fortune estimated at $2 million.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

What do you do about a wedding gown and veil two weeks after a wedding? When I pack it away, must it be cleaned, must it be professionaly packed or can I do it myself? —"Bride"

After much research we finally went to the National Institute of Dry Cleaning and here is their answer:

Dear Heloise:

We know of no chemical treatment which satisfactorily preserves wedding gowns. Grandmother was right when she wrapped her gown carefully to protect it from light and air and put it in a closed box or drawer, in a dry, nearly airtight place.

Dirt, light and moisture are the hazards. Light damages all fabrics so keep your dress where there is no light. Some people colored tissue paper, but there's no value in this except that blue is a sentimental color. (Now, gals, isn't that amazing? And all these years we have been thinking that blue tissue was something special. —Heloise

The tissue is good to soften the folds of the dress and avoid creases which may become impossible to remove. But white tissue is just as satisfactory as colored. Conceivably the tissue color might transfer to the dress fabric. It's not likely, but it could happen if by some chance the package became damp.

Moisture is a serious hazard to cotton, silk, rayon, and most fabrics — not so much so to dacron and nylon.

So store your wedding gown in a dry place. High humidity can cause mildew, which can leave a ruinous stain.

Fabrics buried with mummies in ancient Egypt survived thousands of years mainly because of the arid conditions in that part of the world. So keep the storage area dry.

Dirt is really the first villain to take care of. Be sure the dress is "completely clean" before you store it away.

Perspiration can cause stains and in time will weaken the fabric. We can only hope grandmother wore shields, though in those days "ladies" didn't perspire! If you had shields in your dress remove them before storing. Store them separately. The rubber in the shield can break down and release a brownish color that stains the fabric stubbornly.

Food stains, champagne spots and so on are easiest to remove when they are fresh. They can become "impossible" to remove if they are allowed to set. They will attract moths, too. Even if the fabric is not one whic ha moth eats, it will be damaged when the moths go for the food stains!

Also don't leave any starch in the fabric. Silverfish love starch.

Dry clearners can take care of the whole problem. They will clean and professionally finish the dress, soften its folds with tissue and pack it in a special wedding box so constructed that no air will get in. Some boxes are windowed with clear plastic so that when you lift the lid you can show your grandchildren what you wore. But close the lid again so as not to expose the fabric to too much light and stow the box in a dark, dry place.

And may there be many pretty brides who later wear your wedding gown. —William L. Browne, National Institute of Dry Cleaning

Ladies, I have been through the laboratories of the National Institute of Dry Cleaning. They are aboslutely fabulous! So this is the last word on what to do with a bridal gown.

This is also a wonderful way to store little christening dresses or baptismal clothes which your children wear. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I cut the top off plastic bleach containers and use them to soak small articles of clothing, such as white socks, dish cloths, etc., on wash day.

The quart bleach containers are good to set in the ground beside tomato plants. Put a small hole in the bottom of the container and the water will drain out slowly and water the plant. —Bunny

Wilcoxson, formerly employed by the Jess Hunter Company, has been new and used car sales representative for the Long Company for the past 8 months. He will occupy the position formerly held by Joseph Bishop, who has moved to new car manager.

Wilcoxson, an Air Force pilot in World War II, served in the American War Theater and was honorably discharged in 1945 with the rand of 2nd lieutenant.

He is a member of the Elks Club and resides with his wife Ruth and three children at 1903 Warwick Lane.

Board Walk Cafe Opened at West Side Museum

Wanda Bell Mintzer, who operates Wanda's and Jack's Antique Wonderland, has opened a restaurant, the Board Walk Cafe, in connection with the museum at 2101 W. Cucharras St.

The cafe makes effective use of wrought iron tables and chairs and a wrought iron railing around a balcony. The wrought iron is done in white, gold and green.

Orange is used in a canopy over the doorway and in an upholstered sectional. Part of the floor is green and red tile and the remainder is carpeted in green.

Mrs. Mintzer said the Board Walk will serve steaks, Board Walk 'Burgers, sandwiches and homemade pies.

The cafe is open from 7 a.m to 7 p.m., serving breakfast, lunch and dinner. Lorraine Sumner, formerly at Walgreen's, is cook at the Board Walk and Cathy Benson waitress.

Mrs. Mintzer's husband, S. Sgt. Jack Mintzer, is stationed at Ent Air Force Base.

Baptist Group Blasts Barry And Platform

DENVER (UPI)— A Baptist convention representing members in four Rocky Mountain region states Friday passed a resolution critical of GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater and the Republican Party platform.

It was the first time a political stand had been taken by the Negro group — the Western States Baptist Sunday School and Baptist Training Union. Some 300 persons from Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and Idaho are attending the convention here.

The resolution, adopted unanimously, said it believed Senator Goldwater to be "unworthy of the high office of president . . ." It described the senator a s"a candidate. . .who is obviously a committed extremtism."

The group said Goldwater lacked "sincere concern with problems of minority citizens and the danger of extremism." It also said the senator's acceptance speech at San Francisco "amounts to an exaltation and unqualified endorsement of such dangerously irresponsible groups as the John Birch Society, the Ku Klux Klan and the Black Muslims and gives comfort to the Barnetts and Wallaces and the white segregationists."

Kennecott Strike Issue Continues In Court Battle

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A Utah District Court hearing of a petition for an injunction against the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers was in recess today in Salt Lake City.

Union witnesses were expected to take the stand when court resumes Monday morning.

Kennecott Copper Corp., which filed the injunction last week, put its witnesses and evidence before the court Friday.

Kennecott sought the injunction after strikers scuffled with law officers escorting company supervisors into its Bingham Canyon precipitation plant southwest of Salt Lake City.

Kennecott operated the plant with supervisory personnel for several days during a two and one-half week old strike of United Steel workers of America and Mine-Mill members.

Kennecott has asked the court to halt picketing, which it charges blocked entrance and exit at the plant.

Kennecott attorney Calvin A. Behle told the court the Mine-Mill Union was irresponsible and had a background of lawlessness and charges of subversion.

Mine-Mill attorney A. Park Smoot replied: "We strongly resist the claim."

Kennecott witnesses testified that rock throwing smashed most of the windows in the precipitation plant and that name calling and altercations attended supervisory operation of the plant.

And level foreman Robert Migliaccio said he was hit in the head by a rock. He said he suffered a bruise.

Meanwhile, talks between Kennecott and representatives of the Steelworkers were in recess. Spokesmen said negotiators made "little if any progress."

Meacham New Information Man At ARADCOM

Col. Joseph R. Meacham has been assigned as information officer of the Army Air Defense Command.

He comes to Colorado Springs from the University of Wisconsin, where he earned a master of science degree in journalism. He also holds a bachelor of science degree in commerce from Utah State University, class of 1941.

Col. Meacham lived in Colorado Springs twice before during assignments at ARADCOM headquarters. He served in the G-3 (Plans, Operations, and Training) Section from 1952 to 1954, and in the G-1 (Personnel) Section form 1958 to 1961.

The colonel entered the Army in 1941. He was with the 497th Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion in the Pacific Theater of Operations during World War II.

Among other assignments, he served as a Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) instructor at Utah State University, and spent approximately two years in Thailand with the Joint U. S. Military Advisory Group.

The colonel is married and has two children. The family is living at 2322 Monteagle.

MARKING OF TIME

The exact measurement of time is the business of the astronomer. It is he who keeps our clocks correctly timed. Without him we might easily wander from the correct time. In the early days of civilization, the passing of time was marked by observations on the moon. The rising and setting of the sun one day was very much like that of another day, but the moon phases were easily recognized. Time was recorded as a rule by some simple method as cutting notches in a stick. This was so in Egypt, China, Assyria and with the American Indians. Later the counting stages of five moons were developed. This was because of the medium of trade and exchange was largely sheep and goats and five months in their breeding period. As this wandering from synchronism with seasons, the counting of six months soon resulted six for summer, and six for winter. This coincided roughly with the year as marked by the sun. Knowledge of the times and causes of the changing seasons, certainly was a large factor in the superior agriculture position of the Egyptians and the calendar, thus determined was carefully guarded.

Only the priests understood the measurements of the passage of time. It was they who announced the holiday and days of planting. In this way, the farmers were not fooled by a few warm days into early planting, neither did a backward spring mean that their crops were ruined at the end of the season. Few Egyptians were ever allowed to see calendar records. Eventually a calendar was adopted having 12 months of 30 days each. Extra days were devoted to holiday periods.

The conquest of Egypt by Julius Caesar led to the adoption of a modified form of this calendar by the Romans. About 350 years later, the seven day week was introduced and days named for first time. The marking of time seemed to be an awkward affair and to this day remains so. No difference how time was reckoned or how it is now.

The years pass over the hills, mountains and valleys and they remain the same unless the hand of man passes that way or a hurricane uproots trees or a flood devastates the country. The summit of Pikes Peak remains the same as it did the day when Lt. Zebulon Pike first laid eyes on it from the far distance. To be sure, the hand of man placed buildings on the summit and rocks have slid down its slopes but the general contour remains the same. The wilderness surrounding the peak has been changed as a cog road was built from Manitou and also the auto road. Fremont Peak, the highest in Wind River mountains in Wyoming, remains the same as when Gen. Fremont stood on the summit, unfurled the American Flag and planted it in the rock formation. The moon, stars, sun and sky remain the same as it did in the beginning of time and they still shine forth in great brilliance. Time has crept on until minutes, hours, days and years have made up ages.

Cesarean Not Ideal for All Childbirth Cases

By The Colorado Medical Society

Julius Caesar, so the legend goes, was born by way of a surgical incision in his mother's abdomen.

Macduff "was from his mother's womb untimely ripped" and thus capable, by a little literary license, of vanquishing Macbeth, who had been promised by the witches that he could never be slain by "one of woman born."

Probably inaccurately, the name of the operation by which these famous men were born has been attributed to the legend of Caesar's birth. More probably, according to modern scholars, a cesarean delivery is so named from the Latin word "caedere", meaning "to cut."

Not only the Romans and Shakespeare knew about cesarean birth. It is described as early as 760 B.C. in the annals of ancient Greek medicine, and it apparently was practiced on the dead mother from very early times in an effort to save her still-living baby. In fact, Roman law prescribed a cesarean operation or "section" for every woman dying in advanced pregnancy, and a physician who failed to perform the operation was subject to severe penalties.

Early in the 16th Century, the surgery began to be performed on living mothers who were unable to deliver their babies normally. For nearly three centuries, however, infection and hemorrhage took a heavy toll of mothers who underwent cesarean section. As recently as the first half of the 19th Century, the mortality rate was more than 50 percent. Today, thanks to an understanding of asepsis and to modern surgical techniques, the mortality is only a little higher than for natural deliveries.

Perhaps as high as 3 percent of present deliveries are by cesarean, and the operation is commonly employed to meet a variety of situations which are hazards to the life of mother and baby. It involves the "artificial" removal of the baby through a surgical incision through the abdominal and uteine walls of the mother.

Some of the conditions which may make a cesarean delivery necessary are:

A small or malformed pelvis in the mother, or a disproportion between the size of her pelvis and the size of her baby's head. Calcium deposits or other bony malformations may create this situation, or it may result from rickets or polio.

Tumors in the mother's genital tract. Fibroids of the uterus, of perhaps cancer of the cervix, or any pelvic tumor which would obstruct natural passage of the baby through the birth canal.

Placenta previa, a situation in which the after birth becomes attached to the wall of the uterus covering and blocking the birth canal. A normal birth would cause tearing of the placenta and bleeding, endangering both mother and baby.

Other less common indications for a cesarean section include abnormal positions of the baby so that his natural delivery will be difficult, and elderly mother giving birth to her first child, a ruptured uterus (sometimes the result of previous cesarean deliveries), certain situations resulting from diabetes in the mother, and abnormal formation of the mother's uterus.

Old Doc Experience advises:

1. A cesarean is not an "easy answer to all births. Both the mortality and the morbidity (rate of illness or disease) are greater for mother and child.

2. A cesarean delivery means a longer stay in the hospital for the mother. She will have an abdominal scar, and both she and her baby may be subject to the added danger — slight as it may be — of general anesthesia.

3. Cesarean section, is an important and valubale obstetrical procedure which is highly successful in proper cases. It is not a procedure which the mother should demand; conditions determine whether or not it should be employed. Many babies and mothers owe their lives to the operation.

Home Pay Video Brings Mixed Reaction in L.A.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Home pay television has come to Los Angeles. And the results? Ask the viewers:

The promoters, Subscription Television, Inc., otherwise known as STV, launched the project Friday night in a selected West Los Angeles area. Some 2,100 homes were wired for the debut.

It featured the Chicago Cubs-Los Angeles Dodgers game as the big event with two other channels offering options: A surfing movie and a bit of satirical comedy from a New York night club.

Viewers, who will be billed for what they see, just tuned in the sets and presto! No commercials. It was beamed in color, too — for those with color sets.

William Finn was delighted. He's an avid sports fan, is now on vacation from his job with an oil company, and invited a half-dozen relatives in to help him watch the game.

"My wife and I usually go to 8 or 10 games a year," he said. "We get a couple of $2.50 seats, pay $1 to park, buy a couple of beers and hot dogs—and there's $10 shot. Here we are, all of us, for $1.50."

"Frankly," he said, "I don't like baseball. But I'll be glad to pay on a selective basis for programs we're interested in."

Will the cable service keep live ones out of the ballparks? Well here's what sportsfan Finn says:

"Don't worry. We'll still be going to the games. You just can't beat the excitement of seeing it in person."

COVERAGE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than 6,000 press credentials are being issued for coverage of the 1964 Republican Convention.

Television and photographic space requirements are so great that the Cow Palace's normal seating capacity of 18,000 has been cut to 14,500.

The press, radio and television communications facilities would serve a small city. The Pacific Telephone Co. is providing 100 picture circuits for television, plus 3,000 telephones—with 1,500 at the Cow Palace and the remainder at San Francisco's major hotels.

Also being installed are 325 special teletype circuits.

Broadmoor's '64 Beauty Contest Slated Aug. 1

The Lake Terrace Pool at The Broadmoor Hotel will be surrounded by a bevy of beauties when the annual Broadmoor Beauty Contest gets under way at 2:30 p.m., Saturday, Aug. 1.

Any girl who wishes to enter the beauty pageant may do so; there are no restrictions on marital status or age. Participants in the contest should be at the Outdoor Pool at 2 o'clock. Further information can be obtained from the Broadmoor Publicity Department.

Orchestra music will provide a gay atmosphere as the girls parade around the pool. A distinguished panel of judges will select "Miss Broadmoor of 1964."

The winner receives an expense paid weekend for two at The Broadmoor as well as an individual trophy; her name will be engraved on the permanent trophy. Gifts from the exclusive shops in the hotel are presented to the winner and four runners-up.

SCSC Second Summer Period Opens Monday

The second five - week summer session at Southern Colorado State College will begin Monday. Anyone who has not completed registration for the session may do so after they have attended classes on Monday.

In the case of people who have not started registration procedure prior to Monday, they should select the classes they wish and attend those classes to secure a class card. They can then complete registration and pay their fees.

Courses for the second session are offered in art, auto mechanics, business and economics, chemistry, developmental reading, education and psychology, English, history and social science, mathematics, music, physical science, speech and welding.

According to J. Victor Hopper, dean of the college, only those classes will be held which attract a sufficient number of students. Full refund will be made for any class which does not materialize.

Lt. John Wood Tutt Weds Francoise Jehanne Mazeaud

Mademoiselle Francoise Jehanne Mazeaud, daughter of Monsieur and Madame Leon Mazeaud, of Paris became the bride of Lt. John Wood Tutt, son of Mrs. Charles Leaming Tutt and the late Mr. Tutt, of Colorado Springs on July 7, in Paris.

Msgr. Hottot assisted by The Very Rev. Father Barthelemy officiated at the noon wedding that was solemnized at Notre Dame de l' Assumption. A reception followed at the Pavillon Dauphine in the Bois de Boulogne.

The bride wore a long gown of white pique made on princess lines and her net veil fell the length of her short court train. She carried a bouquet of white sweet peas, roses and lilies.

The bride and bridegroom were attended by Mrs. Dominique Beau of Paris and Mr. William Thayer Tutt of Colorado Springs, brother of the bridegroom.

Jerome Boye of Paris was the page for his aunt and the bride's six young nieces, Christine and Delphine Stillger of Syosset, Long Island; and Sabine, Elisabeth, Florence and Valerie Mazeaud of Paris were were flower girls. Their long dresses were made of white and pink embroidered swiss organdy and their crowns of pink roses matched the flowers in their small baskets.

The mother of the bride wore a gown of green and black printed chiffon and Mrs. Tutt was dressed in a blue figured brocade with matching jacket.

The bride attended the College d' Hulst and the College Sainte Marie in Paris. Lt. Tutt is a graduate of The Thatcher School in Ojai, Calif. and Brown University, Providence, R.I. and is a member of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. He also attended the University of Colorado as a graduate student.

The bride is the granddaughter of Madame Felix Mazeaud of Paris and the late Monsieur Mazeaud, President of the Supreme Court, and the late Monsieur and Madame Pierre Cabaud of Lyon. Lt. Tutt's grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leaming Tutt Sr. of Colorado Springs and the late Mayor and Mrs. Walter Hyslop Wood of Cairo, Ill.

Among the out of town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Harold Brayman of Wilmington, Del., aunt of the bridegroom; Dr. and Mrs. Walter Stillger, brother - in - law and sister of the bride of Syosset, Long Island; Madame Victor Gares of Denver; Mrs. Cary Crockett of Colorado Springs; Dr. and Mrs. Francis Bach, Miss Serena Bach and Mr. John Bach of London; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Frick of Boston; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Radcliffe of San Francisco.

A bridal dinner was given by Mrs. Charles Tutt on the evening of July 6 in honor of the bride and bridegroom at the Ritz Hotel.

Lt. Tutt and his bride returned to the United States aboard the Queen Elizabeth and after a short visit in Colorado Springs, they will be at home in Biloxi, Miss., where Lt. Tutt will be stationed at Keesler Field.

McArtor-Mitchell Marriage Solemnized in AFA Chapel

The U.S. Air Force Academy Chapel was the setting for the wedding of Miss Grace Whiting Mitchell and Lt. Trusten Allan McArtor at 5:30 p.m. Saturday, July 11. Dr. Sterling Lorenze Price, pastor of the Third Baptist Church of St. Louis, Mo., performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Mitchell Jr. of 1 Plainview Rd., Broadmoor. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Trusten McArtor of 530 Lilac Ave., Webster Groves, Mo.

The altar was lighted by ivory tapers in spiral candelabra, and huge baskets of white gladioli and pom pons formed the background for the ceremony. White pom pons backed with lemon leaves and tied with white satin bows, marked the center aisle pews.

Traditional nuptial music was played by the Mr. Boyd at the organ. He also accompanied Mrs. Thomas Baker who sang "Hawaiian Wedding Song," and "Wedding Prayer."

Mr. Mitchell escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. Her gown of ivory silk organza over taffeta was fashioned with moulded princess bodice enhanced by a Sabrina neckline edged with Alencon lace. The short sleeves were also of Alencon, and the princess skirt featured panels of scalloped Alencon accented with lace-edged taffeta bow at the back, from which swept the wide chapel train. Her veil of imported silk illusion fell in misty folds from a double lace crown, and her flowers were deep ivory roses with stephanotis and ivy streamers arranged in a shower.

Miss Ruth Anne Haley as maid of honor wore a gown of yellow organza over taffeta, with tightly moulded bodice, bateau neckline and elbow length sleeves. The floor length dome skirt was enhanced by a Watteau panel. Bridesmaids were the Misses Michelle McCurdy, Nancy Mitchell, Barbara Herzberger, Ninalee McArtor, Cynthia Heinicke and Barbara Corby. All wore gowns like that of the maid of honor, but in foam green organza over taffeta. Miss Haley carried a shower bouquet of chartreuse carnations and ivy, and the bridesmaids bouquets were ivy with yellow carnations which matched the gown of the maid of honor. All wore halos of yellow carnations.

Miss Leffel McCurdy, 5, of Oakland, Calif., was flower girl, wearing a frock of white organdy over yellow taffeta, and carrying a white and gold basket of yellow sweetheart roses and white marguerites, with streamers.

William Anderson, 5, son of Capt. and Mrs. William Anderson of the AFA was ring bearer.

Lt. Darryl Bloodworth of Apalachicola, Fla., was best man, and ushers were Lt. David E. Mitchell II, Eugene McArtor, George Mitchell, John McArtor, Lt. Peter LoPresti and Robert McKanna. Sabre bearers who formed the traditional arch as the couple left the chapel were AFA Cadets First Class Alva B. Holaday, Neil H. Stone, Larry C. Tollson, David L. Backus, Stephen Amdor, William M. Landes, Peter C. Mitchell and Richard Czarnota.

Mrs. McArtor chose a sheath of fawn-beige Chantilly lace flecked with gold appliques of silk marquisette, and crushed midriff of gold silk. Her corsage was an ivory cymbidium orchid.

The reception was held at the Academy Officers' Club, where the table was covered with a cloth of shirred organdy with cascades of smilax. White roses in candelabra epergnettes flanked the wedding cake, and on another table, an ice carving of wedding bells and silver bows was trimmed with white roses.

The couple left for a motor trip through the Ozark Mountains, after which they will live at Enid, Okla., while Lt. McArtor is in pilot training at Vance Air Base. For traveling the bride chose a desert cloth dress in a fuschia shade, with matching accessories.

The bride was graduated in June from the University of Colorado where her sorority was Pi Beta Phi.

The bridegroom was graduated in June from the U.S. Air Force Academy where he was the Wing Commander.

Out of town guests included: Cmdr. and Mrs. John McCurdy and daughter, Leffel and Michele of Oakland, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shuler of Scottsdale, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dawson, Diane and Rosalyn of Corpus Christi, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Schwaibold of Ludington, Mich., Judge and Mrs. Leonard Sutton of Denver, Lt. David E. Mitchell III, who flew in from Heidelberg Germany where he is stationed; and Mr. and Mrs. George Mitchell of Tucson. Coming from St. Louis were Mr. and Mrs. Rollie O. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Hunt, Miss Elma Edwards, Mrs. Tyke Yates, Mrs. Denver Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Long; from Webster Groves: Mrs. George Stuber, Mrs. E. E. Mikkelsen, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Moss and daughters Gentry, Candice and Kim; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McArtor, parents of the bridegroom, Nanalee McArtor and John McArtor, sister and brother of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. H.F. Steckdaub, Patty and Mark of Denver; Dr. and Mrs. T. Roscoe McArtor and daughter, Julie and Mary of Browning, Mo., and from Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. C. W. Starbuck, grandmother of the bridgroom; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McKanna, their son Robert and daughters, Mrs. James O'Hearn and Mrs. Guy Burton; Dr. and Mrs. Kurt Fantl of San Pedro, and Dr. Fantl's father from Illinois, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McArtor of Columbia, Mo.

Questers Tour Stone Castle At Sedalia

Seventy - five Questions and their friends recently took two field trips to Cherokee Ranch near Sedalia to learn of the antiques housed there in the stone house called the 'Castle'.

Built as recently as 1926, it is modeled after a Scottish Castle of the year 1400. Stone quarried in the area was hand hewn by Cornish stonecutters. There is a Vermont slate roof and a French style courtyard of the period. The Castle is surrounded by 6200 acres and the views include Long's Peak, University Peaks and of course Pikes Peak. Santa Gertrudis cattle raised by owner Mrs. Gordon B. Rogers graze on the lush growth of gramma grass among the native scrub oak.

The visitors were thrilled to see such things as a tenth century handmade jar from Crete that once was used for storage of oil; fourteenth century German armor; icons of the fifteenth century; sixteenth century Meissen; a desk with Bible drawer of the seventeenth century; folding library steps of the late eighteenth century; original paintings of Sir Christopher Wren; oil paintings of 300 years ago; original editions including "Alice in Wonderland" and many objects of the nineteenth century. Everything in the Castle is used daily and may be enjoyed by visitors upon arrangement with Mrs. Rogers.

On Thursday, July 23 Questers and their friends will tour "Estemere Castle" of 1881 in Palmer Lake. Anyone interested in joining the group may contact Mrs. Herman Harder. The tour arrangements are made by Mrs. Roy R. Bogue, Assistant National Organizer of Quester Clubs of America. Questers' particular interest is in things of the past and their preservation.

Color Up

CHICAGO (UPI) — New colors for lamp bases are coming into vogue, the Lamp and Shade Institute of America reports.

Wells-Gray Vows Recited In Lincoln, Neb. Church

The marriage of Miss Teddy Gray of Central City, Neb., and Toby Wells, formerly of Fountain, now of Lincoln, Neb., took place at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, July 12 at the College View Seventh Day Adventist Church in Lincoln. The Rev. D. W. Holbrook officiated. The ceremony was a double wedding, with Miss Gray's sister, Judy, as the other bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. I. Gray of Central City, Neb. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Wells of Fountain.

The bride's gown of white Chantilly lace was styled with sculptured bodice, wrist length sleeves, and scalloped Sabrina neckline. The bodice was trimmed with opalescent paillettes, and the bell skirt, featuring the scalloped motif, was styled with court train below a shepherdess back drape.

Jan Rowland of Lincoln was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Karen Williams, Lincoln; Dodie Fullington, Central City; and Jolene Byerly, Chadron, Neb. All wore floor length gowns of white eyelet over blue, with elbow length gloves, and carried baskets of blue and green daisies.

Donald Wells of Colorado Springs was best man, and groomsmen were Marshall Chase of Boulder, Steve Zeelar of Lincoln and Eddie Rodreguez of Security.

After July 26, the couple will be at home at 4328 S. 50th St., Lincoln.

The bride attended Union College and received a two year certificate in secretarial science. She is employed in Lincoln as a legal secretary. The bridegroom who also attended Union College, is affiliated with the Rocky Mountain Amateur Association as a marathon runner. He plans to attend college in the fall and will major in veterinary medicine.

MRS. PATRICK MICHAEL McFADDEN
—Nee Margaret Ann Meents

* * *

Margaret Ann Meents Is Bride of Patrick McFadden

The marriage of Miss Margaret Ann Meents and Patrick Michael McFadden was solemnized at 4 p.m. Saturday, July 11, at the First Congregational Church. Candelabra and baskets of yellow pom pons, gladioli and carnations formed the background for the ceremony, and yellow and white bows marked the center aisle pews.

The Rev. Kenneth W.-F. Burton performed the ceremony and Ben Lacy at the organ played nuptials selections, including Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" and "Trumpet Tune" for the recessional.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barney J. Meents of 805 N. Meade Ave. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McFadden of Hartland, Wis.

Mr. Meents escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. Her formal gown of Chantilly lace and crystal over taffeta, was styled with fitted bodice, short sleeves and full skirt which flowed into a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion was caught to a white pillbox, and her flowers were white pom pons and carnations.

Miss Judy Dummer as maid of honor wore a short dress of yellow silk organza over taffeta, styled with full skirt. She wore a matching petite pillbox with circular veil, and a wrist corsage of yellow tulle puff balls with carnations and ivy.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. James Muir, sister of the bride and Miss Linda Heinrich, a cousin, who wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor, but in green, with similar bouquets.

Assisting at the reception which was held in the Founders Room of the church were Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Mrs. C. L. Urbach, Mrs. Peggy Price, Miss Sandra Waymire and Miss Christine Riley.

The circular table was covered with a floor length green cloth, and the cake was surrounded with yellow carnations, ivy and yellow tapers. Long tables on either side featured tiered arrangements of dipped cakes. Greenery and white tapers decorated the windows.

The bride attended Grinnell College at Grinnell, Iowa and the bridegroom attended schools in Hartland.

After a wedding trip to Yellowstone Park, the couple will live in Colorado Springs while the bridegroom is stationed here with the U.S. Air Force. The bride's traveling costume was a light blue silk suit with white accessories.

Guests from other cities were the bridegroom's parents, and sons, Dan, Terry and Tim McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McFadden Sr., Dr. and Mrs. Gary McFadden, Wendy and Kathy; Mrs. Evelyn Mann, John Rankin, Fred Kaerschner, all from Wisconsin; Mr. and Mrs. James Muir of Evanston, Ill., Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Deakin of Valentine, Neb., Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jansen of Minden, Neb., Mr. and Mrs. Ray Heinrich, Linda, Rodney and Larry of Ayr, Neb., Mr. and Mrs. Lester Alber and Julie, Campbell, Neb. Dale Aber of Nehawka, Neb. Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Schultz, Denver, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lamper, Nancy and Brian, Denver.

Auxiliary Family Picnic Planned

The Past President Club of the Auxiliary to Lt. Marion L. Willis Post 101 will meet for a picnic at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Robinson, 1431 W. Cucharras St.

Husbands and family are invited. Members are reminded to bring their own fried chicken, covered dish and table service. Beverages and dessert will be furnished.

Vernon Mitchell Will Address Women's Council

The Christian Business and Professional Women's Council will hold its regular meeting Tuesday in the Terrace Room of the Antlers Hotel.

Guest speaker will be Vernon Mitchell, who is employed as assistant secretary - treasurer for Aircraft Mechanics. He is active as a lay minister and at present is serving the church at Rye.

Jeanette Maas will show many of her travel slides and music will be furnished by a trio composed of organization members, Charlotte Berkley, Anita Allen and Virginia Force.

The council extends a welcome to all women of the area. For reservations phone Marcia Roderick at the Contemporary Gallery and Art Shop.

The girl with a short neck should never wear high collars as they make the neck appear even shorter. Consequently, the collars seem to shorten the appearance of a long neck and face.

MRS. HUGH D. CAMPBELL JR.

Campbell-Stoda Ceremony Held in Pueblo Church

Nuptial vows were recited recently at Faith Lutheran Church, Pueblo, by Miss Janette Lynn Stoda and Hugh D. Campbell Jr. The Rev. Charles Roluffs performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mrs. Beverly Donstad. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Campbell of Colorado Springs.

Given in marriage by her brother - in - law, Calvin H. Hobbs, the bride was attired in a lace gown, designed with an overskirt of sheer organza swags. Her fingertip veil fell from a pearl tiara and her bouquet was of white and yellow roses.

Mrs. Calvin Hobbs was matron of honor. She wore a blue lace and organza dress and carried a pink carnation bouquet.

Miss Paula Lorenz and Betty Lorenz, nieces of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They were gowned alike in blue and pink lace and organza dresses and carried bouquets of pink and blue carnations.

The bridegroom graduated from Palmer High School and is employed by the Denver Equipment Co.

After a Denver honeymoon the couple will reside at 214 N. Logan St. The bride's traveling outfit was a white ensemble.

If you have a long face, the narrow V-shaped necklines are not for you. They will make your face appear longer. Those necklines are kind to round faces and short necks.

Women of Unity To Honor Author At Reception

Lemon Sponge Pie Uses Extra Egg Whites

B CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

All ear round, cooks are likel to have leftover egg whites in a covered jar in the refrigerator. How to use them?

One wa is to make the famil a lemon sponge pie. This dessert is fine for warm weather because for it ou use a rangetop filling and an unbaked graham-cracker crust or one that needs onl brief baking.

When we tried this recipe, we made it a da before serving and found it lost none of its flavor or texture after an overnight refrigerator sta. One of our male tasters relished the pie's tang lemon flavor—the result of using fresh lemon juice and some of the grated lemon rind. If ou wish less tang, omit the rind.

LEMON SPONGE PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
½ cup sugar
⅓ cup fresh lemon juice
2 drops ellow food coloring
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind, if desired
3 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup light corn srup
Daint Graham Crust

In a small saucepan, sprinkle the gelatin over the cold water; let stand a few minutes to soften gelatin. Add sugar and stir over hot water or ver low heat until gelatin and sugar are completel dissolved. Remove from heat, stir in lemon juice, ellow food coloring and, if used, the grated lemon rind. Chill to unbeaten egg white consistenc. Beat the egg whites and salt until stiff. Slowl beat in corn srup; continue beating if necessar until smooth and gloss; fold in chilled gelatin mixture. Chill until thick enough to pile—about ½ hour. Pile lightl into Daint Graham Crust. Chill until read to serve. This pie keeps so well that it ma be prepared a da ahead of serving and kept under refrigeration overnight.

Note: For a ver smooth filling, stir the egg white and gelatin mixture occasionall while it is chilling.

Dainty Graham Crust

12 two-inch graham crackers
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons granulated or firmly packed light brown sugar
Dash of salt

Roll the graham crackers with a rolling pin until fine crumbs form; there shoull be ¾ cup. Cream the butter; blend in the sugar and salt; thoroughl mix in the graham-cracker crumbs. Press evenl over the bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate. (An 8-inch pie plate ma be placed inside the crumb - filled pan for even shaping and pressing.) Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until browned — about 5 minutes.

Note: To roll crumbs easil, place the crackers between two sheets of waxed paper or in a plastic bag. If ou have an electric blender ou can, of course, use it to make the crumbs.

Dale Potter Andrews Weds Miss Ruth Elaine Baer

Miss Ruth Elaine Baer and Dale Potter Andrews were united in marriage recently at Southside Bible Chapel, the Rev. John Walden officiating. Baskets of white and pink carnations were placed on the altar and traditional nuptial music was played by Mrs. Donald Morgret. Vernon and Carrie Marie Plant sang, "Because", "Whither Thou Goest," and "Each for the Other."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester O. Baer, 410 N. 28th St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin E. Andrews, Denver.

The bride wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie and Venetian lace fashioned with a fitted bodice, three - quarter length sleeves, and bell skirt. A chapel train was caught to a bow at the back and a lace and pearl encrusted cap held her fingertip veil. Her cascade bouquet was of white roses, pink rosebuds and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. William Rask of Denver was matron of honor. Her street length dress of light blue peau de soie was fashioned with a scoop neckline, cummerbund and large bow at the back. She wore a bow headpiece fashioned of the same material, and carried a pink and white carnation bouquet.

Bridesmaids were Miss Laurie Andrews of Denver, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Carol Bartel of Peoria, Ill. Both were costumed identically to that of the matron of honor, and carried cascade bouquets of pink carnations.

William Rask of Denver, college roommate of the bridegroom, served as best man. James Frumm, Tim Longbrook and Elmer Shacklette were ushers.

A reception in the church parlor followed the ceremony. Mrs. Fred Hover presided at the guest book; Miss Barbara Mumy was in charge of the gifts; Miss Alice Wilson and Mrs. Lester Dolan cut the cake and Miss Pam Dolan poured punch. Others assisting were Mrs. Elmer Shacklette, Mrs. Carl Fragrelius, and Mrs. Vernon Plant.

Following a wedding trip to Redstone, the couple will reside in Greeley. The bride selected a blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of white roses for her traveling costume.

In addition to the bridegroom's family, out of town guests included Mrs. Lucy Burger, Adela Burger and Gertrude Burger of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fowler and family of Silver Springs, Md.; Mrs. Milton Oren and sons of Elbe, Wash.; Mrs. Hadyn McCaskill of Athens, Ohio; Mrs. Mildred Chapman of LaJunta; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Britt, Mr. and Mrs. Houston Kellam, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Rask, Mrs. Kenebeth Ullery, Mrs. Jerry Foland and children, Mrs. Grace James, Miss Susan James, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Morgret, Miss Laurie Hunt, Hurbert Banks, all of Denver; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Longbrook and family of Littleton; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Daharsh and family of Longmont; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hover of Eaton.

The bride will be a senior this fall at Colorado State College. The bridegroom is a June graduate of Colorado State University and is associated with the Hatch Candy Corp. in Denver.

Air Woolens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Alice Linn, clothing specialist with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, suggests that before storing woolens, take them outside for a good airing. Brush thoroughly to destroy possible moth eggs and larvae.

Better yet, have the clothes drycleaned. This kills all stages of clothes moths, she said.

Miss Gumz has attended the University of North Carolina and is currently a senior in the Bethel School of Nursing, Memorial Hospital, Colorado Springs. Lt. Branch received his commission and BS degree from the United States Air Force Academy, and is assigned to the 3501st Student Squadron at Reese Air Force Base, Tex. A December wedding is planned. Capt. Gumz, as Commander Fleet Air, Whidbey, is responsible for naval aviation activities in the northwest United States. He recently completed a tour of duty as Assistant Chief of Staff at American Air Defense Command Headquarters at Colorado Springs.

Water Safety Rules Avert Family Tragedy

CHICAGO (UPI)—The theme of a summer tragedy: man, woman or child takes a refreshing dip in pool, lake or ocean. Something happens.

Man, woman or child drowns.

The tragedy, according to estimates, will happen to 6,000 Americans this summer—unless all who go near the water bone up on water safety.

The American Medical Association (AMA) cautions that the basic rule of water safety should be well known to everyone old enough to read.

The rules are repeated each season by health and safety organizations. Yet most drownings occur when someone has violated one of the safety rules.

Fundamentals cited by the AMA:

— Don't overestimate your ability and endurance.

—If your boat overturns, stay with it and don't try to swim a long distance to shore.

—Never dive into unknown waters.

The AMA also said everyone ought to know about artificial respiration and how to apply it. The mouth-to-mouth method is not difficult.

"Start immediately," the AMA said. "The victim can survive without oxygen to the brain for only a few minutes.

"Put the victim on his back, pull the chin well up, make certain the windpipe is clear. Put your mouth over the victim's mouth, pinch shut his nose, and blow hard. Repeat 12 to 15 times per minute. Keep it up until medical help arrives."

On another subject, skin diving and scuba diving, the AMA observed:

"Both are fine sports, drawing more enthusiasts each season. Both require special training and knowledge and good physical condition.

"If you plan to be a diver, take a course in underwater survival. And get yourself into good physical training for strong swimming."

"The man handling the boat should know what he's doing. The skier should always wear a life jacket. Even a strong swimmer can be winded by a hard fall at high speed."

As a finale, the AMA touched on swimmin' holes in the backyard.

"If you have a pool, or use a neighbor's," the AMA said, "walk, don't run about the pool; be careful with horseplay."

For pool owners, it was suggested — "fence the pool and keep the gate locked to keep out small children; keep rescue equipment, such as long poles and ring buoys handy; keep bottles and glasses away from the pool deck."

P.S. — If all in your family aren't good swimmers, arrange lessons at the YMCA or somewhere else, in which qualified instructors conduct classes. Many drownings occur among non-swimmers or weak swimmers.

Mushy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Serve broiled mush for breakfast. Broil a whole pan of mush slices at once. Just make corn meal mush according to your favorite enriched corn meal package recipe; chill several hours or overnight and cut into ¼-inch slices. Dip slices in flour; brush lightly with melted butter. Broil on foil 5 to 10 minutes on each side or until golden brown. Serve hot with syrup or honey. Serves eight.

REHEARING ASKED

DENVER (UPI)—The City of Boulder Thursday petitioned the State Public Utilities Commission for a rehearing on a decision excluding the community from the Mountain States Telephone Co.'s Metro '65 plan. The plan, accepted June 26, eliminated all long-distance and interzone charges in a 2,200-square mile area around Denver. The only area not included was Boulder. The telephone company also has sought a rehearing, charging that the exclusion of Boulder was unfeasible.

MRS. WILLIAM JOSEPH FRANEK
—Nee Jeanette Bird

Jeanette Bird Becomes Bride of William Franek

The marriage of Miss Jeanette Bird and William Joseph Franek was solemnized on the afternoon of June 21 at the First Christian Church, with Rev. C. William Bryan officiating.

Two baskets of white gladioli and mums and two seven-branch candelabra decorated the sanctuary.

Miss Lee White, organist, played appropriate selections before the ceremony and the traditional processional and recessional. Ben Lyon sang "Peace I Leave With You" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene O. Bird of 2408 N. Corona St. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Franek Sr. of Matheson.

Mr. Bird gave his daughter in marriage. The bride's gown was of sheer silk organza with appliques of peau d'ange lace accented with tiny seed pearls. The lace streamed down the double Watteau back, descending into a chapel train. Her veil was a braid crown with pearl trim, with shoulder bouffant tulle, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white gardenias and roses.

Miss Frances Williams attended the bride as maid of honor and Mrs. James Manuel of Big Spring, Tex., was matron of honor. Other attendants were Miss Judi Bird, of Sunland, Cal., and Miss Laure-Elsie Georges, of Los Angeles. All were attired in identical French blue floor length gowns, with head dresses of matching fabric and short veils. They carried bouquets of white and yellow carnations and roses. Alice and Anne Bird, cousins of the bride and identical twins, were flower girls and were dressed in pale yellow dresses. They carried baskets of white and yellow flowers.

The bride's mother was dressed in pink and wore a corsage of white roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige lace dress and wore a corsage of pink rose.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was George Franek, a cousin. Ushers were Steve Franek, Andrew Franek, Tom Franek and Leslie Wood.

The bride was graduated from Wasson High School in 1961 and was a student at Colorado Woman's College in Denver for three years. She spent her junior year in Vienna, Austria, with the CWC Foreign Study Group.

Mr. Franek was graduated from Calhan High School, attended Colorado State University at Ft. Collins for one year, then served in the United States Air Force for four years.

Both young people are now attending the University of Colorado, Boulder, and are residing at 1910 Athens St., Apt. L, Boulder.

Painful Tootsies Draw Complaint

SOUTH HADLEY FALLS, Mass. (UPI) — In a word — "ouch." That's what a lot of American women say about their feet.

A study of shoe gripes found that women mention lack of comfort more often than any other complaint. Next was lack of durability of their footwear and in that of their children's.

The study was made by a firm, Texon, which makes an innersole for shoes. Polled by questionnaire were 1,515 women's editors, reporters, columnists and radio and television commentators across the country. Eighteen per cent, or 273, answered.

Sixty-two per cent mentioned lack of comfort as the number one gripe—attributing it to a variety of causes including pointed toes, spindly heels, thin soles, poor back construction and difficulty of fitting unusual sizes.

Thirty-eight per cent griped that women's shoes don't last, 30 per cent complained children's shoes don't last. Specific gripes ranged from scuffed toe tips, heel breakage and lifts that fall off heels to cracking leather and premature loss of shape.

Thirty-three per cent of the respondents complained of innersoles that crack; 30 per cent of curling innersoles; 29 per cent of soiled hosiery; 21 per cent of damage to hose; 24 per cent said there was too much styling; and eight per cent said—not enough styling.

Zucchini Marinade

Peel 6 medium zucchini squash and cut into 1½ inch sticks. Fry slowly in ¼ cup olive oil just until golden. Drain on paper towels. Combine ¼ cup sweet pickle liquid, ¼ cup vinegar, ½ cup olive oil, 1 tablespoon basil leaves and ½ teaspoon garlic powder in saucepan. Simmer 5 minutes. Alternate layers of zucchini and ½ cup sweet gherkins, cut in lengthwise strips, in a glass or china dish. Pour hot marinade over all. Cover and chill overnight. Drain before serving. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Realse all pressure on wringer rollers as soon as washing is over and leave them clean and dry. Failure to do this may result in flat spots where they touch and the rubber will stick.

Fullner-Ehlers Nuptials Held at Immanuel Lutheran

The Immanuel Lutheran Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Joyce Rae Ehlers and Donald Arthur Fullner at 4 p.m. June 27. The Rev. Robert W. Clark officiated. Kenneth Schleuter at the organ played nuptial selections and Edward Geisler sang. Palms and baskets of white gladioli, yellow mums and pom pons decorated the altar.

The birde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Ehlers of 1307 Prairie Rd., was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Fullner of 1202 E. Uintah St.

The bride's empire gown of silk organza was styled with long sleeves and Sabrina neckline. The bell skirt featured a detachable chapel train, and her veil of illusion was caught to a crown of crystalized orange blossoms. Her flowers were yellow sweetheart roses and stephanotis arranged in a cascade.

Miss Ellen Wismer, cousin of the bride was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss VeAnn Fullner, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Gary Ellis, sister of the bride. All wore floor length gowns of pure silk pastel blue taffeta, styled on empire lines. The backs were trimmed with blue bows, which extended into loose panels, and their hats were flower crowns of illusion and streamers. Their flowers were yellow carnations arranged on imported Chantilly lace fans.

Joyce and Debra Schauss as flower girls wore dresses of pastel yellow silk organza over taffeta with matching flower crown of illusion and streamers. Both carried small white baskets of rose petals and sweetheart roses.

Robert Burger attended the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Harlan Fullner and Kevin Pillard. Deon Fullner and Gary Ellis were groomsmen.

The bride's mother wore a sheath of pink embroidered Irish linen, with pink and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of blue Alencon over taffeta. Their corsages were white feathered carnations.

After a honeymoon at Estes Park, the couple will live at 1307 Prairie Rd. until August, when they will go to Richmond, Va., where the bridegroom will teach at Lutheran Memorial School. The bride chose for traveling a jacket dress of pink cotton with matching accessories, and a gardenia corsage.

The bride was graduated from Wasson High School, class of '63, and the bridegroom, class of '60. He is a 1964 graduate of Concordia Teachers College, Seward, Neb.

Assisting at the reception and supper which were held at the home of the bride's parents were Mrs. Clarence NaGreen, the bride's sponsor who cut the cake; Mrs. Omar Meyer, Miss Janice Johnson, Miss Betty Bailey, Miss Jeanie Frase, Miss Sharon Head and Miss Judy Johnson, who was in charge of the guest book.

Guests from other cities were: Mr. and Mrs. Omar Meyer and Gerald, sister of the bride and family, Neenah, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Ellis, sister of the bride and husband, Loveland; Mrs. Anna Laudon, grandmother of the bride, Appleton, Wis.; Mrs. Lillie Luebe, grandmother of the groom, Pierce, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fullner and family, Pierce; Mrs. Arnold Borchardt, Hortonville, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wismer, Ellen and Paul, Tucson, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence NaGreen, Freemont, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Teski, Neenah, Wis.

Wayne Anderson Weds Loraine Ann Lundquist

The marriage of Miss Loraine Ann Lundquist and Wayne Anderson took place recently in Bethany Baptist Church. The Rev. C. L. Moser performed the double ring ceremony, against a background of white tapers and arrangements of means and carnations.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Lundquist, Ellicott. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Mayo Anderson of Rush.

Mr. Lundquist escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. Her floor length gown, which was fashioned by the bride, was styled on lines of simple elegance. Her bouffant illusion veil cascaded from a pillbox trimmed with petite bows. Her dainty silver pendant set with a diamond was a gift of the bridgroom. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, carnations and stephanotis.

Miss Gail Lundquist, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a two piece, sleeveless, street length dress of blush pink delustered satin. A large square bow held her veil in place and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and carnations. Bridesmaids were Miss Betty Anderson; sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Edward Touhey, Mrs. Max Cain and Miss Ellena Nolan. They were attired in dresses identical to that worn by the maid of honor and carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations.

Miss Natalie Johnson, cousin of the bride, in a frock of pink satin was the flower girl.

M. B. Anderson, brother of the groom, served as best man and groomsmen were Bob Anderson, Jerry Wager, Sam Tanner and Richard Anderson.

Miss Judee Waller presided at the guest book and assisting at the reception were Mrs. Bob Anderson, Mrs. Charles Flutcher, Mrs. Willard McPherson Jr. and Miss Debby Hobbs, Miss Donna Hobbs and Mrs. Ed Hobbs. Miss Jan Colley was in charge of the gift table.

For a wedding trip through Wyoming, South Dakota and Nebraska, the bride's ensemble was a two piece dress of orange silk suiting and white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Blair Business College.

The bridegroom was graduated from Colorado State University in 1962 with a degree in animal production. His fraternity is Alpha Gamma Rho.

Ever Hear of Pink-A-Boor Cookies?

B CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Preschoolers sometimes have their own secret language.

One little girl kept talking about the good pink - a - boor cookies she had at home. The neighbors who heard her were curious; on quering her mother the discovered that she meant 'peanut butter' cookies!

Her mother also volunteered the information that she favored using wheat germ, that highl nutritious cereal, in the pink-a-boor cookies.

When we tried this recipe for wheat-germ peanut-butter cookies we did so two was — once with the amount of baking soda suggested here, and once with twice the amount. We favor the half-teaspoon included in our directions because it gives a crisper texture and a better flavor than does the larger addition.

PINK-ABOOR COOKIES

1¼ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup wheat germ
½ cup butter or margarine
¾ cup chunk-stle peanut butter
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup firml packed light brown sugar
2 eggs

Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt; stir in wheat germ. Cream butter peanut butter, granulated sugar and light brown sugar; beat in eggs thoroughl. Graduall stir in the sifted dr inredients. Shape dough into small balls using tablespoon for each. Place a few inches apart on cookie sheets. Press down balls with a fork to make fairl thin. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until lightl browned, about 10 minutes. Makes about 4½ dozen.

Karen Lou Orman Becomes Bride of James N. Rhodes

Miss Karen Lou Orman became the bride of James N. Rhodes at 2 p.m. Saturday, July 4, in Grace Episcopal Church. The Rev. James A. Mills performed the ceremony in a setting of white gladioli and daisies.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie R. Cotton, 3816 N. Nevada Ave. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Evel Q. Rhodes, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Mr. Cotton escorted his daughter to the altar. She wore a crystaline taffeta gown fashioned with a lace bodice and long tapering sleeves. An overskirt, caught in front by a large rose, flowed into four lace tiers in back, and she wore a pearl necklace which was a gift from the bridegroom. Her waterfall bouquet was of white carnations and light blue satin streamers.

The bride's mother selected a gold and white jersey dress with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a light blue chiffon dress with white accessories.

Assisting at the reception held in the parish house of the church were Sharon K. Ford, wearing a two piece pink lace suit; Janet E. Blessing, who wore a white lace suit; Carol Seymour, wearing a blue taffeta suit, and Barbara J. Taylor, who wore a white cotton skirt, pink and white striped blouse.

Guests from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. John Masser, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Masser, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Masser all of Pueblo; Mrs. Ruby Cotton of Calhan, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Cotten, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Wondrak and Babe, Mr. and Mrs. George Holloway and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Bower all of Denver; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Cotton of Peyton; Mrs. Evel Rhodes, Florida.

The bride's going away outfit was a blue suit with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. The couple will honeymoon in Manitou Springs and reside in Colorado Springs.

Household Hints

United Press International

One easy way to paint a chair is to set it on an old-fashioned piano stool that turns. Finish all the bottom surfaces first and then stand the chair upright and complete the top surfaces.

Use a vacuum cleaner to remove dirt and dust from edges of aluminum window screens.

Ink spills on wood furniture should be blotted immediately to prevent permanent marking.

Make top and bottom hems of draperies identical to reduce the possibility of sun-streaking. Every few weeks reverse the hanging, putting the bottom side up.

Return gilt picture frames to their original luster by rubbing with a sponge moistened in turpentine.

Hold an envelope under a child's bangs when trimming. As you trim, the hair will fall in. Seal and throw away the cuttings.

Dissolve salt in a little boiling water and mix with cereal for even flavor.

Cook's Tour

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI) —When the thermometer soars, let cool gelatine molds provide main dish fare for family or company.

Try tomato aspic terrace platter made from unflavored gelatine and involving little cookery —only the few minutes required to dissolve the gelatine and make the fillings.

For the aspic, you will need 3 envelopes unflavored gelatine; 2 cups cold water, divided; 3 cans (8 ounces each) of tomato sauce; 1 tablespoon prepared mustard; 1 tablespoon lemon juice; 1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce; 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish; ¼ teaspoon Tabasco; cottage cheese; salad greens; and cooked shrimp.

Sprinkle the gelatine over 1½ cups of cold water in a medium sized saucepan. Place over low heat. Stir constantly until the gelatine dissolves, or about 3 minutes.

Remove from heat. Stir in the remaining ½ cup of cold water and tomato sauce. Stir lemon juice into the mustard; add to the aspic mixture with worcestershire sauce, horseradish and Tabasco. Pour into a 5-cup ring mold.

Chill until firm. Unmold on a serving platter. Fill the center of the ring with cottage cheese. Garnish the platter with salad greens and cooked shrimp that has been marinated in well-seasoned French dressing. Yield, 6 servings.

To make the vegetable platter, you will need: 3 envelopes unflavored gelatine; 2 cups of cold water, divided; ½ cup sugar; 1 teaspoon salt; 1 cup of mayonnaise or salad dressing, 2 tablespoons of prepared mustard; 1-3 cup vinegar; 2 tablespoons lemon juice; 1½ cups of finely shredded cabbage; 1 cup of chopped celery; 1 cup of chopped green pepper; ½ cup of choped radishes; ¼ cu finely chopped onion; Swiss cheese slices, sliced ham and liverwurst and salad greens.

Sprinkle the gelatine over 1½ cups of water in a medium sized saucepan. Place over low heat. Stir constantly until the gelatine dissolves, 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in sugar and salt. Add the remaining ½ cup water. Combine mayonnaise and mustard in a medium bowl; gradually stir in vinegar and lemon juice. Blend into the gelatine mixture.

Chill until the mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Fold in the vegetables. Turn into a 6-cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on a large serving platter. Arrange cheese, ham and liverwurst around mold and serve with salad greens. Yield, 8 servings.

Unmold a gelatine salad this way. Dip the mold in warm, not hot, water to the depth of the gelatine. Loosen around the edge with the tip of a paring knife. Place the platter on top of the mold and turn it upside down. Shake, holding the platter tightly to the mold.

If the gelatine does not unmold rapidly, repeat the procedure.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT L. MURR

* * * * * *

Tanna Higbee, Robert Murr Wed in Garden Ceremony

A garden ceremony at the home of the bride's parents recently united in marriage Tanna LouAve Higbee and Robert L. Murr, the Rev. Earl Engle officiating. The Rostvit Sisters' Quartet sang, "Because," "My Cathedral," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo J. Higbee, 11 Maverick Rd. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roy Murr, 2431 N. Logan St.

The bride's gown, made by her mother, was of silk organza styled with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and pearl buttons up the back. Four tiers of scalloped, lace-edged ruffles trimmed the skirt which terminated in a chapel train. A tiara of sequins and pearls held her fingertip veil and she carried an orchid and pink sweetheart roses on a pearl-inlaid Bible.

DeNita Van Diest was maid of honor. Her lavender silk organza dress was street length and she wore white satin pumps, white gloves and a pearl necklace. A comb of roses held her short veil and she carried a bouquet of majestic daisies.

Sandra Higbee and Connie Irons were bridesmaids. Their gowns were aqua and pink organza, respectively, and their bouquets were of majestic daisies in mixed colors.

Tom Murr was best man. Bill Murr, and Fred Murr were groomsmen. Dale Higbee and Stanley Dustrude served as ushers.

At the reception immediately following the ceremony, the bride's mother received the guests, in a two-tone beige lace dress. The bridegroom's mother chose a two piece suit dress of blue embroidered linen.

For her traveling outfit, the bride wore a lavender cotton knit three piece suit. The couple will reside at 2017 Van Buren St., Apt. 8, after a wedding trip to Loveland and Estes Park.

Guests attending from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Rutledge, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Higbee and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dayhoff, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Dustrude.

Go for Victory In Home War on Winged Things

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Snug as a bug in a rug" may be a cozy thought. Applied to your household carpeting, it conjures a frightful prospect—moths.

Happily, the beasts chomp and fill their tummies in the dark woof and warp of your broadloom.

The right time to route the pests is the minute you suspect your carpet is inhabited. Declare war also immediately after finding a moth hole in upholstered furniture or in clothes.

The best defense is the vacumm cleaner, says the Singer Floor Care Products Division, which recommends the following strategy:

—FOR RUGS: This battleground should first be cleaned of spots, grime and dust. Moths love dirty wool. After vacuuming and shampooing, use the cleaner to give the moths a lethal spray of moth-proofing mist. Spray both sides.

—FOR CLOTHES: Here the area of attack is much smaller. Dry clean the clothes and put them inside the closet. Then fill the de-mothing attachment of the vacuum cleaner with moth crystals and put it on the closet floor with the switch on. Close the door and seal it with newspaper wadding. Plug in the vacuum and let it run for four hours. Remove the cleaner and reseal the closet at once. Leave it closed for 72 hours to complete the job.

—FOR FURNITURE: Vacuum the furniture first. Then tape paper to the wooden surfaces. Use the vacuum cleaner to annihilate the enemy with moth-proofing mist. Let the field of battle dry before using.

Brucker-Schindler Vows Read in West Point Chapel

The marriage of Miss Nancy Ann Schindler and Lt. Willis Howard Brucker took place recently in the Chapel of the Most Holy Trinity at West Point, N.Y. Msgr. Joseph P. Moore performed the double ring ceremony against a background of white tapers and arrangements of white chrysanthemums and gladioli. Musical selections included the "Ave Maria" and the "Panis Angelicus."

The bride is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Andrew Richard Schindler, 1012 Saturn Dr., Colorado Springs. The bridegroom is the son of Brig. Gen. (Ret.) and Mrs. Wallace Hawn Brucker 3006 Taylor Ave., El Paso, Tex.

Escorted to the alter by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of silk organza over taffeta with a Bateau neckline, fitted bodice enhanced with alencon lace and long pointed sleeves. The full skirt flowed into a chapel train, with a bow at the waist in the back. Her bouffant silk illusion veil was was caught to an Alencon lace crown. She carried a cascading bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis.

Miss Jane Schindler, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. Matthew Hartnett, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Martha Dunn of Billerica, Mass., and Miss Nancy Winer of Peabody, Mass. All of the attendants were identically gowned in coral full length dresses of coral silk organza over taffeta. The dresses were fashioned with scooped necklines, fitted bodice with bell shaped skirts and three quarter length sleeves. Their headpieces were coral silk organza bows with silk illusion veils. They carried cascading bouquets of coral carnations and baby's breath.

Lt. Russell Pells was the best man and ushers were Lts. Richard G. Knight, Antonio R. Janairo, James R. McClure, Albert W. Temple, and Albert A. Caporaso, who also performed the arch of sabres. Michael Schindler, brother of the bride assisted in ushering.

The bride's mother chose a pink silk sheath with jacket and matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink tea roses. The bridegroom's mother selected a light blue lace sheath with matching accessories and she wore a white orchid corsage.

After a wedding trip to Yellowstone National Park and other points throughout the United States, the couple will reside in Germany where the bridegroom will be stationed.

The bride is a graduate of Chandler School for Women, Boston, and the groom graduated from the United States Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., in June.

Tarman-Wilson Ceremony Held In Rustic Chapel

Rustic Mountain Chapel, Pine Crest, was the scene of the recent marriage of Mrs. Louise Wilson of Holly and Claude Tarman Jr. of Bristol. The Rev. Russell Jones of Palmer Lake performed the ceremony in a setting of lilac and iris bouquets.

Mrs. Lee Clay of Bristol was her mother's matron of honor. Billy Wilson, son of the bride, was best man.

Mrs. Joseph Aronald of Monument accompanied Mrs. John Edgell as she sang, "The Indian Love Call" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bridal table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a three-tier cake made by the bride's mother. Mrs. Archie Shields of Lamar and Mrs. Tarman of LaJunta served the coffee and punch; Mrs. Melvin Vagher of Bristol served the cake.

Attending were relatives and friends of the couple from Holly, Bristol, Lamar, LaJunta, Palmer Lake, Monument and Colorado Springs.

If you have a round face, avoid a circular neckline, which will tend to make your face appear even rounder. This neckline makes a slim, long face appear softer and rounder.

Cookout Rules Snuff Out Harm to Family

By JAMES ALEXANDER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—It's cookout time in the typical backyard.

The chef's in a stew because the children are playing cowboy and Indian, the dog's barking, ants march toward the potato salad—and the fire won't get off to a proper start.

Put all the conditions together and you have the scene for a cookout casualty—a member of the family accidentally burned.

It happens dozens of times a week in backyards across the land. And when it does, according to health authorities, it's doubly tragic. The accidents are preventable.

Refresh your memory on the rules. Review the following cookout suggestions from the Ohio Department of Health.

—Don't use grills equipped with electric turning devices in rainy or extremely damp weather. This measure prevents shock or electrocution.

— Use accessories such as mittens, long-handled forks and spatulas to prevent a burning accident.

—Never use gasoline or kerosene to start fires. Commercial petroleum starters are satisfactory but avoid applying to charcoal directly from the can after you have attempted to start fire. If not completely out, the fire can follow starter fluid or fumes to the can and explode.

—Do not use a grill inside enclosures such as porches and garages since a lack of ventilation could result in carbon monoxide poisoning.

—Keep the children and dogs out of the way.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH R. KOZITZA

* * * * * *

Kenneth R. Kozitza Weds Miss Nancy Woodrum

Miss Nancy Jane Woodrum became the bride of Kenneth R. Kozitza at 9:30 a.m. June 27, at St. Mary's Catholic Church. The Rev. John F. Gibons, OMI, performed the ceremony, and Bill Lightner at the Organ played traditional selections. He also accompanied Sue Rodgers who sang "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus," and "On This Day." Baskets of pink, blue and white carnations flanked the altar.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Woodrum of 1118 W. Cucharras St., was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Kozitza of Mankato, Minn.

The bride's gown of white lustre satin was designed and made by Mrs. Woodrum. The floor length skirt featured a chapel train and a bow at the waistline trimmed the front of the gown. The bodice was styled with high neckline and long pointed sleeves. The veil of tulle was caught to a crown of white velvet and seed pearls and was made by the bride. She carried a handkerchief made by her aunt, Maxine Woodrum, and her flowers were red roses and white carnations, one of which she placed on the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

Barbara Wilson, sister of the bride was maid of honor; bridesmaid was Rosemary Woodrum, also a sister, and Elizabeth Kozitza, sister of the bridegroom was junior bridesmaid. All wore floor length gowns of aqua peau de soie, made by Mrs. Woodrum. The sleeves were short and the bodice featured a scoop neckline. Their crowns, styled like that of the bride, were in blue, and were made by the bride. Their flowers were blue-tipped carnations. Hair styles were by Nancy Suddarth.

Elizabeth Marsh as flower girl wore a floor length frock styled like the bride's gown, and Gregg Kozitza, brother of the bridegroom, was ring bearer, carrying the rings on a white satin pillow.

Thomas Kozitza attended his brother as best man and ushers were Dennis Kozitza, Louie Ullman, John Dauffenbach, Tony Ullman and James Wilson, brother of the bride. All of the men in the wedding party and the ring bearer wore black trousers, white dinner jackets and blue-tipped carnation boutonnieres.

A buffet luncheon was held at the Eagles Hall from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. The bride's mother, wearing a dress of aqua lace, received the guests. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of powder blue lace. Thier accessories were white and their corsages were of white carnations.

Darlene Gossage was in charge of the guest book and Carol Wacker assisted at the buffet. Tke buffet was prepared by Mrs. J. C. Ireland and Mrs. Alta Fontius, and Mrs. Maxine Woodrum, aunto of the bride, served the cake. The reception room was decorated with white crepe paper wedding bells and streamers, designed by Wayne Woodrum, cousin of the bride.

After a motor trip through the Black Hills, the couple will live in Mankato. The bride's going-away costume was a pink and orange floral silk with white accessories and her corsage was the center from her bridal bouquet.

The bride was graduated from St. Scholastica Academy, class of '62, Canon City, and from the Helen Key School of Cosmetology. Until her marriage she was employed by the Votre Beaute Salon.

The bridegroom was graduated from the Mankato High School and served with the U.S. Army at Ft. Carson until Dec. 1963. He is employed in Mankato by the Little Giant Co. and will also engage in farming.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kozitza, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kozitza, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Kozitza, Mr. and Mrs. David Prom and children, Dennis, Paul, Gregg and Elizabeth, Mrs. Agnes Ullman, Bernie, Louie and Tony Ullman, Marlene Anderson, John Dauffenbach, Jay Brown, all of Mankato; Roger Swanson of Russell, Minn.; Mrs. Mark Cummings and Sharon of Canon City; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Woodrum, Delbert, Wayne, Fred and James Woodrum, all of Fountain.

Garden Party Scheduled by Womans Club

The Women's Club of Colorado Springs will hold its summer garden party Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at the club house, 20 Mesa Rd.

Members and their guests are cordially invited.

Mrs. Fred Johnson, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. L. M. Whitmore, Miss Rosalie Brown, Mrs. Dorothy Anderson, Mrs. W. L. Schaforth.

Mrs. J. M. Dye and Mrs. D. J. Wallace will preside at the tea table.

Mary Towner, flutist, will present two selections: "Minuel and Dance of the Blessed Spirit," by Gluck, and "Andalouse," by Tessard.

Those who wish to stay and play cards are reminded to bring their own cards.

To make a kind of invisible ink, squeeze the juice from a lemon and put it in a small bottle. Let the youngsters dip a toothpick into it and write or draw on plain paper. When they place the paper near a lighted bulb, the writing will appear.

Linda Billingsley Becomes Bride of Pat Johnson

The First Presbyterian Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Linda Billingsley and Pat Johnson, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, June 12. The Rev. Spencer W. Marsh officiated. Candelabra and baskets of white gladioli and majestic daisies formed the background for the ceremony, and white taffeta bows marked the center aisle pews.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Lindsey F. Billingsley of 1416 N. Custer Ave. and the late Mr. Billingsley, was given in marriage by her brother, Carl B. Billingsley.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. Gabriel Johnson of 106 E. Las Vegas St. and the late Mrs. Johnson.

The bride's gown of white silk faille was made with elbow sleeves, boat neckline, and pleated skirt, with pique roses appliqued on the unpressed pleats on the front of the skirt. Her veil was elbow length and was appliqued with roses matching those on the skirt. Her flowers were gardenias with ivy.

Miss Sharon Fisher of Brighton was maid of honor, wearing a yellow linen sheath, with hat of marguerite daisies, and her flowers matched those of her hat.

Tim Dewell was best man, and ushers were Steve Sibson of Manitou Springs and Jack Schuttie from California, both classmates of the bridegroom at Princeton Theological Seminary.

Wearing a sheath of mauve crepe with embroidered lace bodice, the bride's mother received the guests at the reception which was held in the Centennial Room of the church. Her accessories matched her dress and her corsage was of white rosebuds. Assisting at the guest book was Miss Jan Chambon.

After a brief honeymoon through Colorado the couple is living temporarily at 420 E. Brookside. In September they will go to Redlands, Calif. where both will teach.

The bride, a '60 graduate of Palmer High School, was graduated in June of this year from the University of Colorado with a B.A. degree in speech and drama.

The bridegroom, a '58 graduate of Palmer High School received his BA degree at Central State College, Edmond, Okla., attended Princeton Theological Seminary and Colorado College.

Baber-Keeling Rites Held At Assembly of God Church

The recent marriage of Miss Martha Jane Keeling and Larry Lloyd Baber Jr. was solemnized in First Assembly of God Church, June 26, the Rev. Paul Wilson of Canon City officiating. Two baskets of white gladioli mixed with pink carnations and pink bows graced the altar. Mrs Wilson played nuptial selections and the bride sang, "I Love You Truly," to the bridegroom.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Ted W. Keeling, 2104 W. Pikes Peak Ave. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Baber, Nashville, Ark.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a two piece white lame suit with white accessories and a fingertip veil. Her single item of jewelry was a lavender heart pendant and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink hearts.

Mrs. Carolyn June Wehner Jr., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of powder blue chiffon with white accessories. Her bouquet was of pink and white carnations.

Clyde G. Wehner Jr. attended the bridegroom as best man. Groomsman was William Churchill of Shreveport, La., the bride's uncle.

A reception was held at the bride's grandparent's, Mr. and Mrs. Otho Caldwell. Pink and white decorations predominated throughout the house and the bride's table was centered with a three-layer cake. Assistants were Mrs. Joyce Churchill who served the punch; Mrs. Maxine Roberts cut the cake, and Miss Kathy Ann Ingalls attended the guest book.

The bride's mother received the guests, wearing a blue lace street length dress with matching jacket. Cherry red shoes and purse complemented her costume. The bridegroom's mother was unable to attend.

Following the reception, the couple left for a short trip to Denver and Greeley. The bride's traveling costume was a black suit with white straw accessories. The couple will reside at 1728 W. Pikes Peak Ave.

Out of town guests included Miss Linda Kay Weber of Canon City; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brake, Mrs. Bessie Brake, all of Denver; Mr. and Mrs. William Churchill of Shreveport, La.; Mrs. J. W. Caldwell, Silver Springs, Md.; the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Wilson, Canon City; Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Kastle, Monument.

The bride is a graduate of Palmer High School, '64. The bridegroom graduated from Evans High School, Evans, Colo.

Wehner-Keeling Ceremony Held in New Boston, Texas

The marriage of Miss Carolyn June Keeling and Clyde G. Wehner Jr. took place at 2:30 p.m. June 8 in the First Assembly of God Church at New Boston, Tex., the Rev. Boyce Green officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Keeling of 2104 W. Pikes Peak Ave. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde H. Wehner of Pensacola, Fla.

The bride's street length dress of white arnel was styled with wrist length sleeves, and her accessories were white. Her fingertip veil was attached to a cap of seed pearls, and her flowers were white carnations and pink roses, with removable corsage.

After a wedding trip through Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and to Pensacola, Fla., the couple lives at 2020 Mesa Rd., Colorado Springs.

The bride will resume her studies at Palmer High School in September. The bridegroom attended Pensacola Junior College at Pensacola, Fla., and is currently employed by the Central Uniform and Linen Supply Co.

Good for You

Cabbage is an excellent source of Vitamin C. One cup of cabbage cooked in a small amount of water, only until tender, yields the recommended daily amount of the vitamin needed. In contrast, this same amount cooked in a large amount of water for a long time yields little more than half the necessary daily amount.

Woolley-Kambic Ceremony Held in Pueblo Church

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kambic, Pueblo. The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Mildred Woolley, 745 E. Kiowa St., and Merle Woolley, Denver.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a traditional wedding gown fashioned with a controlled bell skirt, terminating in a chapel train. The bodice was trimmed with pearls, and a crown of lace and taffeta held her veil. She carried a white orchid, arranged with stephanotis and light blue streamers, on a prayer book.

A reception was held in the American Legion Hall, Blende. Assisting were Miss Irene Perechinsky at the punch bowl; Miss Emma Perechinsky served the cake; Miss Barbara Negomir attended the guest book; and Mrs. Rollin Harshbarger.

The bride's mother chose a light blue silk dress with matching shoes and purse, white hat and gloves. The bridegroom's mother wore an aqua suit with matching hat, beige purse and gloves.

After a motor trip through Colorado, the couple will reside at 1609½ S. Tejon St.

Guests from out of town were: Miss Emma Perechinsky, Denver; Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Harshbarger, Cripple Creek; Mrs. Jake Geist and Mrs. Bud Geist; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vaughan, Mrs. James Reid and Jimmie, all of Portsmouth, Va.; Irene Vaughan, Raton, N. M.; Mrs. Ruth Woolley, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robinson.

Air Defenders Seek Top Spot In Bond Race

Having climbed to the top military spot on the Air Force-wide Savings Bond program "Totem Pole," Air Defense Command airmen are now aiming for the optimum participation figure established by Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Curtis E. LeMay.

ADC's civilian employes have already exceeded the 50 per cent mark to the tune of 52.2 per cent. However, in the face of stiff competition from the employes of other commands, ADC Civilian personnel are listed number four Air Force-wide. As a result, the combined ADC rating is second over-all.

Being in second place, as far as ADC is concerned, is only the last natural stop before the top. Tabulations on the climb fall into obsolescence almost before they can be computed.

ADC's long climb to the top reads like a Horatio Alger story. In 1960 ADC's standing was literally rock bottom — 9 per cent — lowest in the Air Force The Command's confidence is based on such climbs as that registered from the end of the last quarter in 1963 to the end of the first quarter in 1964.

Dec. 31, 1963, saw ADC military men reach the top with an impressive 40 per cent mark which became old hat by virtue of a new 47.1 participation rate — only 2.9 per cent from the long sought goal.

Long-time leader in the ADC "bond" race, the 25th Air Division was dealt a surprise blow when the 30th Air Division jumped its participation 11.1 per cent to exceed the 25th's 72.7 per cent by 5.9 per cent. Civilian employees of the 28th Air Division are holding up their end by claiming top civilian laurels in the command with an outstanding 69.3 per cent.

Crash of Cash Leads Robber to Surrender

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The crash of cash as it fell to the floor so startled a would - be bank robber that he fled empty-handed, then turned himself in because he had attracted so much attention, police report.

Officers say Roger L. Anthony, 34, was booked on suspicion of robbery one hour after the incident occurred at a bank in West Los Angeles Friday.

Mary Downing, 52, a teller, said she was startled when a man handed her a note demanding money and dropped a tray of coins.

New Continental Army Chief Due Here Wednesday

Ft. Carson will welcome Gen. Hugh P. Harris, new commander of Continental Army Command, when he visits here next Wednesday and Thursday.

An honor guard ceremony will greet Gen. Harris at 3:25 p.m. Wednesday following his arrival from Peterson Field via helicopter. Gen Harris will meet commanders and staff officers prior to attending a reception in his honor at 6:30 p.m. at the Officers Club.

At 8 a.m. Thursday, he will address all officers and senior non - commissioned officers at the Palace Theatre, then proceed to the 1st Brigade for briefings.

A helicopter tour will be given Gen. Harris, covering all areas of the post and adjoining area. He will visit training sites and at the mountain climbing demonstratons in North Cheyenne Canon.

Gen. Harris will return for lunch at the Officers Club, then spend the afternoon touring the NORAD Combat Center in Cheyenne Mountain, Ent Air Force Base with its North American Air Defense headquarters Army and Air Force air defense headquarters, and the Air Force Academy. In the evening he will be guest of honor at an Association of the U.S. Army dinner in the Broadmoor Hotel.

Gen. Harris, an Alabaman, is a 1931 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy. He also attended the University of Tennessee, the Infantry School, Command and General Staff College and National War College.

He took command of CONARC in March following a tour as commander of Seventh Army in Germany.

Gen. Harris holds the Distinguished Service Medal, the Legion of Merit with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the Silver Star and the Army Commendation Medal.

New Japanese Cabinet Sworn Into Office

No major changes are expected in the foreign and domestic policies of Japan's sixth cabinet in four years.

NEW ASSISTANT—Brig. Gen. Milburn Neil Huston, right front, new assistant commander of the 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized), inspects the honor guard after the firing of a 11-gun salute by the 1st Howitzer Bn., 19th Artillery, during a ceremony held in his honor. Honor guard commander, Capt. James Sterling, 2nd Bn., 61st Infantry, and Brig. Gen. Charles B. Smith, left front, escort the new ADC.

Veteran of Europe, Korea Assistant 5th Commander

New assistant 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) commander, Brig. Gen. Milburn Neil Huston, was greeted by an honor guard ceremony, July 16, at Ft. Carson. Troops from the 3rd Bridgade formed the honor guard and the 1st Howitzer Battalion, 19th Artillery fired an 11-gun salute.

Gen. Huston landed on Omaha Beach in the Normandy Invasion 20 years ago with the leading assault waves of the 16th Infantry Regiment, 1st Infantry Division, while assigned to Headquarters Fifth Corps.

Six years later he was a battalion commander in the initial bitter action in North Korea, leading the 3rd Battalion, 15th Infantry, 3rd Infantry Division into Wonson in November 1950.

Gen. Huston, coming from the position of deputy commander of the Army Training Center at Ft. Leonard Wood, Missouri, will bring to his new command at Ft. Carson a distinguished career which earned him the Silver Star, the Legion of Merit with three Oak Leaf Clusters, the Bronze Star, the Air Medal, the Army Commendation Medal and the Chinese Order of Yun Hui.

He also wears the Combat Infantryman's Badge with Star, the War Department General Staff Device, the Department of Defense Identification Badge and battle stars of six active campaigns in three different theaters of war.

Gen. Huston was born Nov. 2, 1910, in Macom, Mo., and educated in Charleston and Louisiana, Mo. He was graduated in 1931 from Kemper Military School College. He received a degree in journalism and an ROTC commission as an infantry officer upon graduating from the University of Missouri in 1933.

Prior to the war he served with the 138th Infantry, 35th Division, Missouri National Guard, at Camp Ripley, Minn., Infantry Regiment, 2nd Armored Division.

He was graduated Dec. 7, 1941, date of the Pearl Harbor attack, from Command and General Staff College. Eleven years later he received a diploma from Army War College.

His wartime service included a tour with War Plans Division and Operations Division, War Department General Staff, from early 1942 to May 1944. He was on a special assignment with V Corps in England prior to the Normandy Invasion.

Late in 1944, he was assigned to the Special Plans Division, China Theater of Operations, at Chun-King, and remained in China until December 1945.

Then followed staff and command assignements in the War Department and at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, where, from 1947 to 1949, he took part in Operation Sand Stone, atomic tests on Eniwetok Atoll.

He served one tour as army member, Joint Strategic Plans Group, Office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, from 1952 to 1954.

Next he was given command of the 85th Infantry Regiment, 10th Infantry Division, then at Fort Riley. In this slot, he pioneered Operation Gyroscope, the Army's divisional rotational plan.

He commanded the 85th Rams in Bamberg, Germany, until selected to become deputy chief of staff for plans, operations and training of Seventh Army at Stuttgart.

From here, he went to Ft. Monroe to become chief of Army training at CONARC.

Promoted to brigadier general rank in July 18961, he was ordered to Korea as Eighth Army G3.

Since last August he has been deputy commander of the Army Training Center at Ft. Leonard Wood.

Four Corners Will Get New Plywood Factory

DOLORES, Colo. (AP)—A $4 million plywood factory is to be constructed between Cortez and Dolores in southwestern Colorado, an official of the Montezuma Plywood Co. reported Friday.

The plant is being financed by a $1,683,000 Area Redevelopment Administration loan and $265,000 in private funds, Dwight Wood, company president reported.

He said investors in the plant came from Montezuma County, Denver, Grand Junction, Durango and other Colorado communities. The factory, Wood, said, will be the only plywood plant in a 900-mile radius.

Rwanda in Africa has an area of 10,169 square miles and a popualtion of 2,700,000 natives.

Kenyatta Urges Drive Against South Africa

CAIRO (AP)—Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya led off an assault on South Africa at the African summit conference here proposing a central bureau to deal with an all-out offensive against its segregationist government.

Kenyatta and other leaders of the 34-nation Organization of African Unity (OAU) also assailed white rule in the Portuguese colonies.

Calling for "a meaningful ban on oil shipments to South Africa," Kenyatta said the situation in South Africa can lead to an explosion and proposed:

"I might be useful for the Organization of African Unity to consider setting up a bureau to deal with an all-out offensive against South Africa."

Following Kenyatta, Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa of Nigeria said Africa universally was supported boycotts and sanctions against South Africa. "But unless the rulers of this unfortunate land see reason, the African people will be forced to resort to other means. This would be tragic."

Denver Detective Gets Lafayette Police Post

LAFAYETTE, Colo. (AP) — Floyd C. Whipple a veteran Denver police detective, was named chief of the Lafayette Police Department, City Manager Robert Freson announced Friday.

Freson said Whipple was one of nine applicants for the job. The selection was made by Lafayettes city council.

Whipple, 55, has served with the Denver Police Department since 1937.

Whipple will fill a vacancy which was created June 18 when former Chief A. Anderson, 62, was reduced to the rank of patrolman.

Poland Shelves Truce Plan for Fighting in Laos

LONDON (UPI) — Communist Poland has quietly shelved a compromise plan for a truce arrangement in embattled Laos, diplomatic sources said today.

The Poles found themselves caught between conflicting policies of the Soviet Union and Communist China, the sources said.

Poland a member of the three-power International Control Commission (ICC) for Laos with India and Canada, suggested compromise last month.

It proposed a meeting in a neutral city to be attended by the Soviet Union and Great Britain as the co-chairmen of the Geneva conference, plus the three ICC members and the three factions which make up the moribund coalition government in Laos.

The plan omitted Red China and the United States in an apparent attempt to facilitate a get-together. The United States, agreed in principle. Red China sharply opposed the plan.

The Russians, who at first appeared agreeable, began to drag their feet when Peking vetoed the idea and insisted on nothing short of a full-dress 14 nation ministerial conference.

The Poles, caught between the big two feuding Communist powers, served notice they would modify their plan. But so far they have failed to do so publicly. And even the modified plan has failed to come off.

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

SAN FRANCISCO — This is our day to be cynical, nasty, mean and prejudiced just like the Goldwater delegates are, according to the Scranton people. We intend to grab this chance because we think millions of television viewers are with us — totally fed up with the dull, stupid and shoddy processes of this Republican National Convention.

Our peeve does not concern the definitely dramatic moments. What we are mad about is the way grown men, of both Goldwater and Scranton wings, tried to pull slick tricks in the so-called platform fight and deliberately bored their weary audience well into the wee hours of this morning.

There was a callousness about what they did, to our mind, was disgusting. On prime television time, instead of the lusty factional brawl that home TV sets were tuned for, the nation was fed the whole, deadly pap of the platform itself.

It took almost two hours for politicians who should have known better to get through nearly 10,000 words. And it might be mentioned that the honeyed tonsils of the readers, aware of the spotlight, tried to give the heavy phrases an oratorical significance. The cadences had a lovely lullaby effect.

Give the Goldwater people a black mark for inflicting that dilly on the convention and the people. We will try to explain the motives of Melvin Laird, platform committee chairman later, but first, let's examine the idiotic operations of the party's liberal fringe.

These characters, like Gov. Rockefeller, Gov. Romney, Christian Herter and Sen Jacob Javits, got up there on the podium, one by one. With utmost seriousness they spoke pieces that reminded us of the grim warning delivered in a Mother Goose rhyme — the one about "Cockey Locky, watch out, the heaven's are falling."

Who were they trying to convince? A tired, patient, captive audience. What delegate was influenced? Definetly, not one. They all had closed minds; they knew how they were going to vote on each proposed platform change.

This no reflection on the delegates. Actually, it's praise for their adherence to principle and sagacity in general. They knew there was a purely political motive behind each Scranton-contrived appeal, no matter how florid the arguments.

Even the most local-yokel delegate had the sense to know that the Goldwater-supported civil rights plank pledged firm implementation and strong enforcement of the new law. Why then add a little superficial gilt? Who would be fooling whom? Especially as it was impossible to change Goldwater's stripes anyway.

And that time-consuming debate over inserting a plank condeming the John Birch Society specifically, and extremist organizations generally. That proposal had politics written all over it. Nobody on the convention floor was deceived about that.

The only extremist plank that would have made sense was one that Goldwater had been ready to accept — and Scranton obviously could not go for Barry's point: "Sure, I'll take an extremist plank, but in all fairness it should name the 1,300 organizations comprizing the far left and right as well as the Birchers."

NUCLEAR WEAPONS ISSUE A TOUCHY ONE

Incidentally, we sort of like the Scranton people. They tried so hard against overwhelming odds. But in our mind their shoddiest platform rewriting effort was the injection of the delicate nuclear weapons issue. This was one helluvan issue to throw up for grabs before delgates to a political convention.

Yet there it was tossed out, with former Secretary of State Herter speaking out most solemnly about how the convention must formally affirm the present law giving the President alone the push-button authority to use nuclear weapons. Defeat of that proposed plank was certain.

Here in America we know that this delegate response was meaningless. But in foreign capitals, already acting scared to death about Goldwater's ascendancy, the convention's action smacked of a stand in favor of turning control of nuclear weapons over to the military. It is too bad that foreigners seem unable to catch on to the way American politics is played.

And, by the way, we always thought it was "shoot-from-the hip Barry," not the military, that the anti-Goldwater forces professed to be afraid of.

It was a purely political gamble, and in our book any effort to play convention politics with the nation's nuclear power is a poor way to try to influence delegates.

GOLDWATER FOES CAUGHT BY SURPRISE

To get back to our peeve about subjecting the country to that boring reading of the platform. This was a maneuver by the big boys in control for Goldwater. It caught the opposition by surprise.

Rep. John V. Lindsay (N.Y.) charged it was a fillibuster move. It did delay consideration of the Scranton amendments, but Scranton's cause was shot and everybody knew it. So what price filibuster?

On top of that, it is probable that platform committee chairman Laird was mighty proud of the platform. And he knows that not one voter in ten thousand ever reads a party's statement of where it stands.

Figuring also in the platform reading decision was the fact that it would be better to delay the party ruckus until the eastern half of the nation had gone to sleep. This was deemed wise because at that time, Henry Cabot Lodge was promising new and surprising bombshells, which if detonated, could do less damage to Goldwater if prime TV time was long past.

Of course, there were no such bombshells, but who could tell?

Dunbar Will Not Challenge New Court Dispute

DENVER (AP) — Colorado Atty. Gen. Duke Dunbar says he plans to let go unchallenged any possible jurisdictional dispute between the Colorado Supreme Court and a three-judge federal court in Denver.

The Colorado Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional Friday a section of the state's new legislative apportionment law which divides countries into districts for the election of senators and representatives.

Dunbar had fought any attempt by the state high court to rule in the case. He even tried unsuccessfully to obtain a federal court injunction to prevent the state court from acting.

Last Tuesday when the state court heard oral arguments in the case Dunbar was taken to task for trying to keep the state court out of the case.

The three-judge federal court had earlier ruled that the Colorado apportionment law—as enacted by the recent special session of the legislature—was satisfactory, and that the November election should be held under its provisions.

The Colorado Supreme Court in its ruling Friday skirted any possible entanglement with the federal court. The state high court ruled that while the new law violates the state constitution, an election is imminent and the court's decision ruling the act invalid would not take effect until after the 1965 legislature meets next January.

Dunbar said that any possible appeal on the districting ruling by the high state court would be made after Gov. John Love returns to Colorado. The governor has been attending the Republican National Convention at San Francisco.

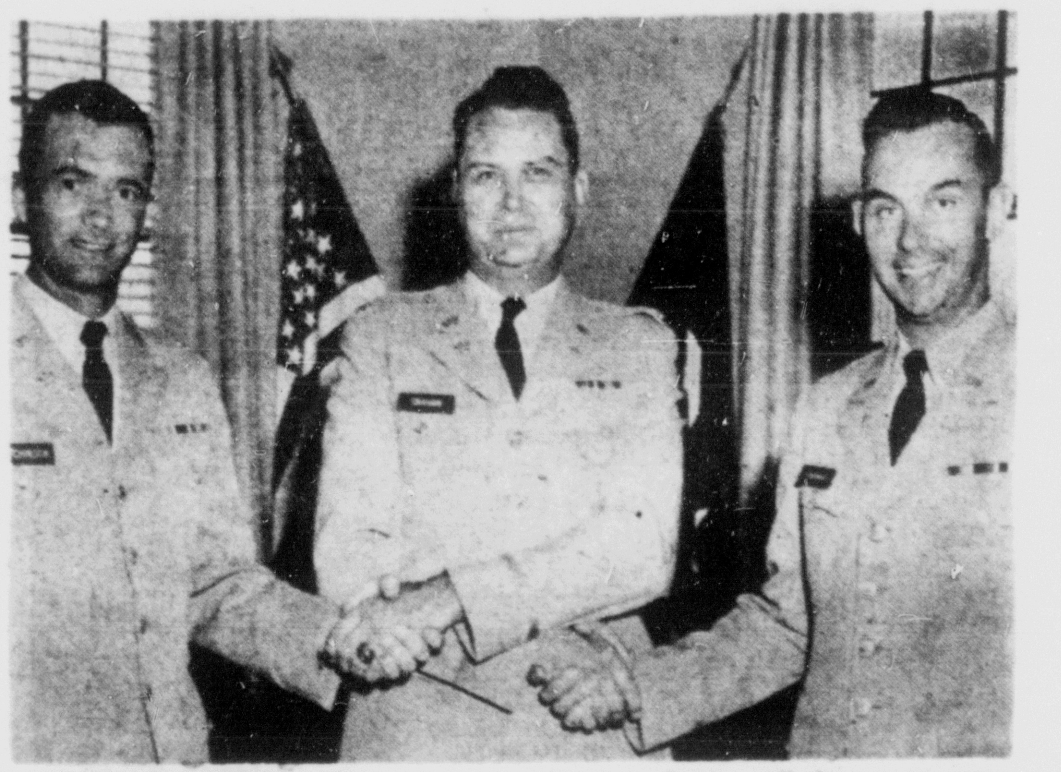
Dunbar said there might still be a possibility that the Colorado Supreme Court ruling could be appealed to the federal courts. He said that in general a state supreme court is the final authority in matters pertaining to the state constitution.

But Dunbar added that in cases when a federal court acts first on a state law matter it is possible that the federal court could make the ultimate ruling. "Now the question is whether the federal court had decided the matter first," he said, adding, "but there's an argument there, too."

Dunbar also expressed relief after the State Supreme Court ruled Friday. "What I'm interested in right now," he said, "is the fact that the Colorado Supreme Court is not interfering in any way with the election this fall which is held pursuant to the decree of the three - judge federal district court."

The State Supreme Court voted 6-1 to declare the districting provision invalid. Justice O. Otto Moore dissented.

On the decision to hold the November election under the invalid law, Justice Frank Hall dissented.



THREE PROMOTED — Three former captains of Army Air Defense Command headquarters in Colorado Springs wear the gold leaves of major after receiving their promotion to that rank. The new majors are (left to right) Cary B. Hutchinson Jr., office of the secretary of the general staff, and Harl G. Graham and Arthur H. Ackerman, both of the G-3 (Plans, Operations, and Training) Section. All three were members of the 1953 graduating class of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. Their promotion to first lieutenant came on the same day in December, 1954. In August, 1959, only four days separated their advance to captain. Now, again on the same day, all three received their promotion to major.

Medical Officer Realizes Great American Dream

"I have truly experienced the great American dream. I came to the United States as an immigrant with $30 in my pocket, and the Army gave me the opportunity to get an education that I couln't ever had afforded in Europe."

As unoriginal and trite as this may sound, it was spoken by a very sincere member of the United States Army Medical Specialist Corps at Ft. Carson.

Born in Berlin in 1933, she fled in 1939 with her family for Burma. Three years later they were routed by the Japanese and spent six years in India.

Her dad was an engineer. Before they found peace, the Webers had lost all their possessions three times.

She attended finishing school in Switzerland and was graduated from high school in London in 1950.

From 1951 to 1954, Lt. Weber was a language student at the University of Copenhagen. For the next two years her home base was Dusseldorf, Germany, where she was an airline hostess for Air India International.

In June 1956, Lt. Weber came to America, joined the Women Army Corps five months later, and was trained as a medical lab technician. She was stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco for two years and attended classes four nights a week.

When she left the Women Army Corps three years later, she had worked her way up to sergeant.

Next she attended San Francisco State College and was graduated with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Social Welfare in June 1960 and soon thereafter became an American citizen.

In 1961, Lt. Weber went to Europe to study social welfare institutions, and on her return in October worked in Stockton, Calif., as a social worker.

Still not satisfied with her education and her work, she returned to San Francisco State College to study sciences, finally deciding on physical therapy.

Accepted by the Army and commissioned, she attended Army Physical Therapy School at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas, was graduated from Letterman General Hospital last November and sat for her state board examinations.

Lt. Weber was assigned to Ft. Carson and the physical therapy section in December, 1963.

She will leave Ft. Carson Monday, for Norfolk, Va., and the Norfolk Public Health Hospital. There she will be commissioned in public health with the Navy rank of lieutenant, equal to that of an Army captain. Her specialty will continue to be physical therapy.

State Educator On Special Duty At Ft. Carson

A Colorado educator on special duty from The Pentagon with the Omaha District area engineer's outpost at Ft. Carson is Lt. Col. Edward J. Kleckner.

This professor of industrial management at Colorado State University, Fort Collins, has a permanent Reserve officer assignment with the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics, Department of the Army, Washington D. C. He works with the construction division there on most of his two week active duty tours.

Col. Kleckner was directed in 1964 to work with the area engineer office at Carson observing construction by North American Air Defense Command in Cheyenne Mountain and the projects underway at Ft. Carson.

He will take leave from his academic position next school year to attend the Army War College, Carlisle Barracks, Pa.

The reserve offices is a veteran of World War II combat with the 63d Infantry Division in Europe who was recalled to duty for the Korean war. He served in Korea with construction engineers.

The colonel is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University, University Park, and was business manager of the Denver Water Board before joining the CSU faculty in 1960.

He lives at 340 Stuart, Fort Collins.

Products, Ideas Unsold Unless Put in Marketplace

By SAM CAMPBELL

The Socialistcrats who conduct raiding parties on business enterprise through such agencies as the Public Utilities Commission, the Federal Communications Commission, the Securities Exchange Commission, the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Labor Commission, the Real Estate Commission, the Fair Employment Practices Commission and other disguises understand this psychological tendency very well.

They therefore endeavor to robe their attacks in such trappings as to make them appeal to the self interest of the citizen.

By keeping up a torent of publicity, the Socialistcrats have managed not only to stay in power but also to persuade many persons that their empires ought to be extended.

The question is, what can the businessman do to protect himself against these incessant raids and still have time to serve his customers?

The first part of the answer to that question is that the businessman should recognize the fact that self interest is the starting point of human motivation.

To understand the full weight of that fact, reflect for a moment on the recent California PUC ruling that cut the telephone company's rates and confiscated past earnings.

What was the response of the company?

Well, the company came right back with a statement to the effect that its rate ought not to be cut.

That response left the individual telephone subscriber with a choice — (a) a telephone rate that was higher, versus (b) a telephone rate that was lower. Obviously, the customer in this case — looking at the matter from his own point of view — is going to align himself with the lower rate and hence with the PUC.

Now isn't it strange that a giant company capable of selling services and service-related programs on a massive scale would offer its own customers such an unattractive set of alternatives (from the telephone company's point of view)?

The second part of the answer to the question as to how the businessman can defend himself against Socialistcrat inroads concerns the kind of alternative that the businessman should offer.

Briefly, his response should have three qualities: (a) it should appeal to the self-interest of the subscriber or customer; (b) it should be reasonable and feasible; (c) it should give the Socialistcrats something to lose.

When business enterprises do begin to submit practicable ideas of their own, it is reasonable to suppose that the buyer's choices will cease to be so onesidely in favor of the Socialistcrats as at the present time.

Water Still Too High

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The cost of desalting water has been cut by about 70 per cent, but it is still too high for irrigation use, U.N. experts say.

A year-long survey in 43 countries and territories showed that economical conversion of salt water to fresh water is still a long way off.

Pony Express Monument Will Be Dedicated Friday

One of the most exciting and romantic chapters in American history was the settling of the Old West. The struggles and hardships encountered by the fearlessly bold pioneers who endured all obstacles to open this great expanse of our country is typified by the Pony Express.

On Friday, a Pony Express Centennial Monument will be dedicated in front of the El Pomar Carriage House Museum. The 100th Anniversary of the Pony Express was celebrated in 1960, during the time of the Colorado Centennial, with the re-running of the famous mail service from St. Joseph, Mo. to San Francisco.

A plaque commemorating the Pony Express Centennial was presented to Thayer Tutt, president of The Broadmoor Hotel, in recognition of his services as director at large for this event.

Recently, a monument upon which this plaque is secured was completed at the Carriage House Museum, which contains one of the most unique collections of early day transportation vehicles and pioneer guns and mementos and is a constant reminder of this exciting period in the history of the Old West.

A shooting exhibition will also be presented by Waddell F. Smith of San Rafael, Calif., in coordination with the dedication ceremony. Smith is the great grandson of Willim Bradford Waddell, one of the founders of the Pony Express firm of Russell, Majors and Waddell. Smith has a Pony Express Museum in his home which contains many priceless objects from this famous era. Among them are a Bible, one of 11 known to exist today, which Alexander Majors gave to everyone of his employes, and a letter to Smith's great grandfather that was sent by state and was postmarked June 19, 1860, at "Denver City, K.T.", Kansas Territory then extending to the Continental Divide in present Colorado.

Smith is an excellent marksman which is evident from the many trophies seen in his home. In 1956 he was second in the Grand Prix for live pigeons in Europe; in 1957, at Monaco, he won the European Championship in Olympic skeet; and in '58 he was a member of the U.S. team in the international competition in Moscow which is held every four years, alternating with the Olympics.

Attending the dedication and shooting exhibition at 9 a.m., Friday, will be members of the Centennial Commission, museum directors and curators from around the state, shooting club representatives, city officials and press. The public is also cordially invited to attend.

Poland was regarded as a leading world power from the 14th to 17th Centuries. Its history dates from 966.

64 Teachers, Administrators At CC Meeting

Sixty-four high school teachers and administrators from 28 states are attending a four-week summer institute in the humanities at Colorado College.

This marks the fourth consecutive year the institute, sponsored by the John Hay Fellows Program, has been held on the Colorado College campus. The sessions got under way July 2 and will continue through Aug. 1.

Three members of the Colorado College faculty and three visiting professors are teaching in the institute.

The three from Colorado College are Profs. Carlton Gamer, William Hochman and James Trissel.

Visiting professors are Alvin Kernan of Yale University, Robert MacMaster of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Orville Murphy of the State University of New York at Buffalo.

This year, the institute is under the direction of John Koontz, assistant superintendent in charge of junior and senior high schools in the District of Columbia. He is assisted by Robert Zach, chairman of the English department at Colorado State University.

The institute is designed to enable high school teachers and administrators to spend a month studying various areas of our cultural heritage with a view to enriching their teaching and to stimulate creative contributions to education.

Participants this year are reading Alexis de Tocqueville's "Democracy in America," William Faulkner's "Absalom, Absalom!," four works by Plato, and George Lefebvre's "The Coming of the French Revolution."

The John Hay Fellows Program also is sponsoring institutes at Williams College, Bennington College and the University of Oregon.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

To Offset Crime

We've been hearing some pretty dreadful things about New York City lately. Gotham is not only suffering from giantism, it is apparently suffering from waves of terror inspired by various types of gangster activities, including juvenile and professional delinquency, racial riots, sex offenses and the like. Of course these reports are invariably exaggerated. With millions of people packed into a few square miles, the vast majority of them live somewhat ordinary and placid lives.

However, one cannot shrug off the fact that instances of initiated violence are on the upsurge in New York. And the police and other legal law-enforcement people seem always to be too little or too late.

Thus we were heartened and encouraged when we learned that the Hasidic Jews have organized a private protection system for their own community which is doing the job. The Hasidic Jews, as you may know, comprise an ultra-orthodox sect. They are easily recognized by their traditional old-world garb of long black coats and wide-brimmed black hats. The men wear beards, often long and full.

The Crown Heights section of Brooklyn has been one of the centers for the Hasidic Jews in America. And it is in this section that trouble has emerged just as it has increased in other parts of metropolitan New York.

The Hasidic leaders are reluctant to admit it, but the major problem seems to come from adjacent Bedford-Stuyvesant, a section predominantly Negro, Religious and community leaders decided to organize the private protection after a number of men and women were beaten and mugged. Recently, Jewish children at a yeshiva near Crown Heights were attacked by a group of Negroes.

Rabbi Samuel Schrage, administrator of the United Lubavitcher Yeshivoth, states that the community has been in terror ever since the wife of a rabbi was dragged from her apartment at knifepoint only a short while ago. The assailant, a Negro, attempted rape. She resisted, suffered a gash on her hand, but finally drove him off. However, it took her a week to recover from shock and from the wound, and meanwhile the community has been throbbing in fear.

It was at this point, and after consultation with local enforcement authorities, that the Hasidic Jews decided to provide their own protection.

In the tradition of the Maccabees, some 120 volunteers have come forward to enlist in patrolling Crown Heights in radio-equipped patrol cars. There are four such vehicles, each one manned by six young men, all over 21 years of age. None of them is armed. But none of them is in the weakling category, either.

In case of trouble, the six young men pounce out and seek to overawe the troublemaker by sheer weight of numbers and well-organized cooperation. If that fails, a radio call to the "headquarters" office brings another squad car or the police. The headquarters is a drab storefront centrally located, having for equipment a desk, a few chairs and a large map of Crown Heights on the wall. Volunteers answer the telephone and a reserve patrol is always on hand.

The cars operate from 8 p.m. to 5 a.m. They make regular radio reports to headquarters on conditions in the street.

The number of volunteers in the patrol varies as the night progresses. Early in the morning the force shrinks to about four, as most of the volunteers decide to call it a day. There is always a reserve force on call, however, in the event of any requirement.

Non-Jewish volunteers, of whom 12 are whites and 8 Negroes, man the cars on Friday nights, the Jewish Sabbath.

Rabbi Schrage has some interesting things to say about this experiment. "We don't believe in the vigilante system in any society. We're simply aware of the situation and we're trying to do the best we can. The police know what we are doing. We didn't ask them if we could do it because we didn't expect them to sanction it."

Whether this is a return to a vigilante action or not, the fact is that the system is apparently working. Incidents of violence have been virtually eliminated since the patrolling began.

We see no reason why voluntary protection systems, patterned along this line or other lines that could be devised, would not be entirely practical.

The Informer

In the new anti-poverty war, it is beginning to appear that the first task of the government is to inform certain people that they are among the impoverished. Without this official notification, who is to know?

To Vote Is Not to Rule

Virginia DeCourcey is back with us again today. We think she does a wonderful job of letter writing for a teen-ager and we are always glad to have her views.

In today's contribution to this page, Miss DeCourcey is repeating one of the oldest fallacies we have in this country, the concept that "the people rule." We don't blame Miss DeCourcey for saying this. For this is precisely what most young people are taught in government school.

But the fact is that "the people" do not rule in this or any other country. The United States is a republic. The government is put together in three different ways. In some cases, the people are asked to vote directly on issues. This does not turn them into rulers, it turns them into voters.

And when they vote directly on issues as they do in a bond issue or a proposed charter amendment, or in any other similar way, they are acting as a democracy. Direct vote of the people on the issues is characteristic of a democracy.

This is one of the methods used in putting our government together.

A second method used is the "republican" way. This calls for the election of specialists called "representatives" who, once they have been chosen, act upon the issues. But again, the fact that the voters are called upon to select these specialists by majority vote does not turn the voters into rulers. On the contrary, it guarantees that they will be ruled, and specifically that they will be ruled by those selected.

The final method employed in setting up our government is through appointment or by simply hiring the personnel desired. This is by far the most prevalent method.

Occasionally we use democracy in a direct action at the polls.

With some regularity we select a limited number of representatives.

But by far and away the largest number of persons in government are simply hired.

Our Executive Department has more than two and a half million people in it right now, and except for a handful, they were all appointed or hired.

Nowhere in our Constitution does it specify that the people rule. On the contrary, it is specified that the Constitution will be the supreme law of the land and that each branch of the government, particularly the executive and legislative departments, will be the recipients of enormous power under the Constitution.

The illusion persists, and Miss DeCourcey is repeating it, that because a person has the opportunity of voting, this means that he is a ruler of his own country. We believe we know a method wherein the falsity of this assumption can be quickly established.

The ruler is the "sovereign," isn't he? That means, the ruler is really at the top in the country and may freely decide what he will or will not do. If the individual person cannot make such a decision and is rather in a position where others will make decisions for him, then it would follow that the person is not a ruler, but that he is ruled.

If you wish to check up on yourself to see if you really are a ruler in this country, pick up the telephone now and ask the operator to connect you with the Internal Revenue Service in Washington. When you get them on the phone, tell them that you are a ruler of this country, and because of your position you have decided that this year you will not pay your income tax. Let us know what happens. If the Internal Revenue Service confirms your belief that you can ignore the taxes and hence that it will obey your wishes since you are a ruler, we will give you front-page space in this newspaper.

Actually, to have a government at all, you have to have two kinds of people. You have to have those who will rule and you have to have those who are going to submit to rule.

But to confuse the issue, government school teachers for years have been telling their students that because they VOTE, this means that they RULE. To vote is one thing, but to rule is quite different. Even prisoners in jails can sometimes vote on matters that affect them within the jail. But this certainly cannot mean that they are the rulers of the jail they occupy.

We hope this clears the air for Miss DeCourcey.

And in response to your last question, Virginia, the Freedom School is an educational institution for adults (persons over sixteen) which offers short courses of instruction in the fields of economics, philosophy, ethics, history and political science. The school operates each summer from five to six months and is located near Palmer Lake. If you want specific information, the mailing address is Box 165, Colorado Springs.

An Old Fire Horse

By RUFUS L. PORTER

You might compare me to the proverbial old fire horse who, turned out to pasture, still whinnies and paws the earth in great eagerness to make another run every time he hears a fire alarm.

Having worked in the political fields for many years, although I was wise enough never to run for anything more than committee man or delegate, I still find it difficult to tear myself away from a national party convention which is being broadcast on TV. True, I have little use for television on other occasions, and I know that a political convention has neither rhyme nor reason. I am still sorely tempted to leave my den and typewriter to go and listen to the flowery speeches — I can hear them spouting, even in here, but I can't tell what they are saying.

I keep telling myself that it makes no difference, which, of course, is true. It has been quite a few years now since I "read myself out of the Republican party" on account of its wishy-washy stand on both domestic and foreign affairs; on account of its "me-tooism"; on account of its perennial chant of "what the Democrats are doing is okay, but we can do it better."

I gave up, perhaps not soon enough. But this year it begins to look as though the Republicans have finally decided to take a firm stand against socialism and ever bigger and bigger federal government. But it is my belief that they are at least 20 years too late. We are going to be stuck with big government from now on into the foreseeable future, simply because we let it grow so big. How things would have turned out had the Republicans offered the people a choice years ago, we can only conjecture.

My readers may object that I am not sticking to the "local scene," but national politics, since it now supervises and regulates and interferes with our daily lives to such a degree that we feel we are totally owned, body and soul, by Uncle Sam, certainly concerns each and every individual and is, therefore, local.

Excuse me, my wife just sent my granddaughter in to see if I wanted to see and hear Colorado Senator Peter Dominick talk against one of the liberal Republican amendments to the platform. Stayed to see the death of two of them. I believe the Republican platform for 1964 is an excellent document in most respects. But, as we all know, platforms have meant little in history to those who have been elected to high office while "running" on them. I voted for FDR in 1932 because of his "economy in government" platform — it still makes wonderful reading.

There must be some way out of the mess we are in, but I do not believe that politics will ever point the way to us. Politics (government) has destroyed every great nation in history, either through senseless wars, or by "doing something for the people," such as "free bread and circuses." We now give them free bread and a TV set. So much have we learned from history. Our circuses were put out of business by the unions.

They are now debating on whether or not the Republican party should declare that the Democratic Civil Wrongs bill recently passed is "constitutional." This amendment to the platform, if passed, it does not seem likely that it will be, will simply be more of the old Republican line of me-tooism in backing up the Democratic party. No wonder the Republicans have a lean and hungry look. For 30 years they have tried to out new deal the New Dealers. I'd better give up on this while I'm ahead. I don't want to read myself back into the party just because their platform sounds good.

Certainly, I like and admire a lot of politicians. Many of them are dedicated men who have sold themselves on the old malarkey that they are "giving their lives to the service of their country." They are also giving themselves fat boosts in salary at almost regular intervals. How a man who is living off the people and restricting, regulating and prohibiting them can believe that he is serving them is beyond my comprehension.

Sure, many of them are wealthy and do not need the "meagre pittance" which is their salary for "public service." Then, why do they keep on raising it? One man, Hoover, gave his salary back to the treasury and another man, Kennedy, gave his to some charitable organization; can you name another who served for free?

The founding fathers debated a long while before they granted salaries to Congressmen. One theory was that we would have better Congressmen, on the average, if men were chosen who did not need a stipend. They, presumably, would serve for the honor of it. Now they tell us that if we paid HIGHER salaries, we'd get a better type of men in office. I doubt this. I lean toward the other theory. We have raised the president's salary many times, and came up with a worse one every time.

The American Way

Let Each Man Step . . .

By HARRY BROWNE

"If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music which he hears, however measured or far away." — Henry David Thoreau

The above is more than a pleasant platitude. It is really the heart of the American way of life.

We know that no two people are exactly alike. The Creator has designed an infinite variety of human beings.

Because of this, happiness is relative. We each find satisfaction in different forms of achievement. Truth is relative, too — in the sense that what one man sees as an absolute truth may not be what another man, equally as thoughtful, may see.

Unfortunately, many people do not wish to recognize these differences. They believe that their own concepts of happiness and truth must apply to all. They assert that their own "divine knowledge" of truth must be enforced upon all.

So all of us are expected to live by the religious, political and economic standards of the "chosen few." History is filled with examples of the tyranny that results when people gain the political power to enforce their concepts. The inquisitions, heresy trials, thought control, absolute dictatorships, economic regulation, etc. — these are the result of one portion of the population forcing their beliefs, through the government, on all.

But can we afford to let each man listen "to the music which he hears"? Wouldn't this allow evil people to inflict their evil upon us? Don't we need to protect ourselves?

Yes, we do need to protect ourselves. The ideal society is one in which each person's property — including his life and liberty — are protected completely. Each person establishes his own "moral island," living by his own truths, his own understanding. With this, he is prepared to defend his own property, his own island, against those who would invade it by force.

Starting with this "moral-land," with this understanding of himself and what he believes, the individual can then venture forward to associate with those whose standards are compatible.

The closest the world has come to this concept was in the early days of the American Republic. The founding fathers wisely rejected the idea that people must be forced to live as the rulers saw fit. They left each man free to work out his own destiny, in his own self-interest — and the result was the highest degree of freedom and prosperity ever known. Freedom influenced people to be rational and "good" — a way that coercion could never have accomplished.

When we are depressed by the evil that exists in the world, we must resist the temptation to want to force people to change to suit us. Instead, we must work diligently to bring about a society in which no one has the political power to force his will upon others. Then the immutable laws of nature can work freely to lead us to higher standards of freedom and prosperity than we have ever known.

Let each man "step to the music which he hears." Let each of us understand ourselves, and live our lives according to the highest morality of which we can conceive. And let us establish the means of protecting ourselves against those who would enforce their wills upon us.

HOW IT ALL BEGAN

To the Editor:

This letter is in regard to government, why we need it, and how we can keep it from getting too powerful.

First of all, what is government? Government is simply a system of ruling for the people under it to follow. It may be a dictatorship, a monarchy, or a government ruled by the people. The system of government is old, it was first started when primitive man banded together to fight a common enemy. It grew. The chief of a primitive tribe had to be able to prove his supremacy. He had to be able to out-hunt, out-fight any other man in his tribe. If a better man was to show up, he would kill the old chief, sit on his throne, have his women and in short inherit his power. This practice continued until the class system began to develop. It was first started by the common people They began to look at their chief as a god.

Naturally the chief's son would also be a god, simply because his father was. This was the basic idea. Therefore, the chief had to no longer prove his supremacy to the people. The chief had an army and armies mean strength, so he could fight his enemies by using his armies. Of course, there was always the chance he might be overthrown by another chief, but what I am talking about is that he no longer had to prove to his people he was the best.

This continued through the dark ages until the renaissance. People began to think. They began to think about their rights as human beings. But it took several hundred more years before the people truly revolted.

The United States of America was the first country to be ruled by the people. Other countries soon followed suit, especially in South America. This was about the time of the great revolution of France. The days of the monarchy, or the Kings and Queens, was soon to be over. Today, half the world's people are free, half are not. We now have a new enemy, communism. And which will win, capitalism or communism? That depends totally on the people, whether they want to be independent and self-controlled or whether they want to be dependent and government-controlled.

Let us look deeper. Why was government necessary? In the very beginning government was not necessary. You see, the caveman at the very beginning was not interested in conquering his fellow man, he was only interested in how to survive. He did not care what other people were doing, he only cared about himself, his needs. As long as nobody else threatened him, he would be at peace. But soon the caveman realized that 10 men were stronger than one, himself. He began to think, "If we unite we could fight our enemies; better, we would become stronger." So, they united, a few families here and there which soon grew into communities. Now, we must turn to the fact that some men are leaders, some are followers. So, one inevitably became the leader of his people. You see, as communities grew, there was a need for government to protect the people from each other and themselves. There are always good men and bad men, but we are all basically corrupt, some more than others. There are always those who commit crimes. Man soon came to the reality that, "you must have laws." You must get rid of or punish the criminal otherwise he will continue stealing, murdering and in short preying on the weak. It's funny. Man started out fine, with laws and councils, but somewhere along the line he got side tracked. Why? Because he depended on the government to protect him. This is when government became corrupted. Only in the last century has government returned to its original purpose, to protect the individual rights of the people.

And now to the last question: How are we going to stop the government from becoming too strong? The answer can be put in one sentence: Be independent, have your own ideals, criticize your government and improve it, but most important of all DO NOT TOTALLY RELY ON YOUR GOVERNMENT. I think that deserves some exclamation points, so!!!

VIRGINIA DECOURCEY
122 E. Washington

P. S. Thank you for your letter. It was truthful and made sense. I think we all are tempted to hold up our government as flawless. This is the first step to socialism. We should not just praise our government, we should improve it. By the way, what is the "Freedom School?"

OUTLANDISH SALARIES

To the Editor:

There is no record in the world where any government or any business large or small, has submitted to such a thing as occurred in our Congress this past month in regard to congressmen voting a $7,500 increase in what were already inflated salaries. No country or business has been insulted in this manner and if there had been, the villians guilty of the theft would have been marshalled off to prison or the insane asylum for life or longer. Such an act in Russia would have meant death to all the polecats or proletariats whether guilty or not guilty.

Here in the U. S. A. we just think maybe the boys are hungry on account of Bobby Baker running away with all the graft in sight; but they need not worry, there will be other things turn up that they can get their hands into, that may be bigger and better.

It seems to me that the congressmen that voted against that awful raise should get together and refuse to accept more than the salary was when they were elected to the office. That is what they bargained for, and that is what they are entitled to, no more and no less.

Then they should pass a law that would make it impossible for such a grab to be made in the future. A bargain is a bargain, and if they agree to work for so much, they have no right to increase the salary during their term in office. Patriotism should prevent any salary increases, or any extra use of special bonuses which may be possible under the rules, such as postage and telephones on personal affairs; also trips for speeches for which they get well paid. In fact they should be honest with the government just as much or more than they would with an individual who was watching every move they made. It seems strange to have to preach honesty to a bunch of elected officials who have been elected to office, and put in charge of all the affairs of the state.

What an honor has been conferred upon them, how they should appreciate that honor, and never debase or lower or corrupt it.

Congressmen, we the people trusted you with all the wealth of this great nation of ours, we call upon you to deal honestly with us; if you do not, and it seems that our majority have not dealt fairly with us, we will vote you out of office in disgrace. Treason is not alone in the army and on the battlefield, but it is also in the halls of congress and in the highest echelons of government. There are plans abroad in our government that threaten the very existence of our nation. Disarmament, Communist U. N. foreign and that we cannot afford, spending billions for the moon trial show, the Supreme Court rulings that favor communism, and rulings that prevent officers from punishing criminals from assembling to agitate for the overthrow of the government, our President's great plan to increase the national debt for the abolishing of poverty, and the urban renewal, and increase of government businesses that always fail to pay out.

We need fewer employees in government. Stop that moon spending before we kill a lot of good men in the attempt. We need to stop Communists headed by Gus Hall from agitating and arousing the public for the overthrow of the government.

Congress should quit talking trivialities and face the real problems that confront us. Get us out of U. N. Make the attorney general enforce the laws now on the books before he tackles the new Civil Rights laws. How many communists registered and what did Bob do about it? Nothing.

Write our Congressmen and tell them to be honest and do their duty and repeal this pay raise before it starts in '65.

READING ROOM

To the Editor:

I want to voice my approval of the project Mrs. Jensen proposed in organizing a reading room for elderly people. I think it would be a project that any church with spiritual life would be glad to participate in, as well as any other religious movement. Instead of brooding over the past, they could have a variety of reading matter to choose from to feed their minds and souls, which is most important.

If Sister Jensen will pardon my implicity I want to suggest that the refreshments might be omitted except to those who come to spend the day. Too many people make their belly their God (Phil. Chapters 3-4).

GEM-MINERAL SHOW

To the Editor:

I wish to express my gratitude in behalf of the members of our Society for the fine news coverage given to our recent Gem and Mineral Show.

Your contribution of bringing to the public information on this event contributed greatly to the success of our show and served to enlighten the community on the educational, health and economic values of our hobby.

The enthusiasm, encouragement and guidance displayed by the members of your staff served as an inspiration to the members of our Society.

Thanking you again for your wonderful cooperation and we are all looking forward to future ventures and association with your fine organization.

PROPER CREDIT

To the Editor:

Colorado's Governor Love, in his seconding speech for Pennsylvania's Governor Scranton, pointed out how many thousands of unemployed persons had obtained jobs in the comparatively short time that he (Scranton) had been in office. This was listed as just one of the many accomplishments of Governor Scranton. From the political objective, and that was the prime purpose of the speech, the purpose was to give the credit to the Republican Party and Scranton.

Now, any student of the American free enterprise system knows that all the party or the men in the party can do is to create an atmosphere in which the successful operators of private enterprise can be free from the interferences of government controls and taxes. Controls, whether from government or government-approved organizations, that tell an employer who he must hire, how much he must pay and how much of the profits he can keep for himself, are not going to be very effective in making a man enthusiastic about expanding his operations.

The slightest indication of government to ease up on these restrictions, which in many circumstances are unbearable burdens, restores the employer's hope and immediately expansion occurs and many persons are given jobs.

The fact is that private enterprisers operating under the American dream of freedom have produced products and services that would be unbelievable to the men who established the nation. It naturally follows that given a free hand, without crippling restrictions, private enterprisers could almost overnight introduce the same methods of production in every backward or underprivileged nation in the world. We are constantly admonished by political leaders that America must furnish leadership for the free world. We can hardly expect to lead a single one of the so-called free nations to prosperity when we hamstring our own productive capacity by unnecessary controls upon the men who know how to operate in private enterprise.

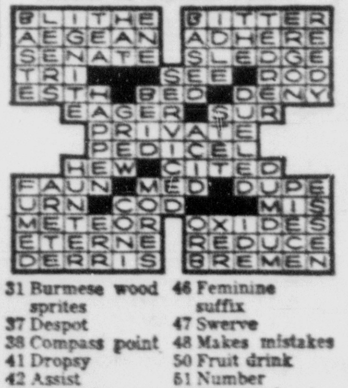
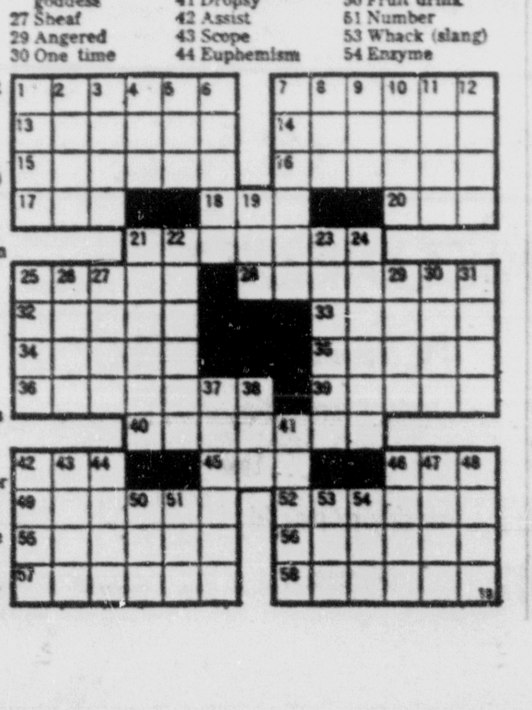
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Question Box

Question No. 546: "When I go into a cafe I feel cheap when I tip or don't tip, because tipping seems to me like throwing money to a beggar, not an honest working person. And if I do not tip, I know that the employe will pay for my aversion to tipping as their wages are based on what the tips will average. My question is, to tip or not to tip? Or maybe I should eat at home?"

Answer: This is a question each individual must determine for himself. This writer does not feel any qualms about not tipping where poor service is received, nor of tipping if he believes there is extra service provided.

All restaurant operators do not pay in the same way as others, considering tips as a part of the earnings of the employe.

If the questioner feels as he says, we would suggest he either not tip or eat at home.

If the practice of tipping were discontinued, we are quite sure employes would not work at the establishments where they were expected to get their pay from such gratuities. The employer then would have to pay salaries which would attract workers, and the result would be higher prices on the menu. The customer would be paying or the restaurant would not continue long in business.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

Money or Communism?

By FRED G. CLARK
and R. S. RIMANOCZY

At the New York World's Fair, there is, in the Hall of Free Enterprise, the pavilion of the American Economic Foundation, an automatic machine that, when buttons are pushed, cranks out printed answers (of about 30 words) to 120 economic questions.

Through this building, during the first 45 days of the Fair, came about a quarter of a million people from all walks of life, from every state, and from many foreign countries.

For 12 hours a day, 7 days a week, there is almost never a time when the push-buttons are not being pushed.

The relative popularity of the different questions gives you a chance to see if your curiosity matches that of the majority.

(After reading the short simple answer, many shake their head and say, in effect: "I'll be darned. I never thought of it that way before.")

Third is a group of 30 questions which have to be considered as a unit: "How Much Are Profits In (a particular) Industry?"

(People push the buttons relating to the industry in which they are personally concerned.)

The next five leaders fall into a natural group: What Is Marxism?, What Is Fabianism?, What Is Nazism?, What Is Socialism?, and What Is Fascism?

A real "sleeper" is Question No. 36, which was, at the time of preparation, voted "least likely to succeed" because it, supposedly, dealt with a "dead duck."

This question is "What Is The Gold Standard?"

Most people alive today never saw a gold coin, let alone own one.

The gold standard is almost never referred to in public print — or even in the economic classroom.

It is a tribute to the age-old magic of gold that this question stands in seventh place.

Had there been two question-and-answer machines they could both be kept busy during the rush hours.

The line is so long that many people asked: "Could we buy a copy of all these questions and answers?"

So persistent was this demand that a 35 cent booklet was printed for the eager customers.

Its fame has spread even to people who were not at the Fair, and they write in for copies.

The conclusion of these facts is unmistakable: the American people are intelligently curious about the economic facts that control their lives.

They do not think of this knowledge as "economics" but as everyday problems of living.

Yet it is the essence of economics.

Wheat Program Announcement Date Is Debated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration farm officials are debating whether to announce specific details of the 1965 wheat stabilization program now or wait until they get a better picture of the entire grain supply and market situation later in the year.

Normally, all details of wheat programs are announced well ahead of the planting season for winter wheat, which starts early in the fall.

But little is known now regarding the prospective supply of feed grains because it is too early to assess this year's crops of corn, barley, oat and sorghum grain.

The administration's new wheat program, which went into effect for the first time this year, puts this grain sharply into price competition with other grains for the first time in many years. The new program sharply reduced wheat price supports, a development which has brought wheat prices pretty well into line with corn and other feed grains.

The new program, however, by means of payments financed by taxes on processors and exporters and by government land diversion payments, supplements incomes of farmers who reduce wheat acreages.

This year's wheat support is $1.30 a bushel, farm basis. Supplementary payments are 47.5 cents a bushel on 90 per cent of the normal production of a cooperating farm's acreage allotments, and land diversion payments averaging about $6 an acre.

But there is a question in the minds of farm officials as to whether the wheat support for 1965 should be kept at this level or increased.

Certainly, officials do not want wheat to displace feed grains unduly. To prevent this, it might become advisable to put the 1965 support higher, with a corresponding reduction in the payments.

Should the Agriculture Department decide to wait a while to give details of the 1965 wheat program, it doubtless would announce that the combination of the support and payments would give participating farmers as much for wheat as this year.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture got its start more than 100 years ago when President Abraham Lincoln requested that Congress appropriate a modest sum for gathering and analyzing basic information from the farm.

PASTURE PASSE FOR COWS

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Picturesque as it is to see serene cows munching away in green pastures, pasture is becoming less and less important as a source of direct feed in modern farming, according to Prof. Sam Slack of the Department of Animal Husbandry at Cornell University.

One of the most noteworthy trends in dairy cattle feeding in the past ten years, Dr. Slack says, has been the shift from pasture to dry-lot feeding or supplemental feeding of roughages with pasture. He says that pasture furnishes less than 15 per cent of the food consumed by cows in Dairy Herd Improvement Association herds now as compared to 20 to 25 per cent a few years ago.

Flight Tests of Two Rockets Postponed

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has cancelled a proposed flight test of two rocket engines.

The agency said the scout rocket launching was postponed because of range difficulties.

Later the agency explained that ships and planes had been in the area where the first stage of the rocket was scheduled to land. This covers an area of about 45 miles from the launch site.

No new launch date was set immediately.

At the end of the 18th century, expectation of human life in North America and northwestern Europe was about 35 to 40 years of age.

Kentucky Chief Will Press for Civil Rights Rule

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Edward T. Breathitt will press Monday for enactment of a state public accommodations law despite the civil rights issue's political implications in this border state.

Breathitt, a Democrat, has summoned Kentucky's 138 legislators to an informal conference to poll them openly on whether they will pass a public accommodations bill if called into special session. Several legislators have denounced the conference.

After its defeat, the governor told integration leaders he would call the pulse-taking conference after the federal civil rights bill passed Congress.

Breathitt says a state law is needed for two reasons— the federal law permits states with civil rights machinery to solve their own problems, and it does not cover all business.

Playground News

By PENNY HOTCHKISS

The past week at the Colorado Springs area playgrounds was "H2O Week" and featured excursions to the city's swimming facilities and plaster of paris molds for crafts.

At Audubon School playground, the big events of the week were a trip to Prospect Lake on Wednesday and a watermelon feast, or Hawaiian Luau, on Friday. The watermelons were purchased with some of the money the children made at last week's carnival. On Thursday morning, Doris Colzani, the roving supervisor, visited the playground and helped the children make hanging gardens.

On Thursday, 45 children from Bonnyville Park went swimming at Prospect Lake. The morning was occupied by splashing around and building sand castles. After noon, they ate lunch in the rain and played games in the picnic area at Prospect. Wednesday morning, the park played softball with Pike School and lost, for the first time in five games, 18-7.

Bott Park also took a trip to Prospect Lake for a swimming party this week. Then they had a Hawaiian luau. Everyone came in gaily colored leis, ate watermelon, and ran through the sprinkers.

Bristol School playground, after a week of plaster of paris work, combined with Steele School for an all-day trip to Prospect Lake for swimming and a picnic lunch.

The highlight of the week at Buena Vista School playground was a watermelon feast, held on Wednesday. Six big watermelons were purchased from carnival profits and eaten within about 30 minutes. Then a beauty contest was held, 6-year-old Barbara Babine being the winner.

The week at Conejos Park wa begun with a watermelon eating contest. The winners were, Mike Wright, first place, Victor Wright, second place, and Debbie Trujillo, third place. Each of the winners won a free craft from plaster of paris. On Thursday, the playground went swimming at Monument Pool.

Garfield School playground held a sprinkler party and watermelon feast on Friday, using carnival profits to purchase the watermelons. A beauty contest was also held, with Dora Ann Reback winning first place, Patsy McGee second and Charlene Brown third.

The children at Howbert School playground also went swimming this week. On Tuesday, they went to Monument Pool and then had a Hawaiian luau, featuring ice cream, cake, and punch. The refreshments were paid for by carnival profits.

Jefferson School playground found itself practically waterlogged by the end of the week. Besides a sprinkler party on the school playground, they also had an all-day excursion to Prospect Lake, complete with a picnic and a watermelon feast.

The children at John Adams School playground made Hawaiian leis this week and wore them swimming on Thursday. Earlier in the week, they had a contest for the nicest plaster molds. Those who did the best job of painting their molds were Shirley, Clif, and Karen Stark. Shirley Stark and Pam Warrell are the junior leaders at John Adams.

At John Adams the week before, a coloring contest was held. First place winner was Suzie Tinius, second place was Shirley Stark, and third was Karen Stark. On Thursday, they went to the carnival at Boulder Park, and on Friday, a bike hike was taken to the Broadmoor, where a grand tour was made.

Longfellow School playground took a trip to Prospect Lake on Tuesday. A sand castle contest was held, with Steve Rodgers and David Teeter the winners. Then on Friday, a Hawaiian luau was held, featuring Kathy Hesse, Lori Stockton, and Janice Mertens in a hula dance.

Queen Palmer took a trip to Prospect Lake on Tuesday for an afternoon of swimming. During the rest of the week, they worked with different plaster of paris crafts.

The main event of the week at Steele School playground was the all-day trip to Prospect Lake with Bristol School. Doris Colzani visited the playground on Wednesday and helped with plaster of paris.

Thorndale Park played two softball games this week, one with Will Rogers and one with Whittier. Thorndale beat Whittier 16-15 but lost to Will Rogers 6-4. There will be a rematch with Will Rogers, as only four innings were played. On Tuesday, 50 children from Thorndale went swimming at Monument Valley Pool, and on Wednesday, a sprinkler party and watermelon feast were held.

Besides Whittier's softball ga with Thorndale, the week included plaster of paris crafts and a sprinkler party at 26th Street Park. Watermelon was purchased from carnival profits, and even though rain substituted for the sprinklers, everyone had a good time.

The highlight of the week at Will Rogers School was the trip to Monument Valley Pool on Wednesday. The children spent the rest of the week on plaster of paris crafts and in softball games. Will Rogers participated in three games this week, winning two and losing one.

Next week at the playgrounds will be "Around the World Week."

CU Extension Offers Course In Engineering

A new fall semester course on "Creative Engineering — Technique of Invention" will be offered in the Colorado Springs region by the University of Colorado Extension Division.

Hans von Hortenau, the instructor, is an inventor and a diploma engineer of the Technological University of Karlsruhe. After intensive study on the methodology of inventions, von Hortenau first offered his course at the Institute of Technology of Stockholm in Sweeden. He introduced the course at the University of Colorado in the spring of 1960.

The scientific and practical course is designed to help students create and invent. The course covers the phychology of invention, a survey of the most important questions concerning inventions and inventors, idea production and formulation, documentation and elaboration as well as protection by patent laws and how to commercialize an invention.

Also included is the historical development of several great inventions such as computers, atomic energy, missiles, and air-space craft. The course is designed for scientists, research people, air force personnel, engineers and everyone who has an interest in invention.

Further details regarding the course including registration dates will be announced at a later date by the C.U. offices, 1105 N. Nevada Ave.

German Commies Denounce U.S. Military Patrols

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist East Germany charged Friday that American military patrols have endangered life and property six times since May 12 in traffic incidents in East Berlin.

The charge was made in a telegram from the East German commandant of East Berlin, Maj. Gen. Helmut Poppe, to Maj. Gen. James H. Polk, American commandant of Berlin.

The United States, which does not recognize East Germany or Poppe's status, said it would pay no attention to the protest. A spokesman said the charges were not true.

Poppe charged that U.S. military vehicles have caused danger by speeding, illegal parking, and entering forbidden border areas. He demanded that Polk take immediate measures to halt these incidents.

The United States Britain, and France regularly send military patrols into East Berlin to emphasize the Western view that Berlin remains a four-power city, open in all its sectors to the three Western allies and Russia. The construction of the Communist wall three years ago has not changed this view.

The West still holds the Soviets responsible for upholding four-power agreements in Berlin, although the Russians abolished their East Berlin headquarters soon after the wall was built and announced the appointment of Poppe.

Poppe blamed the Americans for the incident last Sunday in which an east Berlin policeman slapped a member of a U.S. patrol. He said the U.S. patrol car tried to run down the policeman who he halted in a forbidden zone near the border.

The United States said the attack was unprovoked and protested it to the Soviet Union both in Berlin and Washington.

HEAD-COVERING DREAM

LOUISVILLE (AP) — During a recent trip to the city, Jack Herbert of Chicago decided to try his luck at Churchill Downs.

Before leaving for the race track, Herbert checked the newspapers but couldn't find a horse named Hat. "I did spot one named Captain, however, CAPtain. I figured that was close enough."

The horse didn't win. "The race went to a 20-to-1 shot with the ridiculous name of Sombrero."

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two prime indicators of business activity —housing starts and factory orders of durable goods—continued strong last month, the Commerce Department reported Friday.

The number of housing units started during June rose 5 per cent over May while new orders received by durable goods manufacturers during June declined by one per cent from May. But the seasonally adjusted total was 12 per cent higher than last June.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A State Department spokesman said Friday that the intentions of Communist forces in the Plaine des Jarres area of Laos still are unclear.

Neutralist troops of the U.S.-backed regime of Prince Souvanna Phouma received heavy shelling early Friday, apparently from Communist tanks, the spokesman said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of 18 countries will meet here Tuesday to discuss an international venture to establish a global system of satellite communications.

Under the proposal, the U.S. Communications Satellite Corp., a privately-operated, government-regulated firm, will serve as manager of the system in behalf of all 18 participants.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO Communications Workers union has called for pay raises for some 750,000 telephone workers over wage guidelines backed by the Johnson administration.

Ten Cuban Refugees May Get U.S. Asylum

MIAMI (UPI) — Authorities prepared today to grant asylum to 10 Cuban refugees — three of them hospitalized with deep stab wounds — who drifted ashore in the Florida Keys in a bloody but successful escape from the Fidel Castro regime. One man in the original 11-member refugee group was fatally stabbed and fell overboard during the violent knife and fist battle with a long Castro militiaman guarding their captured 22-salboat, according to the exiles.

Then the militiaman was overpowered and hurled into the sea to drown after knifing three of the other unarmed refugees during the battle at sea last Wednesday night off the northern coast of Las Villas Province.

Valerio Mota, a 38-year-old farm worker, gave details of their escape. Suffering a deeply cut and infected forearm, he was the least badly injured of the wounded trio.

The other two, Capt. Felipe Torres and Franklin Jaliep, had multiple knife wounds and were reported in "serious" condition following emergency surgery at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

EIGHT REPORTED DEAD

TOKYO (UPI) — At least eight persons were reported dead Saturday in a series of torrential rains which have lashed southwestern Japan. Two persons were killed in a landslide in Toyana prefecture.

Barry's Success Is Credited to His Organization

By ROB WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Barry Goldwater put a motto on the wall behind his Senate desk. It read, "Noli permittere illegitimi carborundum."

Roughly translated, that means—"Don't let the so-and-so grind you down."

Relentlessly he preached his conservative views. By 1960, his eighth year of his Senate service, Goldwater's name was put up in the Republican National Convention for the presidential nomination.

He withdrew in favor of Richard Nixon but left behind his reminder: "We've had our chance, and I think the conservatives have made a splendid showing at this convention. We've fought our battle. Let's, if we want to, take this party back—and I think we can some day."

The conservatives wanted to, and they did, just four years later, with Goldwater as their leader.

How did a man from a small Western state capture the nomination? First, he surrounded himself with a group of amateur politicians, novices but men completely dedicated to the senator.

They became known as the Arizona Mafia.

There were 56-year-old Denison Kitchel, a Phoenix corporator; Dean Burch, 36-year-old Tucson lawyer, as deputy director; F. Clifton White, 45, of New York, co-director of field operations; Richard Kleindienst, 40, another Phoenix lawyer, as field director; Karl Hess, 41-year-old speech writer; Edward McCabe, 45, of Washington, a lawyer who was administrative assistant to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower as Goldwater's director of research; Edward C. Nellor and Tony Smith, who shared the press secretary duties.

After Goldwater's weak showing in this year's New Hampshire primary, his staff was beefed up and took on more responsibility in the speech writing and news coverage fields.

Firefly Sets Become Popular Collector Goal

By LYNN POOLE
The Johns Hopkins University

For fifteen years, Dr. William D. McElroy of The Johns Hopkins University has been collecting fireflies each summer to use in his research on bioluminescence. His annual collections, provided primarily by groups of firefly - catching youngsters in Baltimore, have totaled around a half million of the glowing insects each year.

Using these fireflies, Dr. McElroy and his associates in the Hopkins biology department have made great strides in understanding how fireflies produce their light. They have been able to establish the main steps in the process, measure its efficiency and identity the principal substances.

They have isolated one of the two principal substances, luciferin, in their laboratory. In corroboration with Dr. Emil White of the Hopkins Chemistry department, Dr. McElroy has established its chemical structure and checked the results by synthesizing the compound and showing that under the appropriate conditions, it luminesces. They have also isolated luciferase, the other major ingredient in firefly light.

But he has not yet reached the point where he can duplicate firefly light in his laboratory without using fireflies themselves. He continues to need fireflies for his research, now in even larger quantities than before.

Switching into high gear, the chairman of the Hopkins biology department has gone into the wholesale firefly market. His 1964 goal is a stunning 10,000,000. This means he will no longer accept fireflies by the dozen or jarful, but only in lots of 10,000 o more.

Dr. McElroy has written to several hundred persons around the country and has firefly - catching brigades sending him thousands of the insects from all parts of the nation. Brigade leaders are paid 50 cents for every one hundred fireflies they send to Baltimore.

In spite of the seemingly tough odds against such a big season, Dr. McElroy is optimistic. He points out that the early wet spring this year should help in making it a banner year for fireflies in most parts of the country. He adds, however, that a severe drought will certainly hurt collections, as fireflies prefer a warm, moist climate.

Dr. McElroy has stringent rules for his firefly battalions. They should use a clean coffee or similar can, keep fireflies in a deep freeze until 10,000 are collected, then pack them in dry ice for air shipment collect.

Baltimore youngsters who were once the mainstay for the Hopkins firefly collections, have not been completely neglected. With thousands of fireflies arriving daily at the University's laboratories, many youngsters are working there to remove the tails from the fireflies, a job necessary before they can be used in research.

Although there are many possible practical applications for firefly light once it is possible to produce it in the laboratory, Dr. McElroy has no specific application in mind. He looks upon his research as a venture in pure research, and seeks primarily to solve the riddle of the winking, blinking fireflies that has aroused man's curiosity for centuries.

Civil Rights Test Slated Monday In Atlanta, Ga.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A three-judge federal court takes up again Monday a charge that an Atlanta restaurant owner has violated the new Civil Rights Act.

At the same time, the court ponders a motel owner's request that the government be prohibited from enforcing the act.

The court heard charges and counter-charges in the cases Friday in the first legal tests of the act.

In one case, brought by three Negroes and joined in by the government against the Atlanta restaurant owner, Lester Maddox, attorneys presented 19 witnesses in an attempt to prove that Maddox is guilty of violating the act.

In the other case, the court took under advisement the request of an Atlanta motel owner, Moreton Rolleston, that an injunction be issued prohibiting the government from enforcing the new law.

The judges promised a ruling soon on Rolleston's request for an injunction barring enforcement of the law.

The government has also filed a countersuit against Rolleston asking the court to prohibit his motel from refusing to serve Negroes.

Rolleston, who is also an attorney, pleaded the case for his Heart of Atlanta Motel alone, he faced a battery of lawyers from the Department of Justice and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The motel owner argued that Congress had no constitutional power to enact the civil rights law, not even under the Interstate Commerce Clause, the basis of the act.

If the Civil Rights Act is constitutional, Rolleston said, then Congress has the power to take over everything that used to be a private right.

Tricky Satellite Play Is Pronounced Success

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The United States has completed two-thirds of a tricky triple play in space by maneuvering one of two nuclear detection satellites into a circular orbit.

The triple is scheduled for completion about noon (EST) Sunday when the second Sentry satellite is to be jockeyed into a similar high-altitude orbit about 65,000 above the earth.

The twin sentries were part of a three - satellite package launched from Cape Kennedy Friday atop an Atlas - Agena rocket. The third satellite is a 4.5-pound Pygmy, carrying devices to measure electrons in the Van Allen radiation belt.

The Sentry satellites, each weighing 493 pounds, are forerunners of a network of orbiting stations designed to detect violations of the limited nuclear test ban treaty with bomb detonations in space.

All three payloads were injected into separate elongated orbits from 120 to 65,000 miles out. The Pygmy package will continue on this path.

Academy's First Reserve Unit Encamps July 31

The Air Force Academy's first Reserve unit will hold its initial summer encampment July 31 - Aug. 14.

Six officers and 14 airmen assigned to the 413th Medical Services Flight will don their whites for a two-week tour of duty at the Academy's 7625th USAF Hospital.

Commader of the flight is Lt. Col. (USAF Res.) Dale C. Huthaway, a Denver physician.

In case of an emergency the unit can set up a tent hospital capable of meeting any medical need from a cut finger to major surgery.

Should the need arise, members of the Reserve unit will report to the Academy Hospital ready to perform the duties of their active duty counter-parts.

For one Reservist the active duty tour will be "old home week." Airman 1.C. Joe P. Miller was a member of the Hospital staff during his Air Force tour. After his separation he enlisted in the 413th. In case of mobilization he would return to the Academy Hospital.

Top Scholars Meet at CU

BOULDER — Forty outstanding scholars will be at the University of Colorado for the next week and a half, ending July 29, to plot a campaign against scientific illiteracy among America's college graduates.

They will be participating in a National Science Foundation-sponsored Conference on Physics for Non-Science Majors. The scholars will represent disciplines such as physics, chemistry, biology, social sciences and the humanitites.

Prof. Malcolm Correll of the CU Physics and Astrophysics Department and director of the University's General Education Program is director of the conference.

Hanya Holm's Pupils to Dance At Art Center

Miss Hanya Holm, noted Broadway choreographer, will present a dance demonstration by her Colorado College summer students at 8 p.m. Aug. 5 in the Fine Arts Center here.

This will mark the 24th consecutive year Miss Holm has directed the summer dance program at Colorado College.

The program, a high point in the Colorado College summer session, represents an unusual approach to technique and creative work in the dance.

Miss Holm has staged the dance and musical numbers for such Broadway hits as "My Fair Lady," "Kiss Me, Kate," and "Camelot."

Springs Native, Hotel Magnate Hull Died Friday

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Thomas Everett Hull, hotel magnate who helped originate the big shows on Nevada's Las Vegas strip, is dead at 70. He was a native of Colorado Springs.

In 1941 he built the first luxury hotel on the Las Vegas Strip, the El Rancho Vegas.

Hull graduated from the Colorado Agricultural and Mining College in 1913, then joined the Army Air Corps during World War I.

He was married twice previously. He leaves his widow, a son, Thomas, 21, of Northridge, Calif. and an adopted daughter, Susan, 10.

Funeral services are set for Monday in Beverly Hills.

HS Journalism Teachers Meet At CU Monday

BOULDER. — Twenty-five high school journalism teachers from 16 states will be at the University of Colorado Monday to start the third annual Newspaper Fund Seminar. The seminar for high school journalism teachers and publications advisers is sponsored by the Newspaper Fund, Inc., a foundation established by the Wall Street Journal, and the CU School of Journalism.

The 24 teachers, including six from Colorado, are attending the seminar as holders of Newspaper Fund fellowships. During their three weeks at CU they will hear lectures by professional newsmen and School of Journalism faculty members, as well as doing practical laboratory work in the high school publications field. The seminar carries three hours of graduate credit.

Paul S. Swensson, executive director of the Newspaper Fund, will be at CU for the first week of the seminar to confer with the teachers. Visiting lecturers include Mort Stern, editor of the editorial page, Denver Post; Jack Gaskie, education editor, Rocky Mountain News; Paul F. Moloney, sports editor, Greeley Tribune, and Frank Gappa, Sunday magazine editor, and Charles Wendt Jr., reporter-photographer, Boulder Daily Camera.

Directors of the seminar are Mrs. Dorothy Greer, director of student publications at Topeka High School and Washburn University, and Assoc. Prof. Robert B. Rhode of the School of Journalism. Other CU journalism faculty members participating are Dean Charles T. Duncan, Assoc. Prof. Chris J. Burns, Asst. Prof. John D. Mitchell and visiting lecturer Leigh White.

The seminar at CU is one of 14 being conducted around the nation for periods ranging from three to eight weeks. They are being attended by more than 350 teachers.

Purpose of the Newspaper Fund, Inc., is to improve the quality of journalism teaching at the high school level and promote vocational interest in journalism among qualified young people.

Dr. Henke Joins Health Section's Disease Control

Dr. Clarence E. Henke has been assigned to the Colorado Springs Communicable Disease Control Demonstration project, according to officials at the City-County Health Department.

The project was started last November in a cooperative effort between the local and state health departments and the communicable Disease Center of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Dr. Henke attended the Colorado School of Mines and the University of Minnesota Institute of Technology during the years 1952 - 58, receiving the five-year geological engineering degree in 1958. During this preiod, he worked as a consulting geologist with mining companies in Colorado and Utah.

He received dual Congressional appointments to West Point and Annapolis, but was commissioned in the Air Force in March, 1958. Flight training was taken at Fairchild AFB, Spokane, Wash.

Later Dr. Henke returned to the University of Minnesota for further training in chemistry and environmental sanitation, receiving his Bachelor of Science in Chemistry in 1959. During this period he worked with the University Health Department as a sanitarian.

Then he entered the University of Minnesota Medical School and the School of Public Health, and received his MD Degree in 1963. His rotating internship was completed at St. Paul City-County Hospital in 1964. His MPH (health officer) degree was awarded in June of this year, after acceptance of his thesis papers on Trachoma and Yokohama Asthma.

During this period of medical education, he received his U.S. Public Health Service fellowship to work on the study of and administration of the oral polio vaccine with the Minnesota Health Department.

Rotary to Hear Academy Ticket Sales Director

Lt. Terry Goewert, Chief of Ticket Sales for the Air Force Academy Athletic Association will be the featured speaker at the Colorado Springs East Side Rotary Club meeting, Tuesday, July 21. The meeting will be held at the Red Carpet Lounge, 12 noon.

Falcon football for 1964 will be the theme of Tuesday's meeting, and will include a colorful highlight film of the highly successful 1963 Falcon football season.

All members and guests are invited to attend, and receive an inside preview on the 1964 Air Force team which plays another rugged, intersectional schedule which includes such gridiron powers as Notre Dame, Michigan, Washington, Missouri, Colorado and UCLA.

The Notre Dame encounter, scheduled for Falcon Stadium on October 10 will be the first Rocky Mountain appearance by the Fighting Irish. Other home games are: Oct. 3 — Colorado State; Oct. 17 — Missouri, Oct. 31 — Arizona; and Nov. 14 — Wyoming.

Firemen Reply To 97 Calls During June

The Colorado Springs fire department answered 97 alarms last month. The all-time high for alarms in one month was 120 last April.

Fire Chief Fred Lausch said that 10 of the 97 alarms were false and two were due to faulty alarm systems.

Firemen also made 13 resuscitator calls and two for rescue and first aid. They also spent 1,575 hours in drill, study and training licensed 69 bicycles and inspected 104 boats.

Lausch said cars traveled 3,347 miles last month and trucks 1,454 miles. The department had 3,735 radio transmissions during the month.

Three Security Men Selected for Honor

Three Security men have been selected for inclusion in the 1965 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America. They were nominated earlier this year by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Fountain Valley.

They include Gabried Lopez, 24, 513 Chatfiled Dr.; Mike O'Neil, 24, 148 Grinnell St., and Dennis Rokeh, 30, 1100 Hallam Ave.

Persons receiving the honor are selected on the basis of having distinguished themselves in one or more fields of endeavor.

Cellist Parnas Proves Popular With Audience

By JOHN FETLER
ARTS CRITIC

It was an interesting occasion for cellist Leslie Parnas to play a short work by Propora last Frday night at the Fine Ar Center, in the Colorado College summer concert series. Porpora sank into obscurity, while Handel became the brilliant darling of the masses. The performance by Parnas gave a brief comparison, and no wonder that the slick genius of Handel came out on top, but one thing must be said for Propora, there seems to be more "humanity" in his music: a humanity which, perhaps, has its influence on Haydn, too, who studied under him.

Parnas proved to be, again a favorite with the chamber music audience which attends these concerts, and was given generous applause.

Two more difficult works, from the viewpoint of compositional expression, followed. Both of them, in a way, shared some of the difficulties in which the cello part plays a more fragmented role, demanding the best in a cellist's technique to retain the unity of the composition.

The Variations on a Theme by Mozart by Beethoven is a duet, in which the piano part, in view of the occasion for which this work was written, was Beethoven's way of showing off his piano sentiment, in addition to paying the compliment to the cello, and the piano part was achieved by Lanner with delicacy, with Parnas adding the strong cello interpretation. In this work, however, as in the following one, one of the problems (which theorists may argue about) is that of either a greater, sustained, evenness of performance, or of going all-out on the emotional dynamics.

This comes out especially strongly in the sonata for cello and piano by Brahms, in which the sweep of the sustaining part is characteristically also in the piano part, with the cello providing the individualistic exclamations, providing highlights of drama and passion.

The last portion of the program was devoted to the String Quartet in G Minor by Debussy, by the summer session musicians: Ronald and Nancy Hudson, violin; Abraham Skerhick viola; and Parnas, cello.

A delectable treat awaits the music lovers next Friday night. First with the Piano Trio in C Minor by Beethoven; then a String Quartet by Colorado College's own Carlton Gamer; and lastly, probably the tastiest morsel, the perennially charming and singing "Trout" Quintet by Schubert.

Tons of Food Will Be Eaten By Boy Scouts

Any mother who's tried keping the refrigerator stocked for one teen-ager will sympathize with the Boy Scouts of America. They feed 50,000 Scouts during the National Jamboree July 17-23.

Although boys will prepare their own meals over no less than 4,080 campfires, literally tons of supplies must be brought into Valley Forge State Park Pa., to provide the basic ingredients. Fresh, packaged, and frozen foods warehoused in nearby areas will be trucked in nightly by a radio-controlled fleet that will roll after midnight so as not to disrupt daytime activities.

Naturally, the Boy Scouts have to "think big" on quantities. Their Jamboree shopping list includes more than 10 tons of ground beef for hamburgers, better than 152,000 gallons of milk, and an estimated 27 tons of butter. Since no one refrigerator could be either convenient or big enough to hold all this, the Boy Scouts are trying something new.

Throughout the Valley Forge site, shiny cubicals constructed of galvanized steel-clad urethane foam panels have sprung up. These are walk-in refrigerators, one for each of the 30 subcamps or sections the main camp has been divided into. Each 526-cubic-foot unit will contain the day's supply of perishables for the 1,600 to 1,760 Scouts and leaders in the section. Three times a day the wherewithal for breakfast, lunch or supper will be withdrawn, and by 5 p.m., the units will be practically empty, ready to be loaded up again by the midnight shift.

At the end of the Jamboree, when the last "taps" has been sounded, and the most reluctant Scout has gone, the walk-in units will depart too — actually following many of the Scouts into their own home territories. The refrigerators, purchased by Boy Scouts of America from Bally Case and Cooler Inc., Bally, Pa., have been resold to local districts for post-Jambore shipment to regional Boy Scout camp sites around the country for permanent installations.

English Scholar to Talk About British Politics

A professor of economics from a leading university in England will discuss the current political situation in Great Britain Aug. 3 at Colorado College.

He is Dr. Royden Harrison, senior lecturer in economics and and public administration at the University of Sheffield in England.

The lecture at 8 p.m. in Rastall Center will be open to the public without charge. Summer Session Director Fred A. Sondermann said a question and answer period would follow the talk.

City Planners To Study Final Items on Agenda

The City Planning Commission will meet at 4 p.m. July 27 in the City Council chambers to take care of items which could not be taken care of at the July 13 meeting because of a lengthy agenda.

Commission Chairman Andrew Marshall Jr. said that at the July 27 meeting public hearings would be held on the following items of business.

Old Signal Corps Station To Remain as Landmark

By BYRON AKERS
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

One thick rock wall of the 90-plus - year - old - Army Signal Corps meterological station atop Pikes Peak will become a monument to the past as a result of pioneer William S. Crosby's plea to preserve this historic landmark.

Crosby, whose keen memory is stored with facts and lore of the region's early days, first made his appeal in an article in the Gazette Telegraph Feb. 2, 1964. He buttressed his argument for saving the old structure with a detailed account of the Signal Corps operations on the Peak and with pictures of the old summit house from his collection.

The pioneer historian's proposal was prompted by the City of Colorado Springs' intention to raze the old structure on completion of the new modern summit house this summer. The contract for the new summit house provided for the destruction of the landmark.

As a result of Crosby's plea to save the ancient structure, the attention of G. E. Widenhaft, Pike Forest supervisor, and his staff was attracted to the historical significance of the early day meterological station, built in 1873.

The Forest Service officials determined it was economically impractical to restore the original Signal Corps station, which became part of the later enlarged Cog Road summit station when the unique railway started full operations in June, 1891.

Instead, they became convinced preservation of the original walls would prove a suitable monument, and proceeded with plans to save that part of the first permanent structure on top the 14,110 foot sentinel of the Fort Range of the Colorado Rockies.

Under the new summit house arrangement between the Cog Road, Colorado Springs and the Forest Service, the federal government now has full control over the summit. The Cog Road relinquished its 99-year lease on five acres at the summit in return for trackage and terminal facilities in the new summit house.

In his plea to save the landmark, Crosby, in the Gazette Telegraph article last February, pointed out the old building "is a real historical part of the Region's early days and one of the few landmarks not wiped out by what we call progress.

"Its location gives it added significance because Pikes Peak has been and always will be our greatest tourist asset.

"The Signal Corps building would stand as a contrast to the modern, new summit house, and give the tens of thousands of summer visitors to the Peak some idea of pioneer conditions and show them how much luckier they are to have modern facilities and comforts, instead of the primitive quarters of the Army men of nearly a century ago."

The Pioneer Society of the Pikes Peak Region and the State Historical Society agreed with Crosby's views. And so did the Pike Forest officials. When they saw the Gazette Telegraph story.

Under the direction of Supervisor Widenhaft, plans have been drafted for preservation of one wall, with its old windows and doorway.

According to Lloyd DeWerff, Pike Forest recreation planner, and J. L. Scott, Pike information officer, the old wall will bear a plaque briefly outlining the history of the Signal Corps station, which was operated throughout the year despite severe winter weather.

The wall will serve a utilitarian purpose, as it did for the Signal Corps men and later for the Cog Road summit house. Behind the wall, according to DeWerff, will be an attractive and suitable rock storage building. This will also be used as the AdAmAn Club's summit headquarters for its New Year's Eve fireworks show.

Other facilities behind the wall will be a room for generators and other equipment supplying power for the summit and additional rest rooms.

DeWerff said an "overlook" will be built above the wall level to give sightseers an extra vantage point to view the panorama of plains and cities far below and the mountain vistas. Plans for the overlook are in the tentative stage.

Details of the old summit house monument wall and the service facilities the wall will shelter are now in the hands of the Forest Service regional recreation planner in Denver for final approval.

The Forest Service also has a room set aside in the new summit house for a Pikes Peak museum, Scott said. A giant display case for articles associated with the region's early days and the old Signal Corps station will be on permanent exhibit.

Included in the museum, Scott said, will be enlargements of Crosby's collection of pictures of the exterior and interior of the Signal Corps meterological station and a detailed history of it and the operation.

Reports to the chief of the Signal Corps in Washington in the 1870's, some of which were published in the Gazette Telegraph article on Crosby's plea to save the landmark, will be included in the Pikes Peak museum.

Scott siad it will be necessary to get loans or gifts of articles suitable for the museum. Crosby and Henry Coupland also emphasized the need for items to stock the Forest Service's meseum. Coupland was designated by the Pioneer Society to give the organization's active support to Crosby's idea for retention of part of the Signal Corps station as a monument.

So it looks like the Peak summit will have its authentic reminder of the region's early days preserved due to the plea of pioneer Crosby and the interest of the Forest Service.

New Students May Take Tests Next Month

Junior and senior high school pupils who are new to the public schools in Colorado Springs, or who have been away a year or more will be given an opportunity to take the tests for enrollment on Aug. 27, 28, 31, and Sept. 1.

Taking these tests before school opens will greatly facilitate the individual's enrollment, school officials said. Information about each pupils as learned from test results is of assistance to counselors in planning his program. Any who wait until school opens to take these tests will find considerable delay in getting enrolled, it was noted.

Tests will be given at Palmer and Wasson High Schools.

The testing program will last all morning and part of the afternoon with an intermission for lunch.

Further details will be released prior to the tests. Information may be obtained by calling 633-8773, Ex. 37.

Henry Peters Died Saturday

Funeral services for Henry Peters, 77, of Woodland Park, who died Saturday at a local hospital, will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at Our Chapel of Memories.

Mr. Peters was born in Dysart, Iowa and had lived in Colorado since 1935.

Survivors of Mr. Peters include his widow, Mrs. Minnie Peters, Woodland Park; two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie Ray, Franklin, N.C., and Mrs. Mary Jane Clark, Darlington, Mo.; two sons, Milton Peters, Albuquerque, N.M., and Alvin Peters, Indio, Calif.; three sisters, Anena Moeller, Staples, Minn., Rosa Moeller, Everly, Iowa and Lula Paulsen, Lamar, Colo.; and 10 grandchildren.

The Rev. P. R. Epley will officiate at the funeral services and burial will be in Memorial Gardens.

Three Theft Cases Reported To Sheriff

Three cases of theft were reported to the sheriff's office Saturday.

The first happened at the home of Julea Magafan-Bunnell, 600 Columbia Rd. where $600 were stolen. According to Deputy Sheriff Charles White, Magafan-Bunnell has been saving the money for the past year and kept it in a canister at the foot of her bed.

There were no signs of forced entry.

He said he had parked his car in a garage at 2004 Cheyenne Blvd. and that someone had forced the side vent of the vehicle and stolen his air conditioner unit and various personal papers. Value of the air conditioner is $125.

The third case happened at the Trianon Foundation, 21 Broadmoor Ave. A pennant worth $48 at the entrance to the museum was stolen. It is described as blue and white.

Home Owners Warned About Burglaries

STATE PRISON (NEA) — My buddies aren't going to like this story because I'm going to reveal I'm almost rehabilitated and I feel more people ought to know how they make their homes duck soup for burglars.

The FBI says burglaries occur in the United States at the rate of one a minute, 24 hours a day —that's more than half a million a year. It's the most common crime on the books. Why? Because it's the safest, from the criminal's point of view.

Most people seem to think they're immune from crooks because they have no expensive furs and not much cash or jewelry around the house. But those aren't the things a burglar looks for.

The most popular targets for theft are the ordinary things found in every home, such as sports equipment, luggage clothes, cameras, television and radio sets, appliances and any of a hundred small but expensive items that can be resold at a good price.

It's not hard for a professional burglar to learn when families are away from home — particularly during the summer. Some spot their intended victims by listening to gossip at shopping centers. I used to pass myself off as a door-to-door salesman of sun dials, or some such. I never sold anything, but it was a great excuse for finding empty houses and asking the neighbors when my "clients" would be home.

There are many burglary routines. Some professionals specialize in large - scale theft, known in the trade as the "truck hustle."

When they find empty houses they rent a large van and start making the rounds, posing as movers and loading up with expensive furnishings. If conditions are right, they can strip a house down to the foundation.

I never worked this routine and I never used a truck. All I had to do is visit an unoccupied house at night. It was no trouble to pack $500 worth or merchandise in my car trunk and happily drive away.

Although a burglar would rather work on an empty house, it doesn't always turn out that way. Sometimes a place looks too good to pass up and sometimes a burglar doesn't find out it's inhabited until he's inside.

This happens often enough that every homeowner should be familiar with the etiquette of being robbed—or what to do until the burglar leaves.

If you're smart, you won't do anything. A cornered crook — with visions of possible imprisonment—can be as dangerous as a cornered tiger. What you might try, though, is to kick the floor or wall near your bed. A shrewd intruder may think you are waking up and will probably make a hasty exit.

But the chief concern of a homeowner should not be getting the burglars out of his house, but keeping them out. If a crook wants in badly enough he will find a way. The strongest lock will yield to a tire iron. Any small window, liberally covered with tape, can be kicked in with a minimum of noise. You can't guarantee that this won't happen, but by taking a few simple precautions to discourage prowlers, you can swing the odds heavily in yor favor.

Some of the precautions:

Don't use spring - type snap locks on your doors. The rankest amateur can open these with a piece of celluloid faster than you can with a key. The best locks are the dead-bolt type that have to be secured manually.

If you must hide a spare key, use a little imagination. Don't put it under the mat, over the door, in the mail box or any of the other traditional places. I always checked these routinely—it saves a lot of wear and tear on my burglar tools. Try hiding the key 10 feet from the door. No burglar will waste time searching the entire front of the house.

When you leave your home at night, always keep a light burning. But if it's still on during the day, you might as well send out invitations. A cheap photoelectric switch is good insurance.

If you plan to be away for more than a day or two, be sure to stop all deliveries and arrange for a neighbor to pick up the mail and tend the lawn. A cluttered front porch and shaggy lawn are sure indications that a house is empty.

Don't allow the local papers to print a notice that Mr. and Mrs. Smith are spending a month at Lake Humdinger." Burglars are close readers of society pages.

RED ROCK VALLEY ESTATES

Build a home on an acreage amidst unexcelled scenic splendor

This is foothill country, as primitive as when Arapaho warriors tread on it with moccasined feet. Here are impressive, towering red rock formations similar to the famous "GARDEN OF THE GODS." Wild life abounds the area of Ponderosa pine, scrub oak and gramma grass. — A wonderful world of your own, less than 15 minutes drive from Colorado Springs.

SEE THIS BEAUTIFUL HIGHLY RESTRICTED SUBDIVISION & YOU'LL BE SATISFIED WITH NOTHING ELSE!

Carefully check every detail. Such expert craftsmanship would not be possible were it not for the fact that planning and construction is always handled by experienced, prideful and capable personnel. Then check our price against that of any comparable home. You'll find that American Builders' volume, plus our traditional policy of fair pricing, gives you more home for each dollar you spend.

MODEL HOMES OPEN 9 TO 9 DAILY

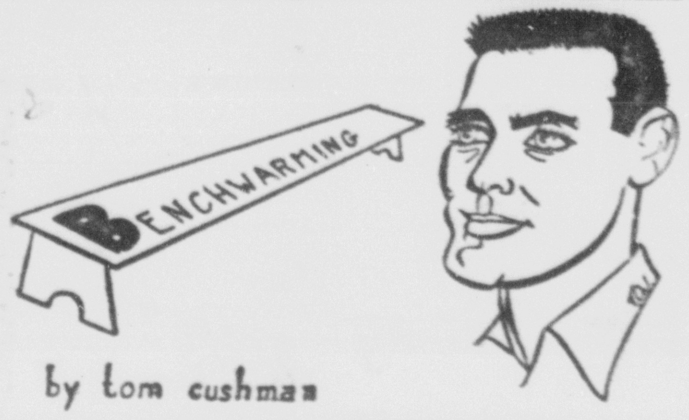
Nichols Keeps Slim Lead in PGA



by tom cushman

Ad Man for Football

Although the fact is frequently concealed from the general public, the term sports publicity director is actually a camouflaged definition of an advertising man who prefers sports shirts to Madison Avenue flannel. Hidden in cubbyholes that usually hint strongly of locker-room aroma, these prolific gentlemen peddle athletic teams instead of toothpaste — but they are salesmen just the same. In the process, they often manufacture prose in such volumn that it can be favorably compared to the average agency man's ability to inhale cocktails.

* * *

DICK SMELSER
Survived Depression

* * *

In addition to wardrobe selection, the primary difference between these two corners of the advertising world is the fact that the sports publicity man must occasionally attempt to sell a product which the public knows is bad!

Take the case of Dick Smelser the channel through which information concerning Colorado State University flows to the sports - reading public. For three years this harried man had the dubious task of chronicling the adventures of the nation's most unsuccessful football team. There were undoubtedly afternoons between 1960 - 62 when Smelser considered penning his releases in invisible ink.

Nevertheless, during that three year period, Smelser assignments included providing area sports writers with weekly obituaries on the Rams, who were unwittingly in the process of establishing a national record for consecutive defeats. When the streak finally ended at 26 late last September, the CSU pundit could be excused for suffering a verbal block the next time he faced a typewriter. After three years of searching for words synonymous with defeat, a man's vocabulary can become remarkably one - sided.

Smelser's countenance still reflects some of the strain of that era. The plight of coaches during such stretches of disaster is pre - ordained. Most discover a sudden capacity for selling life insurance, or a related profession far from the clutches of hostile alumni. Left standing in the ashes of the effigy-hanging, however, is usually the publicity director. His job is to divert alumni attention to a more promising future. That's frequently about as easy as warding off a pack of starved wolves with a slab of raw meat.

As an escape mechanism, Smelser has had two. One comes during the winter months when CSU's basketball team, which is one of the nation's better quintets, soothes nerves that have been frayed by the weekly sight of the opposition side of the scoreboard whirring at computer pace during the fall.

The second is golf, and Smelser becomes sort of a journeyman tournament player during the summer, hitting several of the area's amateur affairs. But even that backfires occasionally! Recently Dick wandered into the Trans - Mississippi at the Broadmoor, only to be confronted by fairways congested with explosive collegians, including the Fleckmans, Petris, Cerrudos, etc.

Even after that traumatic experience, Smelser still was ready with a few phrases concerning the football revival at CSU. During the conversation he smiled periodically, which is strong testimony to the pleasant disposition of this man. Living in the middle of a coaching fraternity during an era of 26 straight defeats is not exactly the perfect environment in which to cultivate a sense of humor.

Smelser sees the CSU situation as "getting steadily better. I think that fact will be reflected even more this fall. I can see where we could even finish 5 and 5," he said, and it was no lump - in - the - throat statement.

Dick retains his enthusiasm for Coach Mike Lude, a transplant from the East Coast who was summoned at the depths of the CSU depression and eventually greeted with all the fanfare appropriate to the arrival of a messiah. When the blare had quieted, Lude discovered he had inherited nothing but a locker - room - full of badly-bandaged talent and a 16 game losing streak. He added 10 to that figure during his first campaign and emerged with the halo a bit mis-shapen.

Nevertheless, Lude's 1963 team ended the drouth and eventually won three times before snows chased the athletes indoors. Through it all Smelser says Lude "has never lost his fire. He's been able to keep the majority of his staff here and we have another excellent group of freshmen arriving this fall."

As for CSU's effort to gain admittance to the Western Athletic Conference, Smelser says the university "doesn't know if it is being considered at this time. But we don't think moving the WAC office from Denver hurt out chances as some say.

At least Bob Davis (CSU athletic director) has a letter from Commissioner Brechler saying that it will not damage any opportunities we might have."

Smelser also feels that the addition of new facilities at the Fort Collins school will increase its chances of membership. "We are to let bids on the new Auditorium - Gymnasium about Aug. 1. Construction should start in early September and the basketball portion should be ready for most of the 1965 - 66 season. There are also long-range plans for a new football stadium," Smelser revealed.

Regardless of CSU's grid fortunes this fall, the players have a pre - arranged reward waiting. In December the squad will go overseas for a game with the University of Hawaii.

"The last itme that happened, Smelser recalled, "was in 1925. Ken Hyde, who was a third string All American quarterback, that year, was telling me about it the other day."

According to Hyde, "our team was unbeaten and the coach figured we were going over there to play ball — but the players had other ideas. We ended up getting beaten 49-0, but we had a hell of a time."

Chances are, under Lude's encouragement, there will be more attention to duty by the players in 1964. But Hawaii has been known to provide a perfect tranquilizer for tired advertising men. Unlike 1960 - 62, this is one year Dick Smelser should be happy to be in the business of selling football.

Mexico Netters Capture Lead

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Unshakeable Bobby Nichols staved off disaster with miracle recoveries in sweltering heat and intense pressure Saturday and clung to a one-stroke lead over Arnold Palmer with one round to play in the 46th PGA Golf Championship. He fired a 69 for a six-under-par total of 204.

Palmer, the game's most feared comebacker, was playing just ahead of the nerveless boy from Louisville and kept pressure on all the way. But he failed to gain an inch of ground over the Columbus Country Club.

The charger from Latrobe, Pa. also had a third round 69 for 205, making it virtually a two-man battle for the $18,000 top purse in Sunday's finale.

Only two other players in the original field of 166 were under par. They were Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn. and dark horse Tom Nieporte of Locust Valley, N.Y., an Ohio State alumnus who came back to thrill his old neighbors. They were tied for third at 207.

Rudolph, who can't see a green without his thick-lens spectacles, shot a 67 and Nieporte, a former college champion, had a 68 in the 90-plus degree heat.

The other red-hot challengers —National Open champion Ken Venturi, Bob Wininger, British Open titlist Tony Lema and defending champion Jack Nicklaus—wilted under the blazing sun and fell from the sub-par pace.

But an old master out of the past — 51-year-old Ben Hogan, king of his day in the 1940s and early 1950s—thrilled the gallery of 16,500 by playing the front nine holes in a three-under-par 31 despite a bogey, and finishing with a 68.

This left the once feared Texas Hawk in the thick of the fight tied at even par 210 with Nicklaus, who scrambled to an even par 70; Venturi, 73, and Wininger, the 41-year-old Las Vegas teaching pro, 73, and Bill Casper, the putting whiz from Apple Valley, Calif., 70.

Thousands of fans crammed around the 18th green gave Hogan—wearing his familiar white cap, puffing on a cigarette and hobbling on legs that doctors once said would never walk again—a standing ovation when he finished.

He had proved that he no longer was a victim of the putting jitters when he one-putted nine greens and three-putted only two.

Winner of all the major championships including four U.S. Opens, two PGAs and two Masters, he went into semi-retirement in 1955. But he showed the fans he still is a master of the game.

But even his impressive shot-making mastery could not dull the magnificance of young Nichols, who refused to give quarter.

* * *

Four times the baby-faced Kentuckian fell into situations that might have wrecked a lesser man. Each time he came out of the trouble like a champion.

At the 474-yard eighth hole, a normal par five playing at four, he drove into a clump of trees and had to hit into the No. 4 fairway to get a shot at the green. There he found himself stymied by a giant oak.

He appeared headed for a certain double bogey six, or worse.

But Nichols lashed a beautiful iron shot over the tree to the green, 18 inches from the cup and then sank for his par.

This was only the beginning of his miracle series.

He drove into another clump of trees at the 12th, lofted his second into a trap and then recovered for a par four.

On the 15th he had to sink a 25-foot putt to save his par after twice wandering into the rough. Then on the 16th, after hitting into the rough again, he got a free drop when the ball fell into the hole of a burrowing animal. He hit a tremendous recovery to within 18 inches.

On the 17th he shanked his drive into a deep gully some 30 yards from the green. His chip hit the flag stick and almost fell in for a birdie.

Palmer made one of his strong charges, getting a birdie three at the third and knocking in another at the sixth to take the temporary lead.

But Palmer never got his surge really going and he had to settle again for second place, at least for the time being.

"I played as well as I have in the whole tournament," Palmer said, "but I didn't capitalize on my chances. I missed a little putt at the 11th and from there on I missed a series of makeable putts from 20 feet and under."

Reminded that he had three sub-par rounds — 68-68-69— Palmer said, "if I can get under par Sunday, I'll be all right."

"If I ever had a chance to win a tournament this is it." Nichols said. "I hope I don't have to play a round like that tomorrow."

He broke into a smile when he was told that most of his pars were more fantastic than his birdies.

"You're not going to believe this, but I have witnesses," he said. "I one-putted for pars on the first two holes after being in traps. I was in the rough twice and in a trap on the fifth and was lucky to get a bogey.

BEN HOGAN FINISHES IN 68—Ben Hogan sizes up a putt on the 18th hole Saturday during his sparkling round of 68 which gave it a 210, six strokes behind leader Bobby Nichols as the golfers head into the final round of the PGA Tournament at Columbus, Ohio today. The 51-year-old Hogan was given a standing ovation by the crowd at the conclusion of his Saturday effort.

IN NIP AND TUCK BATTLE FOR PGA BATTLE—It was virtually a two-man battle with Bobby Nichols, left, holding a one stroke lead over Arnold Palmer going into the final round of the PGA Championship at the Columbus Country Club. The two are pictured in the press room after Saturday's round. The final 18 holes are to be played today. (AP Wirephoto)

McKinley, Ralston in Finals of Clay Court

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

RIVER FOREST, Ill. (AP)—Defending champion Chuck McKinley, turned on the pressure when needed to score a 7-5, 6-4, 7-5 triumph over Frank Froehling in the semifinals of the National Clay Courts Tennis Tournament Saturday.

McKinley, from San Antonino Tex., thus will seek his third consecutive clay courts crown Sunday against Dennis Ralston, second seeded in the tournament behind McKinley.

Ralston defeated Marty Riessen earlier in the day, 6-2, 6-2 6-4.

McKinley had numerous lapses against the much taller Froehling, but consistently bore down when his Davis Cup rival from Miami, Fla. appeared to be threatening.

Ralston, Southern California Star from Bakersfield, Calif. broke the service of Riessen, from Northwestern, five times in a match which lasted a little more than an hour.

In the one women's semifinal match Saturay, defending champion Nancy Richey of Dallas routed Judy Alvarez of Tampa, Fla. 6-2, 6-0. Miss Richey will play Carole Caldwell Graebner of Santa Monica, Calif. for the women's title Sunday.

Miss Richey later teamed with Mrs. Graebner to win the women's doubles crown 6-1, 6-4 over Jean Danilovich of Jackson, Calif., and Sue Shrader of Sacramento, Calif.

Both the singles finals between McKinley and Ralston and the men's doubles championships Sunday will be a replay of last year's closing round.

McKinley and Ralston teamed Saturday for a 6-2, 6-2 semifinal victory over Art Ashe of Lynchburg, Va. and Bill Bond of LaJolla, Calif.

The McKinley-Ralston duo will meet the same doubles combination which defeated them for the title last year, Riessen and Clark Graebner of Shaker Heights, Ohio.

Riessen and Clark Graebner Shaker Heights, Ohio.

Riessen and Braebner won their semifinal match 6-4, 6-4 over the South African pair of Abe Segal and Ray Moore.

GIANTS SIGN JAMES

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York football Giants have announced the signing of Dick James, the 29-year-old halfback who was acquired from the Washington Redskins in exchange for Sam Huff.

Liechty Leads Strong Field In Broadmoor Invite Monday

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Defending champion John Liechty, a powerful young star from Marshalltown, Ia., will lead another strong field into the 43rd annual Broadmoor Men's Invitational which gets underway at the local course early Monday morning.

Liechty, who was one of the most sensational winners in the long history of the mid-summer extravaganza, has been established as an early favorite again this year due to the ease of his triumph in 1963.

During that week the handsome Iowan rolled up such scores as 5 and 4 over H. B. Bolas and a similar margin over Fred Schwend in the 18 hole matches over the first three days. Then in the 36 hole semi-finals he crushed one of the tournament's brightest stars, Dick Spangler of Lincoln, Neb., 11 and 10. Included in that feat was a blazing 66 medal which Liechty turned in during the morning 18. He concluded the week by breeezing past veteran Claude Wright, one of the most consistent performers here, 7 and 6.

Earlier this summer Liechty qualified for and played in the U. S. Open Championship, generally considered to be the major golf tournament in the world.

Thus Liechty will start the week here as the logical favorite but the tournament field includes a number of strong entries who should give him a run. This group includes Wright, the longtime standout from Denver who is considered to be one of the area's most rugged match play opponents. A two-time champion of this event, Wright has won once and finished as runner-up twice in the past three years.

Other returning champions include Gene Zuspann of Denver, the titlist in 1950 and Jim English, the 1955 winner. English, who is a former Trans-Mississippi champion, is annually one of the strongest entries in this field.

In addition, four of the Championship Flight members from the recent Trans-Miss at the Broadmoor, will be back for the Invitational.

They are Jack Clevenger of Topeka Kan.; Jim Rheim of Chula Vista, Calif., and Loy Martin, Jr., of Tulsa, Okla.; and Jim Hardy of Hutchinson, Kan. Hardy was a semi-finalist in last year's tournament.

Tournament officials were still waiting late in the week for word as to whether or not Oklahoma State star, Dave Eichelberger, will return to Colorado Springs for this tournament. Eichelberger was runner-up to Houston's Wright Garrett in the Trans-Miss and indicated that he would be back if circum- will allow.

Other strong performers who will be on hand this week include Herb Pollock, the former Pueblo star who now plays out of Salt Lake City; Frank Tallman of Pueblo; Harold Berglund of Denver; Harold Bolas of Littleton; Dr. Howard Bramley of Denver; Rex Eaton and Larry Eaton of Greeley; Harold Watson of Denver; and Gary and Ron Wright, sons of Claude.

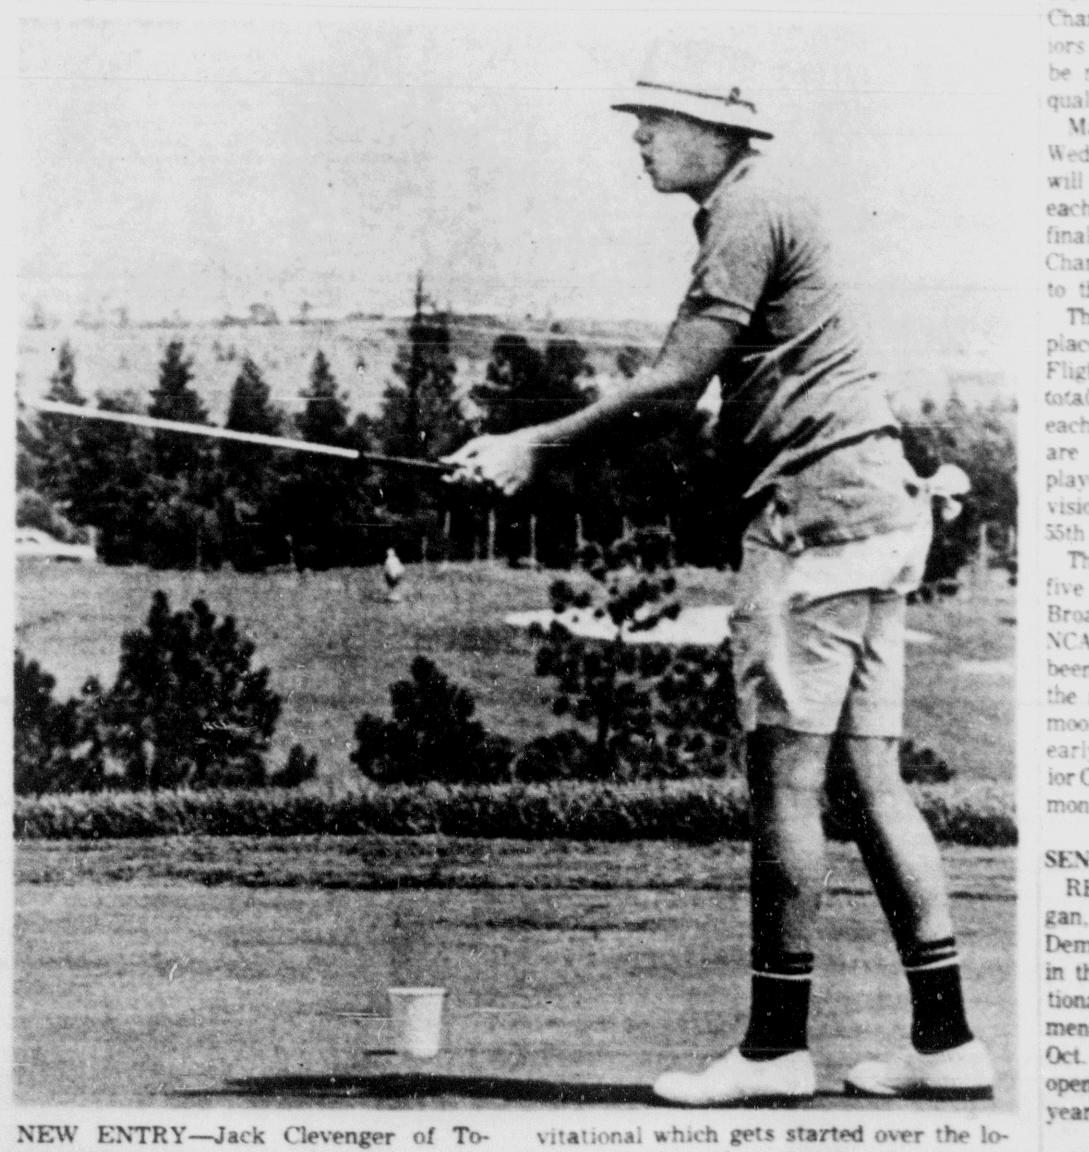
* * *

The tournament format calls for qualifying rounds the first two days. All members of the field, with the exception of the defending champions of the Championship Flight and Seniors Championship Flight, will be required to shoot an 18 hole qualifying round.

Match play will commence Wednesday in all flights and will proceed with single rounds each day. For Saturday's semi-finals and Sunday's finals the Championship Flight will switch to the 36 hole route.

The top 32 qualifiers will be placed in the Championship Flight but there will also be a total of 6 other flights of 16 each. Included in this group are the four senior flights. All players entered in the Senior Division must have passed their 55th birthday.

The Invitational is the third of five top tournaments at the Broadmoor this summer. The NCAA and the Trans-Miss have been completed. Still to come is the nationally prominent Broadmoor Women's Invitational in early August and the World Senior Championships late that same month.



NEW ENTRY—Jack Clevenger of Topeka, Kan., who advanced to the second round of the recent Trans-Miss Tournament before losing to Ed Hopkins, is expected to enter the Broadmoor Men's Invitational which gets started over the local course Monday. Another huge field is anticipated for the annual event which will run throughout the week.

SENIORS DATE SET

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—Ben Hogan, Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret will lead competitors in the eighth annual $35,000 National Seniors Open golf tournament which will be staged here Oct. 27-31. this tournament is open to all players over 50 years old.

Third base coach Tony Cuccinelli of the Chicago White Sox broke in with Syracuse in the International League in 1926.

Baltimore Splits With Tiger Nine

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gates Brown knocked in all three second-game Detroit runs with a single, double and triple as the Tigers whipped the Baltimore Orioles 3-0 and earned a split in Saturday's twi-night doubleheader.

Milt Pappas pitched the Orioles to a 6-1 victory in the opener and knocked in two runs with a broken-bat single.

The split increased Baltimore's American League lead to one game over the New York Yankees, who lost to Cleveland.

Brown who singled his last three times at bat in the first game, extended his streak to six in a row in the nightcap.

The Detroit outfielder doubled home a run in the first, tripled for another in the third and singled to drive in the third Tiger run in the fifth. The blows, all with two out, came off Dave Vineyard, who was making his first major league start.

Lefty Mickey Lolich stopped the Orioles on five hits in the second game, and only in the second inning did Baltimore have more than one base runner. He struck out six while bringing his record to 9-6.

The Tigers stole three bases off Vineyard, who was brought up from Rochester Friday, with a swipe by Jerry Lumpe in the fifth contributing to the final Tiger run. Brown followed with his single to drive in Lumpe and up his average to .333.

In the opener, the Orioles scored two runs each in the third and fourth off loser Hank Aguirre. Solo homers by Jerry Adair and Boog Powell completed the scoring.

Pappas was touched for nine hits, but he stranded nine runners as he won his eighth game against four losses.

Red Sox Clobber Senators

BOSTON (AP) — Bob Tillman drove in six runs with a pair of homers, one of them his first major league grand slam, and powered Boston to a 12-6 victory over Washington Saturday.

Pitcher Earl Wilson and Felix Mantilla added two-run homers to the Red Sox Assault.

Wilson became the first Boston 10-game winner but had to survive a shaky eighth inning when pinch hitter Don Zimmer doubled across one run and Mike Brumley hit a three-run homer. Brumley had four RBI for the game.

Dick Radatz relieved Wilson in the ninth.

Tillman sent his grand slam homer into the left field screen in the sixth and found the range again in the eighth with one on.

Longshot Wins Andover Handicap

SALEM, N.H. (AP)—Mid Tea Time, a 19-1 shot, upset the $15,000 Andover Handicap Saturday at Rockingham Park before a crowd of 16,583.

Under a brilliant ride by jockey John Giovanni, the 3-year-old staved off a tremendous bid by Lewisburg and was a neck in front after a mile and 70 yards.

Just three-quarters of a length back was the Pin Oak Farm's License Plate.

Giovanni sent Mid Tea Time to a 1:42 4-5 clocking over a fast track. The winner paid $42, $15.60 and $6.60. Lewisburg, an 11-1 shot, paid $13 and $5.60 and License Plate returned $3.40 to show.

Hogan Receives Standing Ovation From Gallery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thousands of fans around the 18th green at the Columbus Country Club gave a standing ovation to the great Ben Hogan Saturday when he finished his third round in a two-under-par 168.

This was one of the rare tournament appearances of the 51-year-old golfing immortal who won four U.S. Opens, two PGAs, two Masters and the British Open before he went into semi-retirement in 1955.

Hogan's round, following scores of 70-72, put him even with par for the first 54 holes over the 6,851-par 70 course. He had a better round than many of the present-day stars.

Hogan began losing his putting touch in the middle 1950s and got to a point that he said he was ashamed to play in public because "I was afraid to bring the club back on the greens."

COVINGTON FELLED BY PITCH — Philadelphia's Wes Covington lies at home plate in Crosley Field Saturday after being struck in the right side of the head by a pitch thrown by Cincinnati pitcher John Tsitouris in the first inning. Covington was taken from the field on a stretcher and later taken to a hospital. It was believed that the injury was not serious, however. Cincinnati went on to defeat the league-leading Phillies. Angels Nip Minnesota On Homer

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP)—Jim Fregosi homered off reliever Jim Perry with one out in the 13th inning Saturday, giving the Los Angeles Angels a 3-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Fregosi's 11th homer carried 360 feet over the right field fence, helping Bob Duliba, who pitched the last two innings, gain his fifth victory in six decisions.

The Angels, who had an eighth-inning rally snuffed out by reliever Johnny Klippstein, tied the game in the ninth as Lou Clinton walked, took second on a Klippstein wild pitch and scored when Bob Rodgers beat out an infield hit and second baseman Jerry Kindall threw the ball past first.

Pittsburgh Batters Spahn In 8-2 Rout of Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Donn Clendenon drove in three runs as Pittsburgh battered Warren Spahn and Milwaukee 8-2 Saturday night.

The Pirates rocked Spahn for six runs and seven hits in 3 2-3 innings. The 43-year-old left-hander suffered his 10th setback against six victories.

Bob Bailey and Roberto Clemente each had three hits for the Pirates. Clemente's output boosted his average four points to .343, placing him on top in the NL batting race.

Bailey started a three-run first inning with his first single. Singles by Clemente and Gene Freese and Clendenon's sacrifice fly knocked in the runs. A Bailey single, a sacrifice and Clemente's double scored another run in the third.

Bailey's third single drove in a run in the fourth after Spahn departed for Cecil Butler. Manny Mota also singled across a run in the inning. Clendenon cracked a two-run homer off Butler in the fifth.

Bob Veale scattered seven hits as he coasted to his 10th triumph in 16 decisions.

Chance Hit Gives Indians 15-Inning Win Over Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) —Rookie Bob Chance smashed a 460-foot triple to drive in the tie-breaking run, then scored on a squeeze bunt to power the Cleveland Indians to a 6-4 15-inning triumph Saturday, their first in nine meetings with the New York Yankees this season.

The victim was Pete Mikkelsen, who had retired seven straight batters in relief before John Romano singled with one out in the top of the 15th.

Chance, who had driven in Cleveland's first two runs with a single in the sixth inning, then drove a pitch that bounced over the center field monuments in front of the flagpole in the deepest part of Yankee Stadium.

By the time the ball was returned to the infield, Romano had scored and Chance was resting on third. Billy Moran scored Chance with a perfectly executed squeeze bunt to the mound.

The Indians appeared to have won earlier when pinch hitter Fred Whitfield smashed a home run following a 12th inning walk to Woody Held, but the Yankees tied the score at 4-4 in their half of the 12th on Tony Kubek's two-run homer with two out.

The game started as a pitching duel between Cleveland's Dick Donovan and New York's Al Downing. The Yankees jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning, Mickey Mantle driving in the first run with a double and scoring on Tommy Tresh's single. Mantle was held hitless thereafter, striking out four times.

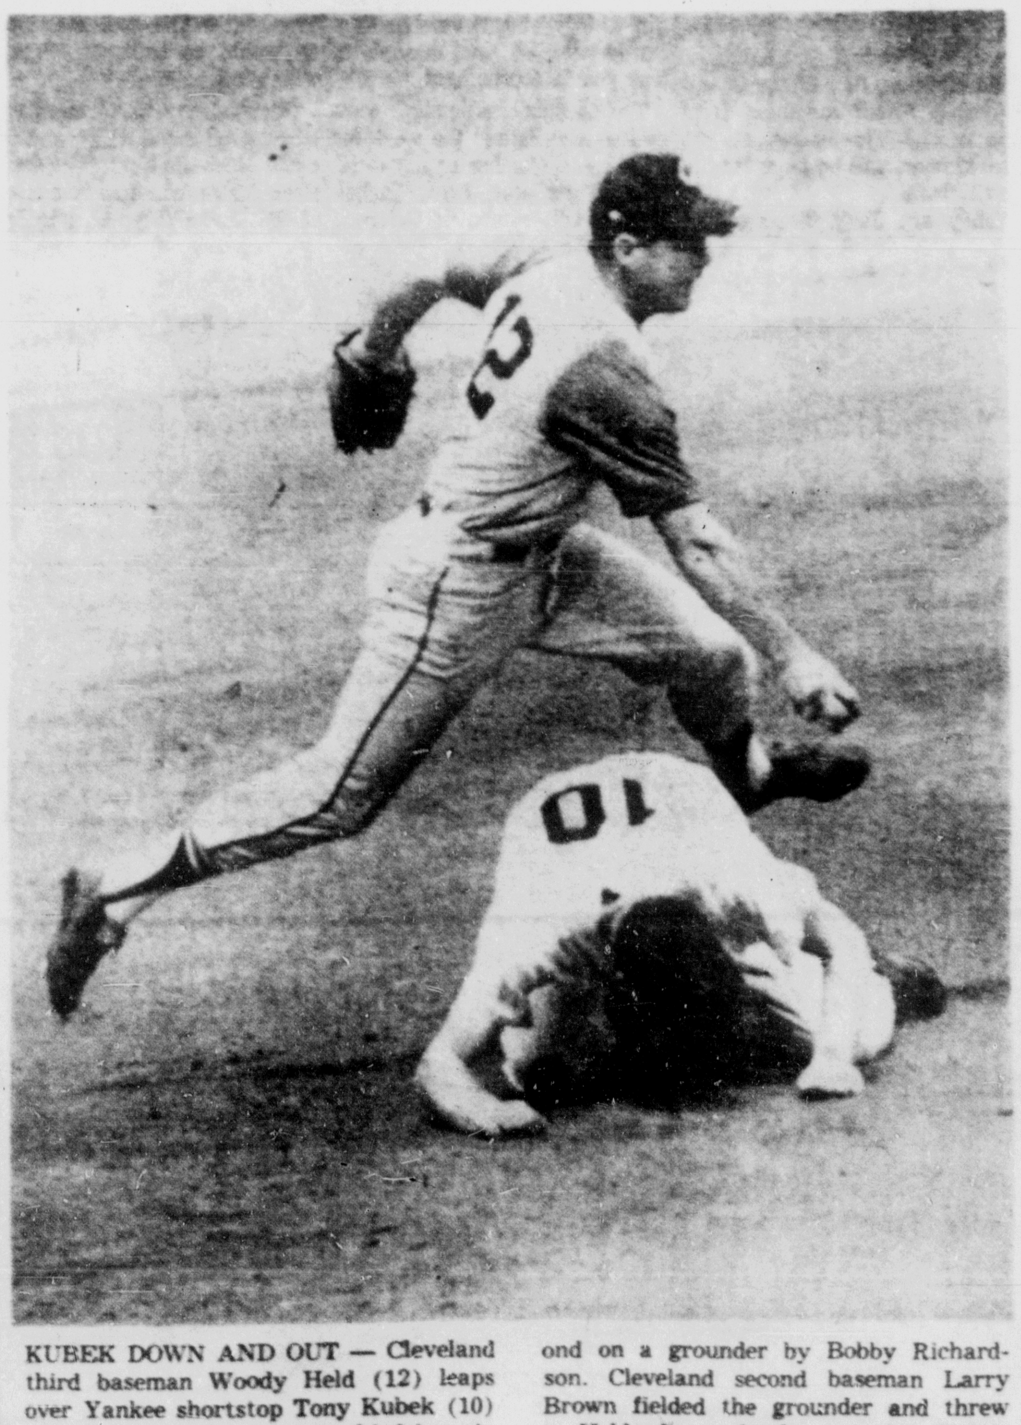
Jimmy Brown Signs Contract

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Jim Brown, the Cleveland Browns' bulldozing fullback has agreed to contract terms for 1964, Art Modell, club president, announced Saturday.

Terms were not disclosed, and a club spokesman would say only Brown was considered one of the top players in the National Football League and this would be reflected in the contract.

One unofficial report estimated Browns' salary at around $50,000, believed to be tops among professional football players.

Modell said Brown will sign the contract for his eighth season within a few days. He starts working out with the team Monday at the Hiram College training site.



KUBEK DOWN AND OUT — Cleveland third baseman Woody Held (12) leaps over Yankee shortstop Tony Kubek (10) after tagging him out near third base in the first inning of the game at Yankee Stadium Saturday. Kubek broke from second on a grounder by Bobby Richardson. Cleveland second baseman Larry Brown fielded the grounder and threw to Held who made the tag after Kubek started back to second. Cleveland won 6-4 in 15 innings. (AP Wirephoto)

Koufax Wins 10th Straight

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sandy Koufax scored his 10th consecutive victory and became the season's first 14-game winner as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Chicago Cubs 3-1 Saturday.

Willie Davis drove in two Los Angeles runs, one with a first inning double and one with a homer in the sixth. Maury Wills' eighth inning double delivered the third run.

Koufax, who hasn't been beaten since he dropped a 1-0 decision to Cincinnati May 27, struck out 10 and walked one. He reduced his earned run average to 1.88, the best of any National League starter.

The Dodgers are on a four-game winning streak and, for the first time this season, have two more victories than losses.

They were outhit eight to five, but the Cubs could score only in the seventh when Dick Bertell singled with two out and came home on a double by Andre Rodgers.

The Dodgers' eighth inning insurance run came when Nate Oliver reached base on an error by Ernie Banks and scored on Wills' double.

Chicago starter Larry Jackson allowed only four hits in six innings but suffered his seventh loss in 19 decisions.

Colts to Open Training Camp

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—The Baltimore Colts open their pre-season training camp at Western Maryland College Sunday, with 42 players expected to report to Coach Don Shula.

The first contingent will include rookies, free agents, Colt veterans and players with previous National Football League experience on other teams. The remaining 19 veterans are due Wednesday.

"No time will be wasted putting on the pads," said Shula, who is starting his second season as head coach. "They'll be hitting each other Monday, when we begin our two-a-day sessions."

The first scrimmage is set Wednesday, and the first full squad scrimmage for next Sunday.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, 54, was the oldest competitor in the recent U.S. Open at Congressional in Washington, D.C. He has been in 18 previous Opens.

Rose's Bat Leads Reds Over Phillies

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose drove in six runs with a perfect four-hit day, including the first grand slam homer of his major league career, as Cincinnati unleashed its biggest attack of the season and pummeled Philadelphia 14-4 Saturday.

The loss cut the Phillies' National League lead to one-half game over San Francisco, which played Houston.

Deron Johnson and Don Pavletich hit two-run homers for the Reds while Vada Pinson collected a double and two singles.

Rose started a four-run first inning with a walk, doubled home a run in the two-run second, singled across another run in the two-run third and homered in the fifth following a walk and singles by Steve Boros and pitcher John Tsitouris. He added a single in the seventh.

Costen Shockley and Clay Dalrymple homered for the Phillies, who lost Wes Covington in the first inning. Covington was hit in the head by a Tsitouris pitch and had to be carried from the feld.

A clubhouse report said he did not appear to be seriously hurt, but he was taken to Christ Hospital for precautionary X-rays.

Colts Keep Giant Nine From Gaining

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Consecutive doubles by Eddie Kasko and Jerry Grote drove in two runs in the ninth inning, giving Houston a 2-1 victory over San Francisco Saturday.

The loss kept the Giants one game behind Philadelphia in the National League race. The Phillies lost to Cincinnati 14-4.

Until the ninth Billy O'Dell, making his first start since June 23, had limited the Colts to two hits. With one out, Bob Aspromonte doubled. After Mike White fouled out, Kasko rapped a double to the left field corner, tying the game 1-1.

Grote followed with a wind-blown double to shallow right field, and Kasko raced home with the run that handed the Giants their fifth straight defeat.

The Giants scored in the sixth when rookie Jim Hart singled home Jesus Alou, who had doubled with one out.

The Colts elected to pitch to Hart—who had doubled earlier in the game—rather than Willie McCovey, who was intentionally walked. McCovey had struck out his first two trips to the plate.

Tamao Captures Arlington Park Equipoise Mile

CHICAGO (AP) — Argentine-bred Tamao fought back after losing the lead to outfinish Spanish Fort by a nose in the $45,700 Equipoise mile at Arlington Park Saturday.

Jets Hold Two Drills Saturday Despite Heat

PEEKSKILL, N.Y. (AP)—The New York Jets held morning and afternoon workouts in steamy heat Saturday and Coach Weeb Ewbank scheduled another session Sunday in preparation for the American Football League's rookie game against Boston July 24.

Ewbank said he was pleased with the passing of Dick Wood, the Jets' regular quarterback last season, and rookies Pete Liske, Mike Taliaferro and Jerry Yost.

The club signed tight end Joe Foulkes, a free agent from Moroan Statt College, and cut defensive back Bill Wood and Larry Kerstetter, a rookie linebacker from Susquehanna University.

Wes Covington Hit by Pitch From Red Hurler

CINCINNATI (AP) — Wes Covington, veteran Philadelphia outfielder, was hit on the nead with a pitched ball in the first inning of Saturday's game with the Cincinnati Reds but apparently was not hurt serously.

Covington had to be carried from the field on a stretcher but Dr. George Ballou, Reds' physician, said that Covington was feeling "fine."

Cards Have 11-Run Frame In Whipping Helpless Mets

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Three errors on two successive plays by the New York Met infield led to 11 runs in the eighth inning—six on three consecutive homers, including Ken Boyer's grand slam—and the St. Louis Cardinals humiliated the Mets 15-7 Saturday.

Sixteen men batted in the inning, the biggest outburst in the majors this season. The Mets led 6-4 going into it.

After the Cardinals put the first two men on, third baseman Charlie Smith threw wildly on Tim McCarver's sacrifice bunt, loading the bases. Mike Shannon then grounded to Smith, who booted the ball over to shortstop Roy McMillan. McMillan flipped the ball into right field, and Ken Boyer and Bill White scored the tying runs.

The fun was just beginning. Before it was over, catcher Bob Taylor dropped a throw for the fourth error of the inning. Shannon scored what turned out to be the winning run of the play.

Boyer hit a grand slam and White also homered off Bill Wakefield. Carl Willey came on and gave up another homer to McCarver. White's homer gave him four hits and four RBI for the game.

Jungle Wins Fourth Straight Title In Air Force Tennis Championships

He won a tough, tension-packed three of four sets Friday from A2C Bob Delgado of Langley AFB, Va., Tactical Air Command, 6-3, 4-6 6-1, 6-2.

Delgado, although missing out in the singles, shares the doubles crown with 1st Lt Nicholes Scharf. The duo beat the Air Training Command team of A3C Fred Schunck and Capt. Tom Robinson in a three-set thriller, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

In men's senior division singles competition, Maj. William Farmer of Air Defense Command earned the championship by leveling Lt. Col. William Shivar of the Military Air Transport Service, 6-1, 9-7.

In senior division doubles, Lt. Col. Shivar teamed with Lt. Col. William Dietrich to keep the championship from Maj. Farmer and Col. Francis Newcomer, 6-4, 7-5.

In yesterday's women's division final play 1st Lt. Kay Huber of United States Air Forces in Europe, beat A3C Paula Henson of Air Defense Command to become the Air Force women's singles champion, 6-1, 6-3. Huber held this title in 1961.

In women's doubles finals Thursday, the team of Lt. Huber and Capt. Patricia Latham became women's doubles champions when they won two of three over Capt. Eleanor Garvin and A1C Judy Norwood of Military Air Transport Service, 7-5, 2-6, 6-4.

Final command scores were: Tactical Air Command, 20; Military Air Transport Service, 20; Air Training Command, 19; Air Defense Command, 15; Air Force Logistics Command, 11; Strategic Air Command 19; Pacific Air Forces, 8; United States Air Force Europe, 8; United Air Command, 7; Air Force Systems Command, 6; Alaskan Air Command, O.

TOURNEY WINNER — Capt. "Hank" Jungle (left) of Hamilton AFB, Calif., Air Defense Command, won the men's single open championship this morning during final play in the USAF World Wide Tennis Tournament. It is Jungles fourth consecutive year as singles champion. He won over Airman 2.C. Bob Delgado (right) of Tactical Air Command, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2. Delgado is stationed at Langley AFB, Va.

Tickets Going Fast For Irish

The earliest sellout in Falcon Stadium history looms as a possibility at the Air Force Academy, as tickets for the Falcons' Oct. 10 date with Notre Dame are going at a rapid clip.

As of Thursday (July 16), there were approximately 8,000 seats remaining for the Air Force-Notre Dame encounter, according to Col. Edmund A. Rafalko, Director of Athletics.

All seats for the first Rocky Mountain appearance by the Fighting Irish sell for $5, and approximately 32,000 are already committed.

Season ticket sales passed the 6,200 mark this week, which is slightly ahead of last year at this point. Rafalko was quick to point out that no single game tickets will be mailed until after all season ticket requests are filled, and that the best way of insuring good seats for the Notre Dame encounter is to take advantage of the season ticket plan.

Season tickets are $19 each, and include all games on the colorful 1964 Falcon home schedule — Notre Dame, Colorado State, Wyoming, Missouri and Arizona. Season ticket holders are also entitled to purchase priority single game tickets in an amount equal to the number of season tickets held.

Last year's season ticket holders have until August 1, to reorder under their established priority. All season ticket request received after that date will be processed on a "first come, first served" basis.

All five Falcon home games will be played in Falcon Stadium, with kick-off slated for 1:30 p.m. (MST). The colorful pregame march-on by the 2,700 man Cadet Wing will precede each game.

Oilers Start Summer Training Outside Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—The American Football League Houston Oilers started summer training Saturday at their new $1 million training camp.

The camp is on six acres of prairie about five miles from downtown Houston and within sight of the new domed stadium in which they will play next year.

One rookie was added to the Oilers' payroll and another one lopped off. Tackle Marion Levine, 6-foot-5, 250-pounder from Southern University, was signed to a contract.

By DORIS KLEIN
Associated Press Writer

He was a barrel-shaped Boston Irishman who could toss the hammer better than anyone else in the world.

It has been eight years since Olga Fikotova, then 24, ran into Hal, 25, in an equipment shed at the Melbourne games.

By 1960, however, despite triumphing in lesser meets fame and family life took their toll. Center of world attention, the Connollys didn't even place in the Rome Olympics.

Olga, still the best in the U.S., may find it tougher in Tokyo. Her 1956 Olympic record mark of 176-1½ was beaten in 1960 by Russian Nina Ponomareva's throw of 180-8. The present world record 194-6¼ was set in 1963 by Russia's 210-pound amazon, Tamara Press.

"My best mark now is about 175 in practice," Olga said.

"It means a sacrifice," said Hal. "But we're going all out to win this year—and then retire. We've got responsibilities now."

Crammed into their house in suburban Culver City, the responsibilities include their 5-year-old son, Mark; twin son and daugher born in Finland last year, and Olga's parents, brought here from Czechoslovakia last January after a six-year battle with Communist red tape.

Last stop is a high school Greek theater where Hal and Olga run up the stairs together.

"I'm vain about my legs," confessed Olga. "When I do squatting exercises, my thighs get big. Running slims them down again.

"It's a constant battle between wanting to be strong enough and not wanting to be unfeminine. I look best at 150 pounds—I'm 5 feet 10—but I throw better at 175, like I am now."

"An I have the children," said Olga.

"But we have Olga's parents," said Hal, "and they help a lot."

Hal supported them all by teaching in a nearby Santa Monica junior high school last spring. Their only income now is from summer recreation jobs Olga and Hal have found with the Culver city park department.

Chicago Bears Start Training

RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP) — The Chicago Bears, defending champions of the National Football League, officially opened their 1964 training season Saturday.

Despite an all-night rain, the Bears worked on three running plays and two pass plays in the morning.

Sticking to the two-a-day drills and paying little attention to the high humidity, the Bears put on full equipment and went through a dummy scrimmage in the afternoon.

Willemse to Defend Crown In Marathon Swim Race

By TOM SEPPY

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) —Herman Willemse, the swimming Dutch school teacher, defends his Atlantic City title Tuesday but competition is expected to be keen in the 11th annual 26-mile marathon swim around Absecon Island.

Willemse, 30, of Utrecht, Holland, an easy winner in the last four swims here, is expected to be pushed hard by Maj. Abdel Latif Abou-Heif, 35, of Alexandria, Egypt, runner-up here last year. They are considered the leading male distance swimmers in the world.

Another former winner—Cliff Lumsden, 33, of New Toronto, Ont., Canada — will also be in the field of 22 set for the race, officially called the Atlantic City World's Championship Professional Long Distance Swim. Lumsden won in 1956 and 1959.

There also is expected to be a battle for first place in the women's division of the race as Greta Andersen, 35, of Los Alamitos, Calif., and her leading challenger, Marty Sinn, 21, of Ann Arbor, Mich., compete for top honors.

Prizes totaling $11,000 will be distributed among the first seven finishers, including bonuses totaling $1,200 to be added to the purses of the first and second women to complete the ocean-bay course.

Winner of the marathon event will receive $5,000; runner-up will get $2,000; third, $1,000; fourth, $800; fifth, $500; sixth, $300, and seventh, $200. The first woman to finish will have $800 added to the prize of her overall placement, and the woman runner-up, $400.

The race course begins at the Atlantic City state marina, continues in the Atlantic Ocean past Ventnor, Margate and Long Port and then along those communities in the opposite direction in two bodies of water dividing Absecom Island, from the mainland. The race ends at the marina.

Five contestants each from the United States and Argentina will make up the largest blocs of competitors. Other nations represented are Egypt and Canada, with four contestants each, and Yugoslavia, Mexico and West Germany, one each.

In addition to Misses Andersen and Sinn, other Americans scheduled to compete are Don Sabath, 42, a former Atlantic City lifeguard who is entering his eighth race here, of Levittown, Pa., and Bill Stevens, 26, Little Ferry, N.J., and Wendy Birch, 20, Atlantic City, both first time starters.

Besides Abou-Heif, Mohammed Zaitoon, 22, El Sayed Abdel Gelil, 28, and Nabil El Shazly, 28, are entered from Egypt.

John LaCoursiere Montreal, George Park brother of three-time winner, Tom Park of Weston, Ont., and Hedy Schmidt, 21, Toronto, will join Lumsden in representing Canada.

Rounding out the field will be Fausto Ramirez, Monterrey, Mexico; Dicki Bojadzi, Yugoslavia, and Kurt Pluntke of West Germany.

Mongo Defeats Kelso In Monmouth Handicap

OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP) — Mongo put in a strong bid to supplant Kelso as the handicap division champion Saturday when he survived a claim of foul and whipped the four time Horse of the Year by a neck in the $107,500 Monmouth Handicap at Monmouth Park.

In their first meeting since Mongo beat Kelso by one-half length in the Washington D. C. International at Laurel last November, the 5-year-old from Mrs. Marian duPont Scott's Montpelier Farm took the lead in the stretch of the 1¼-mile race and held off Kelso's closing challenge.

Gun Bow from the Gedney Farm was third 4½ lengths back to Paul Bongarzone's Dean Carl with Olden Times, the Californian owned by Rex Ellsworth, bringing up the rear in the five-horse field.

With Kelso the 3-5 favorite under topweight of 130 pounds, Mongo paid $12.80, $3.40 and $2.40 for his fourth stakes triumph in seven starts this year. Kelso, still looking for his first major triumph in five 1964 starts, paid $2.60 and $2.20. Gun Bow returned $2.60 to show.

Mongo earned $69,875 to boost his 1964 bankroll to $256,905 and total earnings to $766,654. Second place money of $21,500 gave Kelso total earnings of $1,634,952 and moved the 7-year-old gelding within $114,917 of Round Table's all-time money winning record.

With Wayne Chambers making up most of his 127 pounds, Mongo was clocked in 2:01 4-5 compared to the stake record of 2:00 2-5 set by Carry Back when he beat Kelso in 1962.

Terry Bove, Rider of Dean Carl, lodged an objection against Mongo. He claimed the son of Royal Charger-Accra interfered with his mount at the three-quarter pole. But the stewards failed to find in the films any evidence of the alleged foul.

Topeka's Bill McDonald Wins Publinks Crown

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Bill McDonald of Topeka, Kan., a 5-foot-5, 130-pounder, defeated Dean Wilson of Omaha 5 and 3 Saturday in the scheduled 36-hole championship match of the National Public Links Golf Tournament.

McDonald, who at the lunch break required hospital treatment for badly blistered feet, walked as if stepping on eggs all the way but the handicap did not hurt his game.

The tiny, bespectacled Washburn University student was two under par for the 15 holes required to oust the 31-year-old Wilson in the afternoon round.

Wilson, a postal clerk and four times Omaha public links champion, was never up or even square after McDonald won the sixth hole when his foe three-putted from the edge for a bogey five.

McDonald took the seventh and by the end of the first 18 he held a 1 up advantage with a 35-39—74 over the par 35-35—70 Francis Gross course.

Wilson had 37-38 for 75 and won the 18th when the weary McDonald flubbed the second shot and missed a seven-foot putt.

In scorching 95-degree heat it looked as if McDonald might not have been able to continue because of the blisters on both feet. A pain-deadening salve was applied, and his feet were bandaged.

But the bandages would not permit him to get into his shoes and he had to remove the bandages before he could resume play.

The match was closed on the 33rd hole when trees forced Wilson to a bogey five, and McDonald was conceded a par four.

Wilson, a 31-year-old postal clerk and four times Omaha public links champion, won only three holes in the morning round as McDonald moved 2-up after the first nine and never let his opponent even square the match.

McDonald shot a 35-39—74 against the 35-35—70 par of the Francis Gross course. Wilson was 37-38—75.

McDonald won the sixth hole with a regulation four when Wilson three-putted from the edge. He also took the 209-yard seven with a three, and Wilson was short on his tee shot and bogey.

Wilson won the eighth with a 35-foot birdie putt but McDonald again went two up at No. 9 when his foe again three-putted and took a bogey six.

Wilson won the 582-yard 12th with par five when McDonald left himself short on an approach and eventually missed a two-foot putt to take a six. But Wilson again three-putted on the 16th to lose the hole as McDonald fired a par four.

CHAMPION PUTTS — Bill McDonald, diminutive golfer from Topeka, Kan., watches a putt roll into the cup on the 18th green Saturday during his championship match in the National Public Links Golf Tournament with Dean Wilson of Omaha. McDonald, hampered by badly blistered feet, played steady golf to whip Wilson 5 and 3 and claim the crown. McDonald, who stands 5-5 and weighs 130 pounds, is a music major at Washburn University in Topeka. (AP Wirephoto)

Colorado King Captures Gold Cup

By BOB MYERS

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—South Africa's Colorado King, the heavily bet favorite, came with a rush when called upon to capture the silver anniversary running of the $162,100 Hollywood Gold Cup Handicap Saturday.

As a crowd estimated at 57,000 roared, the 5-year-old Colorado King finished decisively over the stretch running Washington-bred Mustard Plaster, with pace setting Native Diver hanging on to finish third.

Colorado King, winner of the $50,000-added American Handicap July 4 in his first triumph in this nation, collected $102,100 for his owners, a group of wealthy Texans.

The time for the 1¼ miles was 2:00 2-5.

Jockey Ray York again was in the saddle on the winner and went to the whip in the final charge to the wire as Mustard Plaster came up with his usual challenge in the stretch.

It was a summery afternoon as the field of 11 paraded to the post, and the track was fast.

Colorado King, who carried 118 pounds, broke nicely but it was Native Diver who went promptly to the front, chased by Viking Spirit as both sought to steal the race.

The winner returned $3.80, $3 and $2.80. Mustard Plaster, with Jack Leonard in the saddle, paid $3.60 and $3.20 as the second choice. Native Diver returned $8.60.

Barbara, Jean Lead Field Into Next Week's Western

OAK PARK, ILL. (AP)—Defending champion Barbara McIntire and last year's runner-up, Jean Ashley, both from Colorado Springs, lead a field of 165 into the 64th Women's Western Amateur Golf Tourney starting Monday.

An 18-hole qualifying round will pare the field to 32 for match play which begins Tuesday in this oldest of all major feminine competitions on the basis of consecutive years played.

The 36-hole title match will be played next Saturday.

Miss McIntire, 29, owns the most impressive array of titles in the star-studded field. She also won the 1958 Western Amateur and followed up with the 1959 national amateur championship and 1960 British crown.

Others who may strongly challenge Barbara at the wooded, rolling Oak Park Country Club are 1962 champion Carol Sorenson, 21, of Janesville, Wis., and four gals who have been either national or Western runners-up.

These include Jane Nelson Weiss, Indianapolis, 1955 national amateur finalist and 1953 Western amateur runner-up; Ann Baker, 19 Maryville, Tenn., 1961 national amateur finalist; and Barbara Fay White, 1962 Western amateur finalist.

Other formidable contenders include former Curtis Cupper Judy Bell of Colorado Springs; Carla Glasgow, San Francisco, erstwhile softball pitcher and water skier and 1961 Western amateur quarter-finalist; and two collegiate stars, Patti Shook, Saginaw Mich., and Sue Hilton, London, Ont.

Miss Shook, representing Valparaiso University, won the 1964 intercollegiate title, and Miss Hilton from Western Ontario University, was a semi-finalist in the same tourney.

Russian Team Arrives For Next Week's Meet

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mutual expressions of friendship and a hope for continuation of the U.S.A-U.S.S.R. track and field competition were voiced Saturday at a luncheon given for the newly arrived Soviet team.

The 63-member Russian squad arrived at dawn and held an afternoon workout in preparation for the sixth dual meet with the Americans next Saturday and Sunday.

Head Coach Gavriil Korobkov, who is retiring after this year, noted with some humor that the American press invariably asks who will win.

The Russian track season begins two months later than the American, he said, adding:

"Despite we are behind you, we will be strong. In points it will be 50-50.

"We know all your cards. Our cards will not be laid out until late in August."

Sam Bell of Oregon State University head coach of the American team, said he is highly in favor of the friendly competition "which will draw these two nations closer together."

The luncheon was held at the University of Southern California, where the teams are quartered. Most of the American team will not report until Monday.

Miss Wright Takes Lead In Tourney

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—Mickey Wright fired her second straight one-under-par 71 Saturday in taking the 36-hole lead in the Ladies Professional Golf Association Yankee Open with a two-under-par 142.

Trailing the tour's leading money winner by three strokes were Ruth Jessen of Bonsall, Calif., Betsy Rawls of Spartansburg, S.C., and Shirley Englehorn of Los Angeles, with 145s.

After taking three to get down from a trap on No. 1 for a bogey 5, Miss Wright bounced back with birdies on Nos. 3, 4 and 5 while sinking putts of 30, 15 and 20 feet. She turned the front nine in par 36.

Miss Wright, who is aiming to tie her LPGA record of four straight tourney victories, parred the first seven holes on the back side before birdieing No. 17 with an eight foot putt and finishing with a one-under 35.

Young Judy Torlumke of Green Valley, Pa., youngest player ever to turn pro two years ago at the age of 17, equaled Miss Jessen's low nine hole round of 34.

The tournament concludes Sunday and a victory for Miss Wright would boost her official money winnings to $16,720 in 13 events. Top prize here is $1,500.

U. S. Runners to Be Favored

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) —The United States and Russia meet in dual track and field competition next weekend for the sixth time, with Uncle Sam's athletes favored in the men's division and the Soviets in the women's class.

Such has been the outcome of this international struggle since the series was inaugurated in Moscow in 1958.

The two-day carnival, which should produce a distinct pattern of things to come in the Olympic Games in Tokyo in October, goes on Saturday and Sunday, July 25-26.

Each day's program is scheduled to start at 6:00 p.m., (EST) with an expected 80,000 or more gathered in huge Memorial Coliseum.

The Soviet men's team scheduled a busy day's activities after arrival at dawn Saturday: a meet-the-press luncheon, later the team's first workout on American soil.

Both teams will be quartered in dormitories at the University of Southern California and practice on the university's Dean Cromwell Field. Both sites are hard by the Coliseum.

The over-all winner may depend on how you prefer to score the points. The Russians demand that both the men's and women's totals be lumped together. On that basis, with the Soviet ladies the stronger, the Soviets outscored the U.S. in the previous meets.

1962 — Stanford — Men., U.S., 128, USSR, 107; women, U.S. 41, USSR, 66. Total U.S., 169, USSR 173.

The U.S. athletes in men's competition, based on records this season, appear stronger in the shorter distances up to 800 meters, plus such field events as the shot put, pole vault, hammer throw, discus and broad jump, with the Soviets strong in the long range runs and the high jump, which features the incomparable Valeriy Brumel.

The promised broad jump battle between Russia's world record holder, Igor Ter-Ovanesyan and America's Ralph Boston fell through when the Russians announced their man was ill and would not make the trip.

Master Dennis' Late Run Brings Upset at Aqueduct

NEW YORK (AP)—Master Dennis, a stranger to the winner's circle since last October, closed with a mighty rush in the last 1-16 of a mile to catch Western Warrior at the wire for a head victory in the $28,900 Tidal Handicap at Aqueduct Saturday.

Western Warrior, the favorite from the Tartan Stable, apparently had the 1⅛-mile grass course race wrapped up with less than one-eighth of a mile remaining.

Then from out of nowhere came 4-year-old Master Dennis, flying the silks of Louis Wolfson's Harbor View Farm, under the powerful ride of Fernando Alvarez. He just got up in time to take down the purse of $18,785.

With only a pair of thirds to show for six previous starts this year, he paid $10.40, $4.40 and $3.20. Western Warrior, ridden by Bobby Ussery, returned $3 and $2.60. The Ibex, with Braulio Baeza making up most of his 110 pounds, paid $3.50 to show.

Pay Tevee Reactions Different

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Closed circuit pay television came into the parlors and patios of a selected four-square-mile section in west Los Angeles over the weekend, drawing reactions that ranged from delight to disappointment.

But the viewers were impressed by one notable absence—commercials.

The main attraction was the weekend slate of baseball games between the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Chicago Cubs.

Dodger at-home baseball will form the basic sports interest from now until the end of the season, according to the producing company, Subscription Television, Inc., now identified as STV.

An estimated 2,500 homes are hooked up and about 4,500 subscribers are enrolled, STV officials said.

The company plans to open operations in San Francisco Aug. 11. The San Francisco Giants will be the sports attraction there.

The debut of the Dodgers on the closed circuit, particularly for those who own color sets, was an unqualified success.

"I'm absolutely dumbfounded. It's the most beautiful thing I've ever seen," said Jerry Mook, a Los Angeles physical therapist.

There was something less than enthusiasm over other shows, such as a three-act play, a film dealing with the ancient Egyptian and one on surfing.

The Dodger game cost viewers $1.50, which is the price of a bleacher seat in Dodger stadium. The surfers could be seen for $1 and the Eyptians for 75 cents.

"You can't beat the price. My wife and I go to eight or 10 Dodger games a year and each time there is not much left out of a $10 bill after you pay for your seats, parking, hot dogs and maybe a beer or two," said Finn.

An organization known as Citizen's Committee for Free TV, which reportedly is heavily backed by theater owners, is campaigning for a ballot proposition that in effect would outlaw home pay television.

Basic cost is $10 for installation and $1 a week. However, for the first 65,000 subscribers, the installation is $5 and the $1 a week will be waived for 12 months. Additionally, there is the charge of $1.50 a game.

France Takes Zone Cup Match

BRISTOL, England (AP)—France took both singles matches from England Saturday and moved into the final round of the European Zone Davis Cup competition.

The English were the continental champions last year. Germany holds a 2-1 edge over Sweden in the other semifinal matches being played at Baastad, Sweden.

The French, heavily favored at the start of the semifinal, drew even with the British in Saturday's first match when Pierre Darmon outlasted Mike Sangster 8-10, 3-6, 6-4, 8-6, 6-2 in the broiling sun.

Then Pierre Barthes, a 22 year-old playing in only his second Cup event, mastered Billy Knight, the British southpaw, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1 to give France the best-of-five series 3-2.

Emerson, Roche Easily Win In Davis Cup First Round

MONTREAL (AP)—Roy Emerson and Tony Roche combined for a quick 6-2, 6-2, 6-2 victory over the Canadian pair of Keith Carpenter and Francois Godbout Saturday and moved into the second round of the North American zone Davis Cup competition.

The Australians, who yielded the cup to the United States last December, will play the winner of the Mexico New Zealand pairing at Mexico City two week from now.

Emerson and John Newcombe won the opening singles matches from Carpenter and Godbout Friday. The remaining two singles will be played Sunday.

Godbout played well enough to give Emerson, the Wimbledon champ, trouble but Roche's play was far superior to that of Carpenter and decided the match.

The victory took only 54 minutes despite winds gusting to 30 miles per hour in 90-degree temperature.

Neither team has disclosed who will play Sunday but it was presumed Emerson would be named to attract a crowd and that Canadian reserves Reider Getz and Val Harit might see action along with the fourth Australian, Owen Davidson.

Upsets Highlight Play In Broadmoor Tourney

By LOY HOLMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

For the first time in four days of play Saturday, rain failed to interrupt the ninth annual Broadmoor Invitational Doubles tennis tournament, but upsets made favorites fall in the featured Men's Championship flight almost as fast as the rain drops over the past few days.

Knocked out of the title bracket in the first round of play, which was delayed from Friday's original starting time, were the top favorites here and current state doubles champions, Jack Cella and Jim Landin.

Cella, a former club professional now reinstated as an amateur, and his Denver partner, Landin, were bumped off in the morning's makeup round which saw Paul Butt and John Whistler take on the role of giant killers in this tournament.

Butt, from Albuquerque, and Whistler, a young scrambler from a prominent Denver tennis family, eliminated the top seeds by a 6-4, 8-6 count in the morning and then went on to top fourth seeded Jack TerBorg and Jack Ormsbee in the semi-finals, 6-3, 6-4.

In the other half of the USLTA sanctioned Men's Championship bracket, second seeded Bob Acsell and Pete Cook from Denver and Cheyene, Wyo., advanced into today's finals as expected. However, they had to beat back a big threat from third seeded Hank Jungle and Bill Farmer of the Air Force in the semi-finals Saturday afternoon, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Other than the upsets registered by the Butt-Whistler duo, the other semi-final was the top match of the day as the tournament went through its fourth session of action. With both the Acsell-Cook twosome and Jungle and Farmer each relying on their defensive tactics, the first set saw no less than seven service breaks in the 10-game series. Then Jungle and Farmer, fresh from this week's All-Air Force tournament at the Air Force Academy, upset the odds by taking the second set, but last year's champs came on in the third set to gain the finals berth.

Jungle is the four-time singles champion in the Air Force tourney representing the Air Defense Command which is headquartered at Ent AFB here in Colorado Springs, and Farmer this year won the senior men's crown.

The finals today have been moved up into the morning to try and dodge the rain which has been coming every afternoon until Saturday. The Men's Championship finals, with Acsell and Cook slight favorites over Butt and Whistler, are slated for 11 a.m. today on the plush green Broadmoor courts near the Golf Club.

All the finals are scheduled between 9 a.m. and noon, with the Ladies Doubles title up for grabs at 9:30 a.m. Men's (under 40) Doubles will be played at 11 a.m. and finals ina ll the other division of the six-class tourney are set for the morning hours.

In the Ladies Doubles, the two top favored teams will meet in the finals as expected. Top picks Ann Rockwell and Fay Morris of Denver will clash with Sue Knott and Mary Jane Schock. Both teams advanced through the semi-finals Saturday, with Rockwell and Morris defeating Kathy Dunlevy and Dorothy Bradley, 6-0, 6-1, and Knott and Shock winners over Jean McNamee and Barbara Young, 6-3, 6-2.

Another major upset came in the Men's (under 40) Division where the collegiate twosome of Kent Nelson and Dave Warren surprised top-seeded Dale Schwicker, and Sonny Sanders of Ft. Carson, 2-6, 12-10, 6-1 in a marathon affair. Nelson, who is now the tennis team captain at Yale University after gradution from Cheyenne Mountain High here in the Springs, and his partner who is attending college in Utah, finally broke service on the Army team and then won the last set without trouble.

Nelson and Warren will meet Gerry Bennett and Ron Biddle, the second seeds, in the finals today at 11 a.m.

Success Didn't Keep Sandy From Continuing Hard Work

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — To show you what a clear-thinking chap Sandy Koufax is, he has not only kept success from going to his head but has even managed to cut it off before it reached his stomach.

Some guys, having just won a most-valuable-player award, would come off the winter banquet circuit carrying so much extra weight that Jackie Gleason, standing next to them, would look emaciated.

Koufax came back weighing less than when he started.

Which is not to suggest Sandy has renounced all earthly pleasures in fanatic pursuit of physical perfection. He smokes cigarettes, enjoys a drink or two of an evening and sometimes stays out until well after dark.

But, like teammtae Don Drysdale, he makes sure he gets in all the work he should between pitching starts.

"In that respect," says Dodger Manager Walt Alston, "Koufax and Drysdale are the best I've ever seen. If this is the day Sandy is supposed to throw between starts, he'll come out to the park and throw even if it's a day off. A lot of guys will throw a day early or a day late and take the day off. But not Sandy. And Drysdale is the same way."

Dodger pitching coach Joe Becker was asked whether having two pitchers of such stature on the same club has aroused any jealousies or created other problems.

"Everybody wants to be the best there is," Becker said. "Koufax and Drysdale both want to be successful, and both are. But as for jealousy, no. There's none of it.

"They're both good team men and I wish I could have a couple more just like them. It would make my job a lot easier than it is now."

Surrounded by a couple of dozen intrusive newsmen after winning a game, Koufax is not what you'd call nervous or ill at ease. Nor is he what you'd call comfortable.

"He's reserved in front of strangers," says a man who has traveled with the club for years. "But he can really be funny when he's among friends. He's a very witty guy."

One night not long ago, during one of those stretches when it appeared the Dodgers might never score another run for their pitchers, Drysdale had to leave the club before a game in Philadelphia to take care of some business in Washington. He had said goodbye to the players and was leaving the clubhouse when Koufax suddenly set out after him, yelling:

"Please wait for me, Big D. Take me with you."

But Drysdale wouldn't wait. So Koufax stayed behind—and that night pitched the third no-hitter of his career.

Koufax, who attended the University of Cincinnati 1½ years before signing with the Dodgers, describes himself as "a kid who left college to play baseball—and was fortunate enough to make it."

Sandy seems to appreciate that the world is full of people in trouble. One day in San Francisco a sports writer approached him and said he'd been asked if he could arrange a brief meeting between Sandy and a 10-year-old boy who was going blind.

Koufax readily agreed to be outside the Dodger clubhouse at 6:45 p.m.

But the boy couldn't get there on time. The writer, a little embarrassed, said: "Look, Sandy, I know you've got some running to do. Go ahead, and if the boy shows up I'll come out and tell you and maybe you could come back again for just a minute."

Koufax said he's wait.

He waited 10 minutes. Finally the little boy arrived. He was so excited when he saw Koufax he couldn't even talk. He just stood there, looking up at Sandy with what vision he had left.

"So Sandy carried on the conversation by himself," the writer said. "If you're doing a story on Koufax, you might put that in."

De Vicenzo Takes Lead In Tourney

WOODBROOK, Ireland (AP)—Argentina's Roberto De Vicenzo took a four stroke lead over Ireland's Christy O'Connor at the end of the second round of a 72-hole Irish Golf Tournament Saturday.

The 41-year-old Argentine, who set a course record of 63 Friday, added a 64 for a total of 127, one stroke over the British and Irish tournament record for 36 holes. That was set by Scot Tom Haliburton in 1952.

De Vicenzo is the man in form. He finished third in the British Open for a prize of $2,240, and then won the French Open for another $1,960. The Irish tournament is worth $2,800 to the winner.

Forty-one professionals with scores of 141 and better qualified for the final 36 holes Sunday over the 6,092-yard, par 71 Woodbrook course.

They included Dennis Hutchinson of South Africa with 68-65—133; Innes Wright, Scotland, 66-67—133; Neil Coles, England, 68-65—133; Kel Nagle, Australia, 69-67—136; Peter Thomson, Australia, 70-67—137; Harold Henning, South Africa, 68-71—139; and Brian Wilkes of South Africa 70-71—141.

One who failed to make the last two rounds was Cobie Legrange of South Africa, who added a 67 to his score of 75 Friday and finished with a 142.

Editor Explores Bonus Babies' Tax

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following interesting column by Oliver Kuechle, sports editor of the Milwaukee Journal, explores little known aspects of the tax problems of baseball's bonus babies and specificially the case of Rick Reichardt, whose reputed $200,000 makes him one of the highest ever signed.

By OLIVER KUECHLE
Milwaukee Journal

MILWAUKEE (AP) — "Why doesn't Rick Reichard get himself a good tax attorney," a man writes, "and he won't have to pay that big bite of $156,820 in his $200,000 bonus you mentioned in your column the other day?"

"Wrong again," another writes. "Don't you know that the revenue act of 1964 provides for a special income averaging method?" "Not you or The Journal or the baseball commissioner can make him pay all of the tax in one year if he doesn't want to," writes still a third.

One thing is true. Rick Reichart has everybody pulling for him to keep all he can of the $200,000 he got for signing last week with the Los Angeles Angels. And he should keep everything he can. But let's take a look at the two sets of laws under which Reichardt was paid—one, baseball law, the other, federal law — and see what avenues he really had open.

On May 20, Commissioner Ford Frick sent out the following directive to every big league baseball club setting forth baseball's position to protect itself against itself — against its own ridiculous bonus system.

"It has come to the attention of the commissioner that some clubs are offering various 'gimmicks' to free agents in an effort to sign such players.

"These gimmicks include placing money in trust, buying annuities or life insurance policies or arranging for deferred payments.

"Professional baseball rule 3 (j) (12) (a) prohibits any deferred payments and provides that all payments shall be set forth in the contract and shall be payable to the player or any other person connected with his signing upon approval of his contract.

"Our attorneys have advised us that any such 'gimmicks' would not help the player taxwise and that the player would be subject to the tax in the year in which he has signed his contract."

It must be presumed from this that baseball's own attorneys have looked for legal loopholes in the federal law to help a bonus baby and have found none. The last paragraph in this directive is particularly significant — the player is subject to the tax "in the year in which he has signed his contract."

A day later, May 21, the commissioner's office supplemented the first directive with a second, as follows:

"In notice No. 5 issued yesterday, the commissioner advised all clubs that certain 'gimmicks' such as establishing a trust fund, buying annuities, etc., as inducements to sign free agents would be regarded a violation of rule 3 (j).

"Within hours of the issuance the commissioner and have inquired whether they would be permitted to set up a business for either the player or a relative, whether they can give either the player or a relative job assurance, etc., etc.

"The commissioner will hold that 'gimmicks' of any kind will not be approved. Any payments made in excess of salary allowed under the rule ($500) a month must be in CASH. Cash payments will avoid any misunderstanding and will provide the clubs with equal opportunities to sign free agents."

Baseball law on the bonus is patently clear. If the clubs insist in engaging in ruinous bidding year after year, at least they have ground rules by which to go.

And if the rules are broken? The commissioner has the authority to declare the player a free agent.

But all this is just baseball law. Let's now turn to the revenue act of 1964 and specifically to that part which covers the special income averaging method—the method by which a man may get federal tax relief for a windfall such as Reichardt's $200,000.

The law provides that the tax on an income which exceeds one and one-third times the taxpayer's average income for the preceding four years (which Reichardt's $200,000 certainly does) shall be limited to five times the tax on one-fifth of the excess.

In effect, it means that if Reichardt in each of the four preceding years earned a modest $1,000 himself, say, he would pay not the $156,820 as mentioned in an earlier column, but only $88,450. The steps in arriving at this would be roughly these:

Adjusted taxable income for 1964—$200,000

Less one and one-third of average income of last four years assuming Rick earned $1,000 a year — 1,333

Averageable income — 198,667

One-fifth of averageable income — 39,733

1964 tax on this — 17,690

Five times this tax — 88,450

So far so good. But there is also a clause in the law which specifically declares that certain people may not work their tax in this way and on this Riechardt and the Angels very likely found themselves hemmed in. The clause reads as follows: "An individual shall not be an eligible individual (for this kind of computation) if, for any base period year (any one of the four preceding years) such an individual furnished less than one half of his support."

Six former Open champions were in this year's event at Congressional in Washington, D.C. They were Julius Boros, Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gene Littler, Ed Furgol and Billy Casper.

Famous Standing Judge Dies at 83

LONDON (AP)—Sir Hugh Beazley, 83, a former Central Criminal Court judge who once heard cases standing up, died Friday. He was 83.

Beazley stood up because lumbago prevented him from sitting down when he was a county court judge in 1936. He later went on to make a name for himself at London's famous Old Bailey Court where he tried 5,000 cases over a period of 11 years.

HISTORICAL FRESCO—Activities and points of interest in the Broadmoor area are depicted in this fresco by Randall Davey in the Will Rogers Shrine of the Sun. In the foreground are men prominent in Cripple Creek history: Spencer Penrose, Charles L. Tutt, Daniel C. Jackling, Albert E. Carlton, Charles M. MacNeill, all in front of the Cripple Creek offices of Penrose and Tutt. The top drawing is a typical scene of gold rush days. (Photo by Dinah Chapman)

Decline of Feeder Cattle Is Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported today that the number of cattle and calves on feed for the slaughter market in 28 major feeding states declined 19 per cent between April 1 and July 1.

A major factor in this decline was low prices offered for slaughter cattle. The number on feed in these states on July 1 totaled 6,665,000 head, down 3 per cent from a year earlier. The decline from a year earlier was 6 per cent in the North Central states. But the figure was up one per cent in western states.

Marketings of fed cattle during the April-June quarter this year were 11 per cent greater than a year earlier. The heavier sales also reflected unfavorable markets.

Imperial Players To Stage Show At State Prison

"Ticket-O-Leave Man," 17th annual melodrama of the Imperial Players at the Imperial Hotel in Cripple Creek, will be presented Monday night at the Colorado State Penitentiary at Canon City. The entire play, plus the olio, will be given for the benefit of an expected 1300 prisoners.

It is an annual custom of Wayne and Dorothy Mackin to play benefit shows during the summer months. This is the first time they have gone to the Canon City institution.

The century old melodrama, first presented in London in 1863, introduces the character of "Hawkshaw, the Detective," to theatre - goers for the first time. He later became a prominent stage character and was also well known in comic strips.

Another first for this script was the use of the theme of crime and its reward as the subject material for drama. The play was revived and adapted for the Imperial stage by Mrs. Mackin.

HEADS FOR COLOGNE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fred Hansen, the unofficial world record holder in the pole vault with a leap of 17-2, heads a five-man AAU team which will compete in Cologne Wednesday. Others on the squad are Otis Burwell, miler Ben Tucker and Tom Whyatt, who specializes in the 400 meter hurdles.

Cheyenne Mountain Shrine Monument to Will Rogers

Along the eastern face of Cheyenne Mountain, the giant southern terminus of the Pikes Peak Range of the Rockies, is one of the engineering marvels of the century: the Cheyenne Mountain Highway. Rising nearly 3,000 feet from the Broadmoor to the Summit Lodge in an area of one and one half square miles, it has earned the name "The Wonder Road."

The Will Rogers Shrine of the Sun, located halfway up Cheyenne Mountain, is reached via this wonder road. Dedicated on Sept. 6, 1937, by his friend Spencer Penrose, the Shrine stands as a memorial to American humorist Will Rogers.

Penrose, builder of the Broadmoor empire, named it the Shrine of the Sun because the morning sun turns the stone of the shaft to a rose colored glow, and the setting sun often illuminates this single pinnacle of light against the shadowed mountain.

The Shrine tower, over 00 feet high, was built from light pink granite; the entire amount of stone, some 5,000 cubic yards, came from one giganitic boulder a short distance aboe the Shrine. From this same source came an additional 1,500 cubic yards to bil the surrounding yard.

At the entrance there are bronze busts of Will Rogers and Spencer Penrose. A set of Westminister chimes and a Vibraharp with amplifiers are installed in the Shrine so that at 15 minute intervals from dawn to midnight the chimes can be heard throughout the district striking the quarter hour.

There are four rooms in the Shrine of the Sun, three devoted to a pictorial review of Will Rogers' life. The fourth room is known as the Historical Room in which murals by Randall Davey portray the interesting progress of the Pikes Peak Region and this part of the West.

The frescos in the entrance room begin with the early Indian days when the Cheyenne Mountain area was the hunting ground of the Indian and terminate with the white man's playground of the Broadmoor and its community.

Beginning at the entrance and up the stairway are scenes of Indian life before the coming of the white man. Above the landing is a scene depicting Padre Francisco Escalante taking orders from the church in Santa Fe, N. M., to proceed to Colorado. On the opposite wall is his journey into the state; over the stairs, the guide who escorted Escalante.

In the room opening to the left of the entrance are the rest of the frescos covering the walls and the ceiling. The left hand wall shows Lt. Zebulon M. Pike during his first exploration of Colorado in search of food for his starved, ill-clad men. At the top of this panel is the summit of Pikes Peak. The second half of this wall depicts the early warfare between the Indians and white settlers which followed Pike's explorations.

Facing the door, the wall frescos show scenes of the early gold rush days following the first discovery near Central City in 1859. Down the righthand side of this wall is suggested the inrush to the gold fields; on the left hand side are the burros trains of the early days carrying out the gold ore. In the two triangular panels at the top are the incident of the massacre of Dead Man's Gulch, at the right; and James Pursley who discovered gold after his capture in Dead Man's Gulch by Indians, on the left.

On the ceiling between the beams, the subject matter pertains to the walls beneath them. Over the Pike wall are episodes from Pike's career. Above the Indian warfare wall are two panels of an Indian war dance. On the ceiling above General Palmer's activities are two panels, one of his map of one of his railroads and the other are sketches of Penrose's cabin and the uprising of miners and the quelling of the disturbances by the Militia.

On the final wall are various activities and points of interest in this area including mining and construction, water systems, the Broadmoor, the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo, swimming, polo, golf, tennis, and auto racing.

The three rooms above the historical room of the Shrine are devoted entirely to a photographic biography of Will Rogers, beginning with his childhood in the 1880's and continuing through the years to the last photograph taken before Rogers and pilot Wiley Post took the fatal flight to Point Barrow, Alaska in 1935.

The Shrine of the Sun was inspired by the desire of Rogers' friend, the late Spencer Penrose, to construct an everlasting monument to the Cowboy Philospher who had a special gift of making the world laugh at its own troubles.

Michigan State's new baseball coach, Danny Litwhiler, pioneered the idea to use an unbreakable mirror for pitchers. They could throw at it and still observe their form.

Movie Theme Team Performs Tonight, Monday

Ferrante and Teicher, "the Movie Theme Team" perform tonight and Monday night at the Broadmoor International Theatre. This two - piano team has carved a special niche for themselves in the popular music hall - of - fame. Not since the advent of the long playing record has the music world witnessed such overwhelming audience enthusiasm as has been generated by the pianistic fireworks of Ferrante and Teicher!

The virtuosity and versatility of this exciting two - piano team has elicited many press tributes and much popular acclaim.

Active on every front of the entertainment world, they have scored resounding successes on television with the top variety shows, have played to jam-packed rooms in the key cities along the nightclub circuits, and have played to capacity audiences in every major concert hall in the U.S. and Canada.

In this last area they hold something of a record as their last three tours have been completely sold out.

In the recording field their popularity is unsurpassed. In three years they have sold over nine million single discs and three million LPs. Their list of hits is headed by the theme from "The Apartment," "Exodus," "Tonight," and themes from "Cleopatra."

In this their newest in-person offering, entitled "Strike Up the Grands," Ferrante and Teicher will demonstrate some of the artistry, showmanship and wit that has made them the most popular instrumental artists of the day!

Tickets for the Ferrante and Teicher show are available at the Broadmoor International Theatre boxoffice, 634-771 or 634-2422.

HEDDA SEES PALS, DODGES CROWDS IN SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO — I've been to a lot of political conventions but this was the craziest. The people who live here take everything in stride — it's the visitors who are making all the noise. There were thousands on the streets, and you had to fight your way through any hotel lobby. Cars stopped in the middle of a hill, and you didn't know if you were going up or down. But what a place! Five thousand men — and me. That's what I call even distribution. Haven't had so much fun since the 1952 convention, when Roy Roberts (Kansas City Star) and I escaped the crush by riding up and down in the freight elevator. While the rest of the people waited in line for the first class transportation, Roy and I hitched a ride with the garbage. This is the first convention he's missed since 1912. He may be the smartest Republican in the country.

I'm not here to work — I'm just going to have fun. Lunched with Lydia Morrison at the St. Francis and Bettye Furness joined us. She's let her hair go brunette. She likes it better — I don't. Betty's doing a radio show, but I sure miss her pretty face beside that refrigerator on TV. The commercial she did for more than 11 years has been taken over by a man with a beard.

At the newspaper women's party I ran into Betty Beale, of Washington, D. C., who'll rest up from this sindig at Marjorie May's beautiful home in Lake Placid. I was supposed to go, but can't make it.

Talked to George Murphy, who's running against Pierre Salinger for the United States Senate. When Salinger offered to play the piano if he'd dance, George replied, "I only dance with professionals."

Margaret Chase Smith made the shortest speech on record. I was in the back of the room and couldn't hear her, but I clocked her at two minutes flat.

Louise Brooks, of Chicago, and I took in the Illinois party tossed by Jim Kemper. There was Louis Lurie, who started his fortune selling newspapers on the streets of Chicago and last year celebrated his 74th birthday here with Maurice Chevalier. General Arthur MacDougall Wood, retired head of Sears, Roebuck & Co., doesn't often get this far west: "But I've been to so many conventions, I couldn't afford to miss this one."

I was armed with a comb to ride herd on Everett Dirksen's curly locks, but he didn't show. He had a party of his own and was too tuckered out when it was over to join us.

Colleen Moore lost all her luggage. Doesn't even know what city might have it. She may have to live out the convention in the clothes she arrived in. Colleen brought her whole family along. Glad to see so many young people taking an active part in politics.

George Johns gave me a group of pictures called "Republican Fitness Manual"—cartoons of our leading candidates. It's a scream and sells on the streets for a dollar a book.

They're still talking about Clare Boothe Luce's hard hitting piece, "Destiny's Choice." Her marriage to Henry proves democracy's not dead. Nine times out of ten they take the opposite viewpoint, and the consensus is she likes to needle him. To me, she sure hit in the right direction.

Trying to find your friends is almost impossible. You'd have to cover the whole city of San Francisco, and they might be hiding behind a screen. It's a riot, it's fun, and I'm glad I came. After this, Hollywood will seem as tranquil as a broken top.

11 South Koreans Accused of Spying

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—South Korea's Central Intelligence Agency announced Friday the arrest of 11 Koreans accused of spying for Communist North Korea.

Two were identified as principals of primary schools in Kyongsang, southeast of Seoul. The agency said the Communist underground group was headed by Chang Chai-soo, 50, once a prosecutor in Communist North Korea.

The agency confiscated two radio transmitters, a set of Communist codes, and instructions from the North Korean regime.

Plenty of Headaches Had in Cow Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Red Cross treated more than 400 persons for headaches in the Cow Palace during the Republican National Convention this week.

Also treated were 17 cases of exhaustion, four heart attacks, three cases of hypertension, one stiff neck and two cases of vocal strain.

The United States paid $329,970,000 million to school districts last year to provide education for children of parents in Federal-connected jobs, more than half of all Federal aid to education, reports the U.S. Office of Education.

"PEDDLER'S FAIR"

Henry II chartered Caledonian Market as a peddler's fair about 1242. One of three open air selling enclaves in London, this market is much older than the famed Flea Market.

There are expected to be 35,000 campsites in U.S. national parks by 1974.

'POOR HENRY 'IS POORER

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Over the years, hundreds of patrons of Poor Henry's Bar near Clinton inlaid silver dollars on the bar with the idea they always would have "money on the bar."

All but two of the estimated 1,200 silver pieces are gone now, the sheriff's office said in reporting a theft at the establishment 16 miles east of Missoula. Each dollar was pried out.

Army Releases Shooting Spree Victims' Names

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — The U. S. 8th Army has released the name of the soldier who went on a shooting spree at Camp Casey barracks on Thursday and the names of his victims.

It said the crazed GI who killed one men, wounded three others and was eventually killed himself was Cpl. Vernon McRoy 26, of Levittown, Pa.

The soldier McRoy killed was identified as Sgt. 1 C. Gilbert Schitski, 31, Mazie, Okla.

The wounded, all reported "doing well" were identified as Sgt. Robert J. Belton, 36, of New York; Pfc. Jack E. Moore, 24, of Indianapolis and Pfc. Gerald B. Warren Jr., 22, of Hollywood, Fla.

McRoy, 2423 Bloomsdale; Belton 3017 Coddington; Moore, 53 N. Hamilton.

Reports said Schnitski and two others, presumably Belton and Moore, arrived at McRoy's barracks at Camp Casey to investigate McRoy's "disorderly conduct."

Army spokesmen said McRoy opened fire with his rifle before the men could get out of their jeep. Schnitski was killed instantly.

The berserk soldier made a run for it and fired at a sentry, presumably Warren, who ordered him to halt.

McRoy hit the sentry in the arm. But the sentry got off a shot with his .45-caliber pistol before McRoy got out of range. It is believed that this shot eventually brought him down.

McRoy was found when daylight broke, lying dead of single bullet wound not far from the sentry's post.

CONVICTS AS GUARDS

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — There was a guillotine set up in the Nevada Prison yard and some of the convicts were guards.

It wasn't a revolution in penal philosophy. The prison was being used for location filming of Jean Genet's play, "Deathwatch."

Wolverton Now Attending Duraclean Meet

Harrie E. Wolverton, Wolverton's Duraclean Service, 3616 Red Canon Ave. left this week for Chicago to attend the 34th anniversary convention of Duraclean International. Mr. Wolverton is a member of the world's largest organization of independently - owned carpet and upholstery cleaning dealerships.

Hundreds of Duraclean specialists from throughout the United States, Canada, and other nations will attend the three-day meeting at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago.

"A continued training program such as is offered by the convention," Mr. Wolverton states, "enables us to provide the most modern and efficient service to our customers." The convention features the latest cleaning techniques and a concentrated series of classroom courses in methods for improving services to local customers.

Scranton, Lodge Rocky Invited By Democrat

LANCASTER, Calif. (UPI) — California Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson Friday night invited William Scranton, Henry Cabot Lodge and Nelson Rockefeller to join the Democratic party.

In exchange, he offered the Republicans Gov. George Wallace of Alabama.

That way, GOP presidential nominee Sen. Barry Goldwater and Wallace "could unite and get all the so-called backlash vote" from those opposed to the recently enacted civil rights act, Anderson said.

"The fellows I felt sorriest for were the 'good' Republicans: (Pennsylvania Gov.) Scranton, Lodge, (New York Gov.) Rockefeller, Jackie Robinson, (Oregon Gov. Mark) Hatfield and even (Illinois Sen.) Everett Dirksen.

"They seemed sad and out of place — like they had come to wrong address. I'm sure most of us would be glad to have them in our party. And I know we'd be happy to give Goldwater governor Wallace in exchange."

Anderson called the GOP platform, which the "good" Republicans opposed, "the new topless political platform—nude from the waist up and entirely supported by two straps called selfishness and prejudice."

Carson Personnel Support Annual Joint Crusade

Ft. Carson responded generously this year to the appeal for funds in the government's annual twin crusades, it was reported today by Lt. Col. Harold D. Pinney, Personnel and Administration Branch (G-1).

Fort Carson military and civilian personnel donated $5,490.51, an increase of $1,574.17 over the past year.

During 1963, the men and women of the Mountain Post gave 40.6 per cent of the total from the Pikes Peak Region military installations. This year the percentage climbed to 44.1

A Certificate of Appreciation for support of the 1964 Joint Crusade was received at Carson Headquarters this week.

Of the $43,395 received from federal units in Colorado, the most popular individual cause benefited was CARE which got $11,043.15. Project HOPE received $6,616.46, Radio Free Europe $5,335.36 and American-Korean Foundation $3,397.88.

But $17,002.60 was contributed without any earmarks. The percentage of undesignated contributions was considerably higher than last year.

Prospect Said Good For Oil Shale Work

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Hans H. Landsberg, a Washington economist, said Friday he believed prospects were good for economic development of shale oil.

The eastern official said government policy would play a big role in determining how quickly commercial development of shale oil comes about. He spoke before the sixth annual Western Resources Conference.

However, Landsberg said he believed the demand for the oil would be so great within 35 years that little could hinder its progress. "Something would have to go very wrong if shale oil could not make its long-delayed entry," he said.

He said he believed the demand eventually would release an estimated trillion barrels of oil locked in shale in western Colorado, Wyoming and Utah.

He said the technology of shale oil production now had advanced to the point where it is almost competitive with oil drawn from wells in the United States.

Mrs. Oswald Spends Oklahoma Vacation

MADILL, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Marina Oswald, widow of the man accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy, got her first taste of American resort living this week.

"It is the first time in a long time I can go to the beach," she told a reporter.
